DOUBLE CRIME DUE TO JEALOUSY

Frederick Schuetz Shoots Mrs. Winifred McCormack and Himself.

MAN IS SURE TO DIE

Tragedy Took Place in Street, and Was Witnessed by Scores of Persons.

LEFT LETTER IN HIS NOTEBOOK

Frederick Schuetz, son of Henry Schuetz, a wholesale liquor dealer, shot himself in the stomach twice last night after trying to kill and wounding Mrs. Winifred McCormack. Jealousy is supposed to have prompted the deed.

Schuetz is lying at the Allegheny General hospital mortally wounded. The woman is at her flat in Veto street, Allegheny. She is not dangerously wounded, and Dr. C. LeRoi Thompson, who attended her, says she will be out in 10 days.

The shooting occurred at Arch and Geyer streets, Allegheny, in sight of scores of persons sitting on their doorsteps, but it happened so suddenly that most of the eye-witnesses were confused in their details. Edward McDade, a motorman, gave the most succinct account.

McDade Saw the Shooting.

McDade was a passenger on Charles street car No. 385. The car stopped at Arch and Geyer streets, and several passengers got off. McDade was standing at the rear of the car, just inside the platform. Suddenly he saw the flash of a pistol and could see a man shooting at a woman. He saw the woman raise her arm, as if to ward off a blow, and then the man shot again. By this time the car had moved about 100 feet up the street, and McDade, finding it impossible to break through the passengers glued to the platform and staring at the scene, crawled out through a window, the car having stopped. He ran back to the corner.

Just at that moment the man shot himself and fell to the ground. The woman was leaning against a house. McDade went up to her and she asked that she be taken to her flat, in the McCain apartments, at Arch and Geyer streets, and extending back to Veto street.

Carried the Woman Home.

McDade and another man whose name he did not learn made a "chair" with their hands and carried the woman to the end of Geyer street and up the Veto street entrance to her flat, three stories up.

When Schuetz fell a crowd gathered, and he jumped to his feet and ran down Arch street to Barnett alley, the crowd chasing him and yelling "murder." Through Barnett alley he ran to Race street. Turning down there, he shot himself again and fell in front of 1203 Race street.

A private detective named Fairman, who lives in Barnett alley, seized a carbine and pursued Schuetz, whom he found lying in the street. Mary Garrity, a young woman living in the neighborhood, got him a glass of water and another girl wiped his face.

"What did you do?" asked Miss Garrity.

"I shot Mrs. McCormack," said Schuetz. "I am sorry I did it."

Woman Demanded Vengeance.

In the meantime two messages from different telephones had gone to police headquarters—one that a woman had been shot in Arch street and another that a man had shot himself in Race street. The patrol wagon removed Schuetz to the Allegheny General hospital. Just before the wagon arrived a woman, whom the bystanders supposed to be a relative of Mrs. McCormack, tried to break through the crowd.

"Let me in there and I'll tramp his face in," she cried, but Charles Stewart, a carpenter living nearby, took her by the arm and pacified her.

Mrs. Roeber, a sister of Mrs. McCormack, lives in Race street. As soon as she heard of the shooting she went to her sister's flat and took charge, sending for a doctor.

Assistant Superintendent of Police Glenn and several detectives went to the flat and there met William Cunningham, who said he knew Schuetz. He had seen Schuetz lying on the ground and had taken charge of a notebook, which contained a note written in lead pencil and intended for Mrs. McCormack. The note was turned over to Police Superintendent Campbell.

Husband Applied for Divorce.

J. F. McCormack, the woman's husband, lives in Cedar avenue, Allegheny. He is a printer. Several months ago he entered suit for divorce against his wife, naming Schuetz as co-respondent. Schuetz has been a frequent visitor at Mrs. McCormack's flat.

Mrs. Roeber, supposing that her sister was mortally hurt, sent word to McCormack and asked him to come to the flat, and he arrived there shortly after the detectives left. He and the woman had parted for some time before the divorce suit was entered. The couple have no children, but Mrs. McCormack has two by a former husband.

A woman who got off the car at the same time that Schuetz and Mrs. McCormack descended said the couple had quarreled on the car, and after they got off she heard Schuetz say: "Well, if it has come to this, it might as well come to the worst of it." Then he began to shoot.

At the Allegheny General hospital it was said it was impossible for Schuetz to recover. The bullet that hit Mrs. McCormack, one of Schuetz's shots having evidently gone wild, entered through her arm and around under the shoulder blade, passing out the back.

PARKER'S FAITH IS STIMULATED

His Friends Believe Indiana's Instructions Mean Nomination.

STRONG OPPOSITION

New York Judge Must Reckon on Hearst, Cockrell and Gorman.

REPUBLICANS IN HARMONY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.

Politicians in Washington friendly to Judge Alton B. Parker declared today that the candidacy of the New York jurist had received a great impetus by the action of the Indiana Democrats in instructing for him at their convention yesterday. In their opinion the moral influence resulting from instructions by a state of Indiana's importance was of greater political value than the addition of the 30 delegates Judge Parker thus receives to his column of instructed delegates. It was also pointed out that yesterday's instructions formed a decided defeat for Hearst and a check for Gorman. If there had been no instructions it would have been heralded as a Hearst victory, although it is probable that Gorman would have had more to do with preventing instructions than Hearst.

Taking into account the instructed delegates, the known result of primaries and the probable complexion of states based on the declarations of leaders, the Parker strength today, as estimated by his supporters here, is approximately as follows:

Votes Claimed for Parker.

Alabama	22	Montana	6
Arkansas	18	New Hampshire....	8
Colorado	10	New York.....	78
Connecticut	14	North Carolina.....	24
Florida	10	Pennsylvania	68
Georgia	26	South Carolina	18
Idaho	6	Tennessee	24
Indiana	30	Texas	36
Louisiana	18	Vermont	8
Michigan	28
Minnesota	22	Total.....	494
Mississippi	20
Necessary to choice.....			667

In the foregoing statement Pennsylvania is given to Parker because at the time the convention was held and instructions were refused it was understood that the sentiment of the convention was for Parker. Recent developments, however, make it quite probable that if Gorman develops strength between now and the convention, or if there are complications threatening Judge Parker's nomination, Pennsylvania must be counted as ready to swing to Gorman.

Stone Discredits Parker Strength.

Politicians who are committed to other candidates emphatically discredited the estimates of those who presented figures in support of the prediction that Judge Parker would have sufficient votes to nominate him on first ballot. Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, declared that the successful candidate would win only after a hard fight in the convention. Mr. Stone is in charge of the candidacy of Senator Cockrell, whom the Missouri Democracy will indorse at its convention. Said he:

"Nobody can tell at this time what the result of the St. Louis convention will be.

"Parker enthusiasm appears to me to be subsiding despite the fact that Indiana instructed for him. The great Parker move that was to sweep over the country following the New York instructions has not made its appearance. From present indications no candidate will have enough votes to nominate him on first ballot. If Hearst and other influences opposed to Parker secure enough votes to control one-third of the convention they will never go to Parker. I do not think Parker will get either Illinois or Ohio. Gorman will have Maryland and other votes from the south.

"There will be a large field of uninstructed delegates. Cockrell's availability will make him a strong candidate. The result will be in doubt until the very ballot in which the candidate is chosen."

Republicans Are Serene.

The friends of President Roosevelt regard the discord in the ranks of the Democracy with much complacency today. In contrasting the conditions under which the two parties will meet in national convention they called attention to the fact that not only would the Republicans assemble in complete harmony with reference to the candidate, but that there would also be harmony concerning the platform.

One of the president's political managers stated that the platform practically had been completed. He declared that it was an unusually strong and comprehensive statement of Republican principles. There is no back tracking on any proposition, not even the tariff. There are no sops thrown to any interests, factions or classes. It is a platform to fight on and to fight for; it is a brave and frank declaration, by which the Republican party will be ready to stand or fall. The draft, which now is in hand, will be scanned by Republican leaders within the next five weeks, and when the document finally is presented to the committee on platform at Chicago it will be adopted without amendment.

It will be reported to the convention and no amendment will be made there. It is stated that the questions of dealing with the trusts and with tariff revision have been settled satisfactorily, and in a way to attract the criticism of no Republican faction.

Many Injured in Collision.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—Many persons were injured and a hundred others were thrown into a panic today in the second rear-end collision within a week and the third within a month on the Third avenue elevated railroad. A train had stopped at Ninety-ninth street to let off passengers when another train crashed into it.

THE GOLDEN GOOSE.

ANOTHER MASSACRE OF ARMENIANS BY TURKS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, May 13.—An official dispatch to the foreign office from Constantinople confirms the reports that Turkish troops have burned villages throughout the Sassoun district of Armenia, killing the inhabitants. The French ambassador, M. Constans, has joined with the Russian and British ambassadors in sending consuls to Erzeroum in the hope of limiting the destruction and bloodshed. However, the official advices, although brief, indicate that the work of exterminating the Armenians occupying the mountainous district of Sassoun is practically accomplished.

The French authorities were advised some time ago that Turkey was taking advantage of Russia's preoccupation in the far east and intended to adopt a decisive course toward the rebellious Armenians. The information then showed that the Turks would begin the work of suppressing on about April 15. In order to prevent this the powers made an energetic protest. This delayed Turkey's action, which, however, has now been executed with the same severity as at first contemplated.

PLANNING TO BOLT.

Bryan and Hearst Men to Form New Party Says the Brooklyn Eagle.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—The Brooklyn Eagle tonight publishes a story in which it announces that the Democratic radicals, led by Editor Hearst and William Jennings Bryan, will bolt the Democratic convention at St. Louis and organize a third party. Chairman James K. Jones is himself charged with a sympathetic knowledge of the movement, but a majority of the Democratic national committeemen are credited with being opposed to the bolt.

The Eagle, however, fails to reveal any defined basis for the assertion, beyond the fact that William Randolph Hearst is much chagrined over his defeats in the various states, and that where he failed to capture a state delegation he is organizing paper contests for the purpose of protesting against the seating of Parker delegates. The new party will have distinctly socialistic principles and it is expected, when launched, will make an appeal to the working classes throughout the country.

RUSSIANS IN KOREA.

Reports Reach Seoul of Forces Being in Different Provinces.

SEOUL, KOREA, May 13.—Reports are constantly coming in of the presence of Russian forces in Northern Korea. The governor of Hab-Yung province represents that 2,000 troops are distributed throughout that province.

Four hundred and fifty are at Kyong-Song on the coast and the remainder are scattered in the interior, living on the country. A force of 700 is reported in the province of Pyengan, at Kwasung, north of Chang-Fu and about 40 miles southeast of Wiju.

Finish Bar and Boiling Scales.

CLEVELAND, May 13.—At the annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers today, the bar and boiling scales were completed and the guide mill scale taken up for consideration.

Will Take Russian Loan.

PARIS, May 13.—It is understood that about $4,000,000 of the new Russian loan will be placed with New York customers of the French underwriters. The issue price of the new Russian loan will be 90.

THREE COUNCILMEN ASKED TO RESIGN

Beaver Falls Has Full Grown Scandal Over Contract for Cleaning Sewers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER FALLS, PA., May 14.—After a sensational meeting lasting from 8 o'clock last night until about 1 o'clock this morning, the Beaver Falls council requested three of its members to resign for the public welfare. The request for the resignations was brought about by the charges made by J. C. Harris of Beaver Falls, who alleged jobbery in the sewerage committee.

Several weeks ago the council decided to let contracts for the cleaning of several large sewers in the borough. Harris alleges that the committee on sewers, consisting of Frank E. Tanney, Nelson Osmond and Richard Mountford, Jr., came to him and proposed that if he would submit an open bid they would award him the contract if he would pay them a certain sum. This, Harris alleges, he agreed to do, and when council advertised for bids for the cleaning of the sewer he submitted a bid. For some reason the three councilmen did not award the contract to Harris, and the latter published an account of the whole transaction in local papers.

Council took the matter up and a special session was called for tonight at which various witnesses were brought on the stand, including Harris, Tanney, Osmond and Mountford. The three committeemen denied all the charges brought against them, and after a stormy hearing the council went into executive session. After the session the secretary was instructed to notify Tanney, Osmond and Mountford that they had better resign for the public good.

Osmond and Mountford this morning stated that they had no intention of resigning, and Tanney would say nothing about his plans.

ARTILLERY FOR OUTLAW.

Big Guns Will Be Used to Dislodge Terror of North Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 13.—George Ioth, deputy sheriff of this (Hennepin) county, has volunteered to capture the outlaw Dietz, who is holding officers at bay near Hayward, Wis. Ioth's offer has been accepted by the Wisconsin authorities and he will go at once. He expects to get artillery from Madison and dislodge the outlaw.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, WIS., May 13.—All the men employed by the Chippewa Lumber and Boom Company at the Cameron dam on the Thornapple river, which Dietz is holding up, returned today, the drive being abandoned. Over 10,000,000 feet of logs are lying high and dry, the dam being kept open by Dietz. Operations of the mills may be delayed should the present trouble long continue. Sixty armed men started out today from Cameron Junction with orders to capture Dietz dead or alive.

Roasted to Death in Oil Fire.

HOUSTON, TEX., May 13.—Fire at Batson this afternoon destroyed 18 derricks, five drilling rigs and 22 tanks containing about 15,000 barrels of oil. Thomas Walker of Leavenworth, Kan., mounted a ladder in an effort to cut off the flow of oil, but fell into a mass of burning oil and timbers and was slowly roasted to death. The loss is $60,000.

Russia Sends Army to Caucasus.

LONDON, May 14.—The Daily Mail this morning publishes a dispatch from Constantinople, according to which Russia is concentrating troops just beyond the Caucasus. The most reliable information, the dispatch says, fixes the present total number of troops at 125,000.

THREATENED TO KILL WOODEND AND HIS WIFE

Prisoner Claims He Lost All His Money Through the Company's Failure.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—Declaring that he has lost all his money through the failure of W. E. Woodend & Co., Julius Johnson went ot the Woodend home, West Seventy-first street, this afternoon and threatened to shoot the broker. He was arrested and taken to police headquarters.

Johnson alleged that he had deposited $7,800 with Woodend and that he had lost the money through the failure of Woodend. A letter was received by Mrs. Woodend today, which in substance read:

"Your husband has seen me often. I had money in his care. I wanted it kept for my old age. I wanted to provide for my darling wife. She now knows all about it. We are destitute. At 3 o'clock this afternoon I want $200. If the money is not paid I will kill you and the doctor, even if I have to die in the chair."

Johnson came at 3 o'clock and was promptly seized by the police. He was taken to police headquarters, where it was learned that he was a longshoreman. The police said he had been worrying over the loss of $400 that he had saved up in order to get married and had squandered at the race track.

Pope Did Not Write to Loubet.

ROME, May 13.—The Osservatore Romano, the vatican organ, publishes a denial of the statement which appeared in French newspapers that the pope had written to President Loubet concerning his recent visit to Rome.

HOT CONTEST FOR GOVERNOR

Illinois Convention Deadlocked—Fifteen Ballots Without Result.

ROOSEVELT AND HITT

National Delegates Instructed to Vote for the President and Congressman.

EXCITEMENT AT SPRINGFIELD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Springfield, Ill., May 13.—After a deadlock on the nomination of governor covering the afternoon and evening the Republican state convention took a recess at 10:28 tonight until tomorrow morning. The last ballot taken tonight was the fifteenth with the following result: Yates, 495; Lowden, 405 9-66; Deneen, 381 57-66; Hamlin, 111; Warner, 86; Sherman, 51; Pierce, 21.

An important feature of the convention today was the platform which was unanimously adopted and which instructed the national delegates to vote for the nomination of Roosevelt and Congressman Robert R. Hitt of Illinois for president and vice president.

During the long hours the convention was in session it was in a practical deadlock, and when by general consent the recess was taken tonight neither of the seven candidates had secured an advantage of any moment. Each was holding practically his original strength.

Would Not Compromise.

While the tiresome balloting went on the party leaders held frequent conferences, trying to effect a compromise, but all of their efforts went for naught and there is nothing in the situation tonight to warrant the prediction of a break tomorrow.

The convention was at once the largest and the most turbulent ever held in the state. The great convention hall was packed with fully 10,000 persons during the session, and at times the scenes were most turbulent, only the good nature of Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the national house of representatives, who presided, preventing utter riot in the convention hall. Several times Speaker Cannon threatened to adjourn the convention to the hall of the house of representatives and exclude the public.

The organization of the convention was accomplished without difficulty. The Yates-Lowden combination was in complete control and the opposition decided to make no fight against the seating of the Yates and Lowden delegates, realizing that they would split when the question of nominating a governor was reached; nor was there any discussion over the platform, and the four delegates-at-large to the national convention, Senators Cullom and Hopkins, Speaker Cannon and Gov. Yates, were selected by acclamation.

Cannon Kept Things Going.

Previous to the announcement of the tenth ballot the shouters for the various candidates began a number of demonstrations in the rear of the hall and, marching forward, invaded the speaker's stand with their banners and struggled for points of vantage. The press seats were overrun, and it was necessary to call upon the police to clear the stand. The wildest disorder prevailed, but with characteristic good humor Speaker Cannon shouted: "The boys in the press gallery will please be in order," and the laugh which followed cooled the heated blood of the contending shouters, who gave way before the police and were dragged and driven from the stand.

FLANK TURNED BY JAPANESE

Mikado's Army Gains Another Vantage Point from Russians.

HOSTS DRAW CLOSER

Lien-Chen-Kuan Occupied and Decisive Engagement Expected Sunday or Monday.

PORT ARTHUR AGAIN CUT OFF

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Liao-Yang, May 13.—Since the occupation of Fung-Wang-Cheng by the Japanese they have been steadily but carefully advancing toward this city. The advance guard of the first army has already appeared six miles from Lien-Chen-Kuan, about 60 miles from this city.

The Japanese turned the Russian right flank at Suelichen on Wednesday. The Russian losses are said to have been one officer wounded and two men killed.

It is evident that no further advance will be undertaken until the main army arrives, as the troops are now busy erecting strong fortifications at Lien-Chen-Kuan. All of their movements have been made with the greatest care.

A persistent rumor is current here that a Russian squadron of cavalry succeeded in getting behind the Japanese who were several squadrons strong and in occupying Kuan-Dian-San. The unexpected appearance of the Russians caused the Japanese to immediately evacuate the town and retire toward the Yalu. The report is believed to be correct.

Both telegraph and railroad communication with Port Arthur have been cut off.

CHEFOO, May 13.—(Special Cable.)—Skirmishing has been reported southeast of Hai-Cheng from which point the Japanese are advancing in force. It is believed the three Japanese divisions which are marching on that point will reach their objective tomorrow or Sunday.

Evacuating Hai-Cheng.

Reports reach here that the Russians are withdrawing from Hai-Cheng, fearing they will be cut off and the resistance there probably will be nominal if there is any resistance at all. No attack is expected on Liao-Yang until the railroad has been cleared by the western column and it is ready to advance.

The Japanese control of the Liao-Tung peninsula, outside of Port Arthur, is complete, and reinforcements are being rushed to the army which is investing the Russian fortress. Indications from news received from private sources is that Gen. Oku will himself command the investing force, which is placed now at 25,000 men and which will within three or four days be increased to nearly 40,000 men.

It is not believed the Russians have more than 15,000 men in Port Arthur, including the sailors from the fleet. Japanese advices say that all the efforts to clear the Port Arthur channel have been unavailing and that nothing larger than a torpedo boat destroyer can get out. The Japanese fleet is keeping a close watch on the port and in the event of the block being removed the Russians would find themselves facing an overwhelming force.

En Route to Vladivostok.

TOKYO, May 13.—(Special Cable.)—An attack is to be made on Vladivostok and the railroad is to be cut between that port and Harbin, according to current report, which cannot, however, be officially confirmed. According to the report a Japanese army of 30,000 men are now en route with some point back of Vladivostok, on the Siberian railroad, as their objective. The object of this move is to threaten Kuropatkin's position as well as to cut off the Russian fortress.

SEOUL, May 13.—(Special Cable.)—The raiding party of Cossacks and bandits, which was first heard of in the neighborhood of Wonson and recently made a determined attack on the small Japanese garrison at Anju, is probably surrounded to the northeast of Unsan, where the American mines are situated. After they had been driven back from Anju they retreated rapidly to the northeast, probably to get back to Vladivostok, from which point it is said they came. A force of Japanese cavalry has been sent in pursuit, while another body was sent from the Japanese naval base on the east coast above Wonson. By reason of the depredations committed by the bandits the natives are anxious for their capture and are keeping the Japanese informed of their movements. It is not believed they will be able to escape.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 13.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following official dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"At dawn May 11 the Japanese began to emerge from Fung-Wang-Cheng on the Liao-Yang road. The advance guard marching toward Suelichen consisted of a regiment of infantry, four guns and a regiment of cavalry.

Right Flank Turned.

"Suelichen was held by a troop of Cossacks acting as a screen, while the Chansialin defile was occupied by two sotnias. Two companies of Japanese marched on Chansialin and another company advanced on Suelichen, turning our right flank. The Cossacks then retired, still keeping the enemy back with their fire, first upon the Fang-Tien defile and finally toward the defile in the neighborhood of the village of Ehumynzo, where they took up a position. The captain of the sotnia, Dewahl, was wounded and two Cossacks were killed.

"Kuan-Dian-San (Kwan-Tein-Sien) was evacuated by the enemy and occupied by our Cossacks. Reconnoissances failed to discover the presence of Japanese in the valley of the Tsacheo, 37 miles southwest of Gaimadza (Samatsi or Sai-Ma-Ki).

"On May 9 and May 10 the enemy's bivouacs were seen in the valley of the River Unsianheo, near the village Taimiza, 18 miles east of Siu-Yen, and at Sedsekhedze, at the confluence of the Tayang and Sedzi rivers.

Division on the March.

"On the morning of May 10 a Japanese infantry detachment, about 10,000 strong, with from 50 to 80 guns, which concentrated at Salitszaipudza, started toward Siu-Yen.

"Taku-Shan (about 40 miles west of the mouth of the Yalu) and Ching-Tai-Tsze (15 miles southwest of Taku-Shan) have been occupied by the Japanese.

"On May 11 Japanese scouts appeared at a point 12 miles south of Siu-Yen. All was quiet on May 11 in the district of Tin-Kow."

Advices indicate that the Japanese are pushing the campaign in Southern Manchuria with great energy. The rainy season, which will render the roads almost impassable, begins in six weeks, and the latest belief here is that the enemy hopes to make his position secure by a decisive engagement before the rains set in. The army organ believes that at least eight divisions of the enemy, not counting 20,000 men in the lower part of the Liao-Tung peninsula, are in Southern Manchuria. As to the force advancing from the Yalu, where it is believed another army has landed, information is very incomplete.

In Three Divisions.

The three divisions of Gen. Kuroki's army separated at Feng-Wang-Cheng. According to the reports of the Russian scouts, 10,000 infantry, with 40 guns, and 1,500 cavalry moved north to Samatzy (Sai-Ma-Ki), whence they could strike either Mukden or Liao-Yang. The flank of this force is protected by a battalion of infantry, three squadrons of cavalry and a mountain battery at Kuang-Chan-Siang. A division of Japanese guards proceeded west to Hai-Cheng and 10,000 infantry, with 50 guns, mostly mountain pieces, moved southwest toward Kai-Ping and reached the Salidzaypu ford of the Ta-Yang river Tuesday, leaving Wednesday for Suyan-Chou. How many reserves came up behind them on the Fung-Wang-Cheng road is not known.

All of these forces, at their rate of traveling, are due at their destination Sunday or Monday. The Russians are in the dark as to the place where to await the Japanese attack. It is considered probable that the northern force will be heavily reinforced and that a simultaneous attack of the southern division will clear the railroad to Niuchwang and permit the enemy to move directly northward and strike the Russian flank at Liao-Yang or Mukden in co-operation with the force which was at Samatzy Wednesday.

Try to Hold Railroad.

The Russians intend to make an attempt to hold one or two stations on the railroad, but which of these is not known. According to the last reports, they are still in possession of Kai-Ping, Hai-Cheng and Ta-Che-Kiau.

It is reported that the guns which had been mounted at Niuchwang have been taken to the latter place. The valley of the Ta-Yang, where a large force of the enemy, strength unknown, is moving westward, is generally hilly, but there are fairly good roads to Fung-Wang-Cheng, Kai-Ping and Sun-Cheng, on the railroad, and down the east coast of the Liao-Tung peninsula to Pitsewo.

There are two fords at the Ta-Yang, below its confluence with the Zedzih, one at Salidzaypu, 20 miles above Takushan, and the other 60 miles lower down the Liao-Wan-Mia, the latter being for cavalry.

NIUCHWANG, May 13.—Chinese bandits are committing depredations in the vicinity of Yin Kow. Several rich natives who were kidnaped by them from Niuchwang have been ransomed.

Japanese scouts were seen at a late hour yesterday seven miles southeast of Kai-Chou. A part of the Japanese army is at present marching from Helu-Yen to the northwest. The number of this force cannot be obtained, but it is known to be considerable.

The Russians are moving two regiments in and out of Niuchwang for the purpose of creating the impression among the natives that they have a number of men here. These two regiments comprise the only Russian force in this vicinity, the remainder of the troops formerly here being moved toward Mukden.

The belief prevails here that the Russian authorities will soon move the Mukden forces in the direction of Harbin, and it is not thought that they will risk any fight on the Liao-Tung peninsula. As they retreat to the north the Russians are burning the railroad stations and such foodstuffs as they are unable to take with them. Much Chinese property has been destroyed.

JAPANESE TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYED BY MINE

First of Mikado's Ships Lost in War Sunk Near Dalny Thursday.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, May 13.—(4 p. m.)—The Japanese torpedo boat No. 48 was destroyed while removing mines from Kerr bay, north of Port Dalny, yesterday. Seven men were killed and seven wounded. This is the first warship Japan has lost in the war.

The torpedo boat was lost during a series of bombardments and surveying operations at Talien-Wan, Deep and Kerr bays, by Admiral Kataoka, commander of the Third squadron. The admiral arrived at Kerr bay early in the morning and detached the cruisers Itsukushima, Nisshin and Miyako, ordering them to bombard the land batteries, while a flotilla of torpedo boats swept the harbor for mines. A second flotilla of torpedo boats, which had been engaged in guarding Port Arthur the previous night, joined the squadron and began the work of surveying the harbor.

The Miyako discovered a company of Russian infantry and a detachment of cavalry on shore and dispersed them. The survey was completed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two torpedo boats that were reconnoitering and removing mines in the west shore of Kerr bay discovered a telegraph line running along the Takushan peninsula. In order to destroy it Lieut. Hotta and four sailors landed and scaled the heights under the protection of the guns of the torpedo boats and cut the line.

The Japanese vessels then discovered three bodies of Russian troops, one large and two small ones, whereupon the squadron advanced close to the shore and shelled them.

The Miyako, which was reconnoitering in Deep bay, discovered a Russian guard post on a mountain to the northwest of Robinson promontory and destroyed it. A Russian force, estimated at 10 companies, took refuge behind an eminence, but it was dispersed by the Japanese.

Torpedo boats Nos. 48 and 49 discovered a large mechanical mine in Kerr bay. Their various attempts to blow it up failed and it suddenly exploded of itself, cutting No. 48 in two. The torpedo boat sank in seven minutes. The squadron hurried boats to the rescue and picked up the wounded. Three other mines were discovered and exploded. The squadron completed its operations at 6 o'clock in the evening and returned to its base.

FIGHTING, NOT PRAYING, WINS

Lieut.-Gen. Miles Makes Terse Criticism of Opposing Armies in Orient.

DEWEY HEADS PATRIOT ORDER

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—"It's the fighting, not the praying, that wins," was the terse remark made by Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles at the dinner of the general court of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America here tonight.

The remark was made during a speech in praise of the American soldier, in which the general casually compared the fighting men of the mikado and the czar. "It has been my privilege," he said, "to see most of the armies of the world. I have studied carefully the armies of Japan and China and the soldiers of Russia, and the success in the east today of the soldiers of the mikado is due to their wonderful skill, the faithful performance of their duties and their remarkable enterprise. The Russian soldier is courageous in saying his prayers before going into battle, and the same thing may be said of the soldiers of the sultan, and I have found that on the battlefield it's the fighting and not the praying that wins.

"Of all the armies of the world ours seems to differ in that the men are serving for a principle. Ours seem to feel that they are working for a free people—a republic in which every man is a sovereign and every woman a superior of a sovereign. Our flag represents the sovereignty and the friends of manhood."

At the annual meeting of the order held in the governor's room of the city hall the following officers were elected: Governor general, Admiral George Dewey; deputy governor general, Edward H. Hall of New York; chaplain general, the Rev. Dr. Charles Wadsworth of Pennsylvania; secretary general, E. A. Turrell of New York; treasurer general, William D. Miller of New York; attorney general, W. S. Logan of New York; genealogist general, E. E. Sill; registrar general, William Allen Marble of New York; councillors general, John Elderkin of New York, William Armstrong Halsey of New Jersey and Capt. Henry Benjamin Meiges of Pennsylvania.

MOZART CLUB HEARD IN HAYDN'S "SEASONS"

Orchestra, Chorus and Soloists of the Organization Did Good Work at Carnegie Hall.

The Mozart club last night gave Haydn's "The Seasons" in Carnegie Music hall. The solo parts were intrusted to Mrs. Agnes Vogel-Roberts, soprano, with H. B. Brockett, Jr., tenor, and W. Yeatman Griffith, baritone. The orchestral score in "The Seasons" is masterly and to the appreciative the orchestration proved one of the delights of the evening, the musicians sharing honors with the chorus.

Agnes Vogel-Roberts was heard to advantage in the duet for soprano and tenor—"Spring, Her Lovely Charms Unfolding," supported later with good effect by the divisional and full chorus in the first grand finale. Mrs. Vogel-Roberts sang delightfully in the duo numbers with Mr. Brockett and also the soprano solo with chorus in the last part. Harry B. Brockett is a finished artist who proved himself amply capable of handling the various recitative and aria numbers, and in solo as well as in the final duo for tenor and baritone voices, revealed the trained vocalist. W. Yeatman Griffith was most pleasing, especially in the recitative and aria work of the third part.

The chorus showed the result of faithful training and did excellent work in the invocation, the storm music and most splendidly of all in the ringing hunters' chorus, and the imposing final ensemble.

WANT TO AMEND RULES.

Effort to Allow City and County Employes to Hold Membership on Committee.

The Republican city committee of Allegheny met last night in the headquarters in East Diamond street. Two amendments to the rules were presented. One struck out the rules prohibiting persons holding position of honor, trust or profit under the city or county government, unless elected by direct vote of the people, from holding membership on the committee. The other amendment allows the secretary of the committee to be a member of the executive board.

Under the rules the amendments must lay over 10 days and the committee will meet then to consider them.

COURT IN EVENING DRESS.

Third Injunction Against B. V. R. R. Co. Granted in Unusual Surroundings.

BEAVER, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—With all present in evening dress, Judge J. Sharpe Wilson held court in the foyer of the Grand opera house, Rochester, last night, and granted a preliminary injunction against the Beaver Valley Railroad Company, restraining it, for the third time, from working in Fifth street, Beaver. Beaver council adopted a resolution at a special meeting the night before authorizing the borough solicitors to bring action. Papers could not be put in shape until last night.

Knowing that the injunction would be asked for, the railroad company, with 150 men and many teams, rushed the work all day yesterday. They were racing against time, trying to get a track laid through the borough before the injunction could be asked for. They did not stop work until darkness fell, and it was expected that after a short rest the men would be put to work with torches. Borough Solicitor J. B. McClure, with Attorney E. Burnett for the company, on whom notice had been served that the injunction would be asked for, went to the opera house at 8 o'clock. Judge Wilson, who made an address at the commencement exercises of the Rochester business college, was about to rise when they arrived. He was called into the hall and there held court.

Judge Wilson granted the petition and set the time for the hearing at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Sheriff Howard Bliss, with Deputy Agnew Bliss, served the injunction on Attorney Barnett.

FOUR DENTAL COLLEGE TEACHERS HAVE RESIGNED

Four members of the faculty of the Pittsburgh Dental college have resigned because of a difference over how the college should be conducted. Dr. Stewart L. McCurdy, secretary of the college, is the only member of the faculty to retain his position, and he is now in full charge of the affairs of the college. The teachers who resigned were Dr. W. H. Fundenberg, dean of the faculty and instructor in prosthetic dentistry; Dr. J. H. Beal, instructor in chemistry and metallurgy; Dr. Theodore Dillon, teacher of physiology, and Dr. H. W. Arthur, teacher in operative dentistry. The resignations were handed in April 20, the day of the commencement exercises.

INDEPENDENT TELEPHONE MEN YET IN SESSION

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—A meeting of officials of independent long-distance telephone companies in a number of states was held here today to arrange plans for establishing communication over the lines of the different companies. The lines are being extended in many cities and direct wires from Pittsburgh to Kansas City will soon be in operation, construction work having been practically completed. Another session will be held tomorrow.

MITCHELL DENIES REPORTED SELECTION OF JUDGE GRAY

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., May 13.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers said today that no selection has been made as yet of a man to take the presidency of the National Civic Federation made vacant by the death of Senator M. A. Hanna. He said that the reported selection of Judge George Gray by the committee was untrue.

When quiet had been restored the eleventh ballot was ordered.

Before the chair could announce the ballot the shouters in the hall again made an effort to stampede the gathering, and the rival demonstrations threw the great crowd into riotous disorder. It continued for fully half an hour, and it seemed impossible to end it.

In the midst of the excitement two policemen attempted to stop a negro who was carrying a lowden banner. The negro resisted and Police Sergeant George Brightman struck him over the head. The negro retaliated and knocked the policeman over, the officer falling upon Mrs. Richard Yates, who was occupying a seat in the Morgan county delegation. B. M. Chiperfield, a candidate for attorney general, sprang between the combatants, and the negro was then hustled out of the hall. He was armed with a revolver.

ROOSEVELT AND HITT THE CHOICE OF ILLINOIS

Platform Also Pledges Party to Gold Standard and Protective Tariff.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 13.—Roosevelt and Hitt as the national standard bearers were prominent in the platform adopted by the Republican state convention today.

The platform gives credit to the money policy of the national administration in assisting to bring about present unexampled prosperity and pledges the party to the maintenance of the gold standard. Loyalty to the protective tariff is affirmed. Appropriations are favored to place the navy in point of strength and efficiency in its proper position among the navies of the world.

The possession of the Philippine islands giving the United States the right to a voice in the affairs of that part of the world, and the action of Secretary Hay in securing the open door policy of trade in the orient is recognized as the greatest diplomatic achievement of modern times. Retention of the Philippines is favored as well as the maintenance of the open door policy of trade in Eastern Asia. The policy of the Democratic party in its desire to abandon the Philippines is denounced. The attitude of congress and President Roosevelt regarding anti-trust legislation is commended and such further legislation, state and national, as may be required is recommended.

The administration of President Roosevelt is praised, and the delegates to the national convention are instructed for him and to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Congressman Robert R. Hitt of Illinois as vice president.

CONVENTION ENDED.

New Officers of Knights of Golden Eagle Are Installed at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—(Special.)—The installation of new grand officers today brings the convention of the Knights of the Golden Eagle to a close. York was decided upon as the place for the convention next year.

The officers who gained places by succession, and whose installation was the feature of today, are: Grand chief, Fred W. Anton of this city; vice grand chief, State Senator Webster Grim of Doylestown; grand high priest, John P. Ritter of Freemansburg; grand master of records, L. L. Gallagher of Chester; grand keeper of exchequer, Howard L. Boaz of Reading; grand sir herald, A. L. Campbell of this city. Benton Patterson of Pittsburgh becomes past grand chief.

ILLNESS DROVE HIM MAD.

Wealthy Farmer Committed Suicide to Get Relief from Pain.

CANAL DOVER, O., May 13.—(Special.)—Driven temporarily insane by fever, Solomon Humerighouse committed suicide at his home in New Philadelphia at an early hour this morning. Humerighouse had been ill for years and during the past few weeks had suffered excruciating pain. Upon arising this morning he took a small rifle, placed the stock against a window sill and with his toes pulled the trigger. Death was instantaneous.

Humerighouse was one of the most prominent men of Tuscarawas county and was the owner of real estate throughout this section of the state. For the past ten years he had been president of the Tuscarawas County Agricultural society.

BENEFACTOR OF A NEGRO CHARGES HIM WITH THEFT

Charles Carter, a young negro, was arrested at the Hotel Henry, where he was employed as a bellboy, on a charge of embezzlement. The prosecutor is G. W. Thompson, a grocer at Thirty-third street and Grant boulevard. Thompson says he took Carter into his house several years ago, gave him a home and, when he grew old enough, employed him as a clerk. Recently he sent him out as a collector, and he says Carter kept a large amount of money, aggregating over $2,000. He dismissed him, and as he showed no intention of endeavoring to replace the money he charged him with embezzlement before Alderman A. G. Sharra. In default of bail, he was placed in jail for a hearing.

UN YOU NOT A MURDERER.

Haw Jung Committed Suicide and Admitted It Before He Died.

Un You, the Chinaman who was arrested in this city Monday in connection with the death of Haw Jung, a fellow countryman, in Mannington, W. Va., Sunday last, will have a hearing this morning before Magistrate Stewart. Haw Jung was shot three times in the stomach, and the police at Mannington first thought that he had been murdered by Un You. It has since been learned that Haw Jung committed suicide. He made a statement to Chief of Police J. H. Hellum of Mannington and to Dr. Ray Roth, who attended him.

"Me shot myself; me die tomorrow," Haw Jung said.

DOUBLE CRIME DUE TO JEALOUSY

May 11, 1904.

Dear Winnie—I am doing this all for the love I have for you. No use of trying, I cannot accomplish anything with a thought about me that you are not mine. If you had only listened to me and done what I wanted you to. Well, Freddie, dear, I suppose all this is coming to me. I can now realize the great wrong I did to McCormack. Me being with you only a short time and knowing the way I feel, I can imagine what pain and heartaches he must have suffered.

Well, to tell the truth, Freddie, he showed good sense to forget and did not make an ass of himself, as I am about to do. But I do not know. I have tried to forget, but it does not seem possible. I try to forget all this by drinking, but that is a d—— poor cure.

I am sorry also on account of my people, but then it will be better for them, anyhow, for they will never hear anything more about my misdoings. I have been a pretty bad fellow, and hope the good God will forgive me, but they say He never forgives a sin like the one I am about to commit.

About to Pay the Cost.

Well, good-by, Freddie. You were the dearest, sweetest and dearest thing in the world to me, and now I am about to pay the cost. Good-by, sweatheart.

FRED.

The note was read by Supt. Campbell to the reporters. He had copied it out of the notebook. It had been reported that the note contained the name of a prominent Allegheny citizen, a man of whom Schuetz was said to be jealous, but Mr. Campbell said no names were mentioned, and that the note as read by him was exactly as written by Schuetz. From the tenor and date of the note, it is supposed that Schuetz had intended in a day or two to kill himself, and not the woman, but that the quarrel in the car changed his mind.

When the family was notified of the tragedy by an officer sent to the Schuetz home, 3294 Bouquet street, from the Oakland police station last night, shortly after the shooting occurred, the family was greatly shocked, but not surprised at the turn affairs had taken. Henry Schuetz, Jr., of Schuetz, Renziehausen & Co., father of the young man, immediately went to Allegheny to take care of his son.

Made Threats a Month Ago.

Edwin Schuetz, a younger brother of Fred, said his brother had told him about a month ago, when he last saw him, that he would kill Mrs. McCormack and himself. He refused to tell Edwin his reason or anything about the matter. Edwin said Fred had not lived at the family home for about one and a half years, and for the last month had not been working.

His father had given Fred every opportunity to secure a good education and had sent him at various times to the best colleges in this country, but Fred steadily refused to accept the opportunities offered. Edwin stated that he repeatedly warned his brother that his manner of living and the people with whom he associated would involve him in serious trouble and bring shame and grief to his family.

Mrs. Schuetz said the family knew of Fred's relations with Mrs. McCormack and that she had often pleaded with her son to give up the woman and return home. Mrs. Schuetz was almost prostrated over the affair and said that she had not even a picture of her son. She said that when he was a child he had an ulcer on one of his eyes and it slightly disfigured him, and, although she had often requested him to have a photograph taken, he refused because of the mark on his eye.

BROKERS BANKRUPT.

Whitney, Pousland & Co., of Boston Unable to Meet Their Liabilities.

BOSTON, May 13.—The firm of Whitney, Pousland & Co., leading commission merchants of this city, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today, with liabilities of $111,908 and assets of $463. The firm is composed of William E. Stowe and George E. Pousland.

Mr. Stowe also filed a personal petition in bankruptcy, showing liabilities of $304,700. No assets were scheduled. Of the seven claims against Stowe personally three, amounting to $31,000, are secured by mortgages, one that of the Paterson Trust Company of Paterson, N. J., for $5,000. The largest unsecured creditor is the estate of Edward Whitney of Belmont, formerly of the firm, for $267,000.

Counsel for the petitioners state that the firm's difficulties are due to its connection with the Desha Lumber Company of Arkansas. The amount due the Whitney estate was incurred on account of the lumber property investments.

SECRETARY SHAW'S SON SAVES A WOMAN'S LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—(Special.)—Earl B. Shaw, son of the secretary of the treasury, played the part of a hero in a canoeing party at Honolulu a few days ago while the steamer Doric was lying in the harbor. There were five in the pleasure party, all passengers for this city on the Doric. The lifesaving rescued the pleasure seekers after their boat had capsized, but young Shaw, alone and unaided, saved the life of the woman in the party, Mrs. C. F. Barff, wife of a wealthy business man of Shanghai.

BROTHERS MEET AFTER YEARS OF SEPARATION

Frederick Went West 36 Years Ago and Although Prospering Was Supposed to Be Dead.

One morning in March, 1868, Frederick Kirsch, brother of Jacob Kirsch of 4726 South Atlantic avenue, told his brother he was going west. A few hours later he was speeding towards the Golden Gate, and that was the last his brother Jacob heard of him until last Tuesday morning. While Jacob Kirsch was sitting in his office at No. 2224 Penn avenue on Tuesday morning, a tall gray-bearded man entered. The man was accompanied by his wife. The stranger looked at Jacob for a moment and asked him when he had last heard from his brother Frederick. Jacob said he believed him dead.

The stranger then made himself known to his brother and told him that he had arrived in the city on Monday, but the place was so changed that he was unable to find him until the next morning. Mr. Kirsch at once closed his office and took his brother and sister-in-law to his home in South Atlantic avenue, where a family reunion was held.

When seen last night at the home of his brother, Mr. Kirsch said that all the old landmarks about Canal street, now Eleventh street, had disappeared, and that the city had so grown up that he was afraid he would never find his brother. "I started out Penn avenue," he said, and as soon as I saw the old Bayardstown market house things commenced to look familiar, and a short time later I was able to find my brother."

After he left Pittsburgh in 1868 Mr. Kirsch said he went to California, where he worked at his trade for 11 months. He then went Portland, Ore., staying there eight years. Later he took up a soldier's land grant in Washington territory, which he stocked with cattle. His nearest neighbor was 45 miles away.

Mr. Kirsch said that he made up his mind suddenly to visit his brother and see his old home before he died. He has a family of six boys and three girls, all living on the ranch in Washington. One of his sons is in charge of the government fish hatchery on one of the branches of the Willimette river.

Mr. Kirsch is a veteran of the Civil war, having served during the rebellion in Company C, Forty-sixth Pennsylvania Volunteery infantry.

ROEBER TELLS HIS STORY.

Man Who Gained $35,000 by Brave Act Relates Details of Deed.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—(Special.)—Ernest A. Roeber, the Colwyn bay, who has just come into a fortune for having saved the lives of a Pittsburgh woman and her daughter 15 years ago, today told of the act which brought him such an unexpected reward:

Fifteen years ago this month I was driving a herd of cattle down Nunnery Hill in Allegheny, when I was startled to hear cries of "Murder!" "Help!" Looking up the road I saw a team of English cobs, attached to a fine buggy, tearing madly along, the buggy swaying from side to side and the occupants, two women and a child, in danger of being thrown out.

I thought to myself, "Well, here goes," and I sprang out in front of them. I hit the nearest horse a belt on the nose with a stick I had in my hand and he reared up on his haunches. I then grabbed both of them by their noses and held them until they were quiet.

Two of the occupants, Mrs. Martinique and her daughter, Ruth, were thrown out and killed. Mrs. Dobbs was profuse in her thanks and took my name, but I soon forgot all about it.

I afterward roamed all over the country, in almost every state in the union. A few weeks ago, while working in Springfield township, near this place, I learned that Mrs. Dobbs had died and left me $25,000. I established my identity and got the money, and also a check for $10,000 from Mrs. Hindmier, a daughter of Mrs. Dobbs.

The A. B. Chase Piano Used

Grand Pianos For Less Than Usual Prices of Uprights

We have a limited number of grand pianos which we are going to close out at prices averaging less than those generally charged for uprights.

This remarkable announcement will prove specially interesting to those in charge of Sunday schools, churches, educational institutions and particularly to teachers.

The unusual character of these bargains is indicated by the fact that one of these grands was in use only four months. Some, of course, have been used for longer periods, but all are in fine condition and the biggest bargains we have ever seen. Such instruments as required it have received a thorough overhauling in our own shop—have been revarnished, supplied with new strings, new hammers and new felts throughout.

We wish to impress upon the readers of this advertisement that these grands are in every way worthy of even the most critical musicians and we ask you to come in and try them whether you have any intention of buying or not.

Here Are the Prices:

$900	Decker Bros.' Grand	$250	$900 A. B. Chase Grand $490

All styles, all leathers, one price—$3.50.

You wont be asked to believe anything you can't see. The "Window of the Sole" makes it possible for you to see on the finished shoes an unfinished part of the honest, everlasting Live Oak leather used in Regal soles,—and the shoes dissected by the Regal Buzz-Saw show you the true inwardness of Regal leather and workmanship from top to toe.

Regal style wont need dissection—it's written all over them.

We've proved the Regal to about a million regular customers now—or rather the Regal has proved itself—and they keep our seventy-two stores busy. There are a great many shrewd people in any million,—and if the Regal had failed to prove itself a "six-dollar shoe at the wholesale price" we'd be subtracting fifteen stores from the Regal chain instead of adding fifteen new ones as we have done.

BORAXOLOGY

Everybody who has been a boy—and most of us have, except the girls—remembers how he looked upon the bath much in the nature of an enforced ducking, with an unpleasant soapy flavor.

And a bath in hard city water isn't much more than a good ducking, really.

When you put BORAX in the water you get a bath that really cleanses—that rids the pores of waste matter—quickens the circulation and stimulates the entire body. Try it—and you'll find the difference. Just ask for 20-MULE-TEAM BRAND—it's pure. Sold by Druggists and Grocers, ¼, ½ and 1-lb. packages.

BIGELOW STOPS CONSTABLE SALE

Says That the Bill Against the Citizens Party Will Be Paid.

HE DID NOT KNOW ABOUT IT

Thomas S. Bigelow was not pleased yesterday when he learned that the Citizens party was in the hands of a constable. As a result of his efforts, the sale of property at Third avenue headquarters will not take place.

Alderman John A. Martin announced yesterday afternoon that the "matter" had been settled. He was asked if he did not have some similar accounts to collect. The squire replied that he had, and as all of them would be paid he did not care to go into details.

When Bigelow heard that the Labor World had started to collect its bill by the constable sale route he announced:

"That bill will be paid. Had I known of its existence this affair would not have happened. The money for the payment of bills is in the hands of Murry A. Verner's clerk. There are no bills hanging over from campaigns managed by me."

Mr. Verner was chairman of the county committee and managed the campaign of 1903, in which the unpaid bills were contracted. He was not around yesterday. Some of the men who hold bills say that offers have been made to settle with them at 25 and 50 cents on the dollar. A leader of a brass band said yesterday that he guessed he would have to call the constable to his assistance to collect a bill for music.

Mayor W. B. Hays denies all knowledge of the bills. He was asked if the ice box at headquarters was used for the storage of reform platforms. He replied:

"Some of them ought to have been kept on ice."

Wesley S. Cuffey was talking a little yesterday. During the course of his remarks he delivered himself of this observation while discussing the police force:

"The whole matter is about as useless as a wart on a toe, and about as ornamental."

The Independent party of the Thirty-second ward will indorse T. A. Milby as its candidate for common councilman. An affidavit claiming the right to use the party appellation was filed yesterday in the county commissioner's office. It is signed by Albert York Smith, Joseph A. Langdon, William Ablett, J. G. Wild and Robert Macrory.

SMASHED $1,500 WORTH OF UNLAWFUL PROPERTY

The Confiscated Slot Machines Made into Scrap Iron in Allegheny by Director Scandrett.

By the dim light filtering through the barred windows of the Allegheny city lockup several minutes were spent yesterday in a work of destruction. Armed with a blacksmith's sledge Director Scandrett of the department of public safety smashed $1,500 worth of confiscated gambling slot machines, aided by the assistant superintendent of police, John Glenn, who wielded a light ax. John McAuley counted the money that was taken from the machines and placed it in separate envelopes, each marked with the name of the owner of the machine.

Twenty-five machines in all were destroyed. Two of them had machinery as intricate as that of a cash register, and must have cost $200 each. The others varied in value from $10 to $30 each.

Director Scandrett had asked the city solicitor beforehand concerning the safety of the machines and was informed that the machines could be destroyed, but that the money found in them should be turned over to the city treasurer. As a result of the work the treasurer will receive $21.41. If the owners of the machines can prove that they ought to have the money the city treasurer will give it to them.

Half of the machines were confiscated some weeks ago, and the rest were acquired several days since. All were found in cigar stores. Somebody offering the police bureau $100 for one of the best of them, but of course the offer could not be considered.

The machines were brought out of the cells in which they had been locked up and an attempt was first made to destroy them with the ax, but they resisted the onslaughts so well that the sledge hammer was at last brought into requisition. While the director smashed the machines McAuley and Glenn picked up the money, counted it right there and put it into envelopes.

MINE OFFICIALS FAIL TO DO THEIR FULL DUTY

Editor Stoek Places Responsibility for Frequent Casualities in the Digging of Coal.

"If every mine official had a due sense of the responsibility resting upon him, with the hundreds of men down under the ground, and would do his duty, there would be fewer of the awful accidents which are the disgrace of American mining," said H. H. Stock, editor of Mines and Minerals, at the conclusion of an interesting lecture upon "Coal Mining" at the lecture room of the Carnegie library last evening. Mr. Stock's lecture was the last but one in the course there under the auspices of the Carnegie Technical schools. Over 600 people were in the audience, and many of these were mine officials and practical miners.

The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides. The first part dealt with the geology of coal, its formation and condition when uncovered. The second part dealt with actual mining operations. All the processes of pick and machine mining in both the anthracite and bituminous regions were described and illustrated with stereopticon views. The majority of the views were from actual photographs, and many places familiar to residents of this section received new interest through the explanations the lecturer gave.

At the conclusion of his lecture Mr. Stock was taken in charge by the Lehigh club of Pittsburgh and escorted to the Hotel Schenley, where the annual meeting of that organization was held last evening.

Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the Technical schools has accepted an invitation to make an address at the Founder's day exercises at the Schwab manual Training school, Homestead, Monday evening. He will speak on "Practical Education for Producers" before the Homewood board of trade on Friday evening.

Avalon's Commencement Exercises.

The commencement exercises of the Avalon school will be held June 21 and a class of 12 will be graduated. The graduates are Roland H. Armstrong, Frank Bowery, Robert W. Lackey, Henry H. Brown, Miss Rhea Monford, Miss Grace D. Armstrong, Helen H. Owens, Miss Frances W. Crick, Miss Clara L. Johnston, Miss Alice F. Johnston, Miss Mary B. Barbour and Miss Elizabeth Buckley.

German Manufacturers on a Visit.

The Hamburg-American line is bringing over from Europe 11 different parties to visit the St. Louis fair. These parties consist of the great manufacturers of Germany, who propose to make Pittsburgh one of the objective points on account of its great industries. The first of these parties were in the city yesterday and left last evening for St. Louis. While in Pittsburgh the visiting parties will be conducted through the various industries by Messrs. J. J. McCormick & Co., steamship agents.

Failed to Adjust Wage Scale.

The conference between the representatives of the American Flint Glass Workers' union and the National Association of Manufacturrs of Pressed and Blown Glassware failed to accomplish anything. The workmen refused to give their committee full power to act, consequently it could not meet the demands of the employers. Another meeting will be held in July.

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN WOULD NOT BE BUNCOED

Refused to Put Up $5,000 on a Sure-Thing Race, to Avenge a Victim of Bookmakers—Two Men Under Arrest.

Betting on a horse race that had been fixed does not appeal to the business instincts of Hugh Lynn, a retired real estate dealer of 6106 Center avenue. Neither does he care to risk $5,000 or more to avenge an alleged victim of bookmakers. As a result of his diffidence, H. F. Keller and D. A. Nelson are under arrest, charged with conspiracy to defraud.

On Thursday Mr. Lynn called on Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide and told the following story:

"On Wednesday a man called at my house and asked permission to unfold a plan to make money. He gave his name as Allen, of Kansas City, and said he had a friend there named Morrissey who owed a race horse that was sure to win a race in which it had been entered. Allen told me Morrissey had been beaten out of all his money through a swindle perpetrated upon him by several bookmakers, and he was looking for a man with money to bet on the horse. By this means Morrissey would retrieve his fortunes and incidentally get even with the bookmakers. All I had to do was to produce a letter of credit for $5,000 or more to be exhibited to the bookmakers, who would then gladly accept all the bets I would make. I could bet as much as I wanted to with every bookmaker on the track. Allen said a jockey had been fixed and there was no danger of losing the race."

McQuaide told Lynn to make an engagement to meet Allen at the Hotel Anderson at noon yesterday. Detective McGough was inside the hotel, while Detectives Kelly and Eagen were on the outside. Allen took Lynn to a room and the two were closeted together for an hour. Lynn was not convinced of the infallibility of the game, but promised to think it over and call again. He left, and a few minutes later Nelson entered the hotel and met Allen.

Detective McGough recognized the former as a bunco man, he says, and went up in the elevator with them to the fourth floor. They walked down to the first and entered a room. McGough then called Kelly and Eagan in and the two men were arrested.

Allen gave his name as H. F. Keller. Nelson is supposed to be Morrissey. The former is 52 years old, well dressed and of dignified appearance. When arrested he said: "I have to make a living." He gave his home as Pittsburgh.

Nelson is 39 years old. The detectives say they know him in similar schemes. He also gave his home as this city.

SHAW TRYING TO ARRANGE DETAILS

Council Committee Not Decided Whether to Go to Philadelphia or Not.

MEETING OF SELECT IS CALLED

John I. Shaw, local agent for the Maignen preliminary filter system, is in Philadelphia endeavoring to make arrangements for the select council committee to take a trip to that city next Monday night. Mr. Shaw is expected to return today or tomorrow, and until then it will not be known whether the council committee will make the excursion.

It was stated yesterday by a member of the committee that a quorum did not attend the meeting on Thursday because the members had not made up their minds whether they wanted to go or not. The members of the committee are expected to come to a decision by Monday after Shaw returns.

The fate of the bond ordinances in select council will be in doubt until the committee knows whether it will go to Philadelphia. President Wightman yesterday issued the call for a special meeting of select council on Monday, but he said that he had no assurance that the bond measures would be passed on second reading or that the Duquesne way plans of the Pennsylvania railroad would be approved.

"I have heard nothing that indicates whether the meeting next Monday will be any different from the meeting last Monday," said Wightman. "I have called the meeting for the purpose of considering unfinished business. The bond ordinance authorizing the purchase of 97 more acres of ground for the filtration plant and the Duquesne way railroad plans are among the unfinished business. It will be up to councils to decide what it will do with these measures. I have not the slightest idea what will be done with them. We shall know on next Monday if there is a quorum."

A remark made by R. H. Douglas yesterday indicates there is a strong probability that select council will take no further action with the bond ordinances until the committee appointed to go to Philadelphia does something. Douglas said that it "would not be courteous for select council to take any action until it has heard from the committee."

Mayor Hays said yesterday that he has secured transportation for the committee to Philadelphia. The mayor got a pass for "Dr. E. R. Walters and nine." This will be sufficient transportation for all the members who will go and for a few others beside. C. J. Gallagher and J. J. Booth say they will not go. This leaves six members on the committee.

NEW CARNEGIE LIBRARY TO BE OPENED AT DUQUESNE

The Carnegie free library at Duquesne, erected at a cost of $350,000 by Andrew Carnegie, will be opened to the public today. The dedication will not take place until November, as it is desired to have the donor present. This evening an organ recital and band concert will be given in the music hall, and short addresses will be made by A. C. Dinkey, A. R. Hunt and other officials of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Annual Meeting of Mount Royal Cemetery.

The annual meeting of the Mount Royal Cemetery association was held at the office, 541 Wood street, on Wednesday, May 11, at 1 o'clock. The president, George H. Chalfant, was in the chair. Reports of the directors to the lot proprietors was very gratifying, as it has been a very successful year.

The location of Mount Royal cemetery, on the northwestern side of the city, in Shaler township, away from the Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers, far distant from the manufacturing line, is an assurance that for all time it will be free from the smoke and soot that is so objectionable, and which has blackened and disfigured the monuments, tombs, etc., of the other Pittsburgh cemeteries.

The altitude of the cemetery is 500 feet above Pittsburgh and the views from the grounds are unequaled in the state of Pennsylvania. The grounds have been embellished with fine roads, flowers, trees, etc., and in every way presents a most desirable opportunity for securing what every family should have, viz., a well-selected lot in a well-managed cemetery, accessible, as this one is, to Pittsburgh, Allegheny and all the towns of Greater Pittsburgh.

The lawn system for cemeteries which has been perfected by the Kensico cemetery of New York prevails at Mount Royal and in most of the large cities where cemeteries have been started, all patterned after Kensico, and have all met with great success, by reason of perfection of that system.

It was only a short time ago that the chief engineer of the famous Greenwood cemetery of Brooklyn, N. Y., remarked that "all cemetery officials had now to bow to Kensico cemetery and acknowledge that she had accomplished what was supposed to be impossible, by introducing so many new methods."

By opening other plots under the lawn system, with no mounds on the graves, giving the cemetery the appearance of a beautiful park with monuments, tombs and statues fronting in every direction, with no dividing line between the lots, a beautiful landscape view is presented.

Persons wishing to visit Mount Royal cemetery can inspect this new lawn system and will be furnished free transportation by applying to the office, 541 Wood street, Pittsburgh.

ECZEMA

The World's Greatest Skin Humour.

Affects Every Age and Condition.

The Only Sure Cure is Cuticura.

If there were not another external skin disease known, eczema would be a sufficient infliction on mankind. It pervades all classes, and descends impartially through generations. While some are constantly enveloped in it, others have it confined to small patches in the ears, on the scalp, on the breast, on the palms of the hands, on the limbs, etc., but everywhere its distinctive feature is a small watery blister, which discharges an acrid fluid, causing heat, inflammation, and intense itching, scaling and crusting.

The Cuticura treatment is at once agreeable, speedy, economical and comprehensive. Bathe the affected parts freely with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, or Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. This treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure of torturing, disfiguring humours, eczemas, rashes and inflammations, from infancy to age, when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors. "Send for "How to Cure Eczema."

OVER THREE HUNDRED PIANOS FOR YOUR SELECTION

Thousands of people are just about ready to purchase a piano.

Some want the best high grade piano, like a Chickering Grand or Upright, as a reward to the faithful student who has become the proficient musician; or an ordinary or even very cheap instrument for the "beginner."

This extraordinary sale has been patronized by both of these classes in great numbers.

People of ample means, as well as people who must spend with care, are equally interested in our offerings.

Such prices were never heard of before.

Who ever before offered a new, sweet-toned piano, with a guarantee back of it, for $112? We have an upright that would grace any home for this ridiculously low price. See it. Whoever before offered reliable upright pianos for $238, or a baby grand piano in best make as low as $400?

When, in all the history of the house, were high-grade pianos offered at 20 per cent on regular contract prices?

Ordinarily, merchants wouldn't dare make such terrific cuts in goods the prices of which are standard and known the world over.

But we are accustomed to lead, not to follow; and this sale sets a pace for ourselves—beats all our past records.

One reason people like to come here and see our great store is that they know we don't "pester" them with persistent agents. We want you to get acquainted here. That's the reason we sacrifice these goods. We make it worth while for people to come and get to know us.

We are filling wholesale orders right along, and now for a short time everybody has the benefit of a wholesale price—even a better price now than other dealers generally get of us. That's why among our patrons for this sale are many of the prominent dealers in pianos and organs from cities and towns of this section. If it pays those who want to sell again, surely it's your time to buy for your own use.

Just note this remarkably interesting list. These are only a few of our 300 bargains.

Men's Silk and Satin Four-In-Hands, 25c.

Regular Price 50c.

A week or so back we had on sale one day a thousand or more of these fine ties. You may be sure it didn't take long to clean the lot up at such a price.

Another lot, equally good value, are ready this morning. Prettiest patterns ever shown in 50c neckwear, and so very many of them—such diversity. Every color you can think of and its shade, and every sort of a combination. Also plain white and plain black.

Millinery—"Come In and Look Around."

Yesterday afternoon one of our salespeople were talking to a customer over the telephone, and we overheard her say, "Wouldn't it be more satisfactory to you if you would come in and look around."

That it would, and no mistake—this advice to every woman. It's a thankless task to undertake the description of millinery in advertisement, for the most gifted writer ever was could not do it cleverly.

It's rather bold to say, but we do say there is not such another diversified millinery showing anywhere in the two cities as that now on view on our great millinery floor of the West Store, and we add additional strength to that statement by announcing that no prepossessing millinery is sold anywhere for such generally small prices.

Take our Trimmed Hats for women: The price range begins at $5.00 and rises easily to $55. In between there are hats at about any price a woman has set her mind to pay.

Well knowing that very few women will wear the common affairs sold for $5 we set out to give them a hat for the even $5 that would be more than a $5 hat in name—something that cannot be duplicated in looks and superior workmanship for twice $5.

For the jaunty runabout Hat women have recourse to unlimited variety in every conceivable straw, every sort of a twist, and the price range begins at $1 and steps up 50c at a time to the very finest.

Then there are the Untrimmed Hats for women who like to add the trimmings according to their own ideas. 50c, 75c, $1 and on to $4.50. Don't mind saying we have to rush New York to keep up the supply of untrimmed hats. Thus we know our prices are away below others'.

As to Flowers for trimming, "Come in and look around." Everything. 10c a bunch, 15c, 25c and on up.

In Trimmed Hats for girls and young ladies our productions are along lines of becomingness to the youthful head. No oldish hats on youngish heads. Handsome specimens, $5 to $15.

Broad brim full roll Hats, for girls and boys, white and mixed colors, in rough braids, 75c to $3.

Handsome Hats of white Milan straw with great long contrasting streamers, $2 to $7.

Comfortable Underwear for Men.

Comfort, that's the point that men consider first and last when underwear is under consideration. All men can't wear the same weight or kind. What is comfort to one man means discomfort to another. Reason why we have so many different sorts.

The change from woolen or cotton to Dr. Deimel's linen mesh underwear can be made at any time, in any climate and in any condition of health. It is a change for the better under all circumstances, and cannot be made too soon. We are selling agents for Pittsburg and Allegheny. $3.25 a garment.

Other good kinds of underwear as follows:

Merino, $1.00 a garment and up.
Wool, $1.50 a garment and up.
Cotton, 50c a garment and up.

New Shirts for Men.

A special lot of the finest Scotch White Madras and Oxfords (mercerized and plain finish) just in. We imported the madras, and had it made into perfect fitting shirts by a shirtmaker who knows how and does make the finest shirts shown.

These are very exclusive, nothing to be found like them elsewhere, as we control the patterns.

Choice from plain or pleated bosoms, all have attached cuffs, plain, $2.50; pleated, $3.00.
If you had them made to order you would pay $4.00 or $4.50.
New shirts with pleated bosom and attached cuffs at $1.50 and $2.00; stylish white and black figures and stripes at $1.50; gray effects at the $2.00 price. Percale and madras.

New Neckwear for Men—Chiefly Four-In-Hands.

Fresh new styles in today. We show a large variety of "Sheik" Silk Scarfs at $1.00. All the popular, as well as the uncommon shades. A very artistic silk in its rough surface—makes handsome folds and knots and wears well.

Men will also find a bountiful supply of Four-in-Hands here at the popular 50c price—other shapes as well.

$2.40 for a Fine Late Style Hat.

Plenty of men who haven't as yet bought themselves a new Spring hat. Opportunity for all those who come today and secure one of our $4.00 hats for $2.40.

Derbies and Soft Hats in the collection, and more than a little variety as to blocks.

We've fitted any number of men out with these hats, and they have all expressed surprise and pleasure at the high quality for the money.

Dress Shields and Shield Pins.

These are for sale at the Notion Counter.

Three pairs to a bundle, for 25c the bundle. These three pairs are made up of one pair No. 2 shields and one pair each of Nos. 3 and 4.

Shield Pins, specially shaped and made to hold the shield in the dress without sewing. 10c a card containing two sets.

Cedar Lined Box Couches $15.00.

There is always use for these at this time of the year. For storing away heavy blankets and bedding, as well as winter wraps, they are just the thing.

These are cedar lined, have five-ply veneer bottoms through which no dust can get. They are furnished with self-lifting spring and are of open construction. Covered in plain green, blue and red denims.

We also have our own make of box couches, with best of hair upholstery—made entirely in our own workshops, the boxes in our cabinet shop and the upholstery in our upholstery shop, consequently the best of material and best of work. We have these in two styles, slanting head or flat top.

In addition we also make a box couch with adjustable head, a nice piece of furniture to place at foot of bed, and which takes up but little room.

Davenport Beds—

We call attention again to this unique style of sofa, so easy to open—comfortable, and looking so little like a bed that it can be put into any room.

These are especially nice for a sick room—a soft sofa in the daytime and a bed for the nurse at night. $32.00, $35.00, $38.00, $45.00 and up to $100.00.

TABORETTES—Have just received a lot of weathered oak taborettes, which we will sell, as long as they last, for 50c each.

In this fifth floor Furniture Department are many other interesting, practical, novel and beautiful articles for household adornment.

Turkish massacres are reported from the Sassoun district in Armenia. This is probably one outcome of Russia's war with Japan. But if the other powers of Europe have any sense of duty they will speedily give the Turks to understand that their diplomats, armies and navies are not occupied in the far east. The Turkish outrages in Armenia constitute one of the meanest chapters in history, and it is the business of civilized Europe to prevent them. Germany has as good cause to be busy there as among the petty island states in the West Indian group.

A special meeting of select council has been called for Monday for the purpose of hurrying forward the bond ordinances. The fact should not be overlooked, however, that the Pennsylvania railroad Duquesne way plans are also among the unfinished business, and should be given attention. If the plans are not satisfactory they should be made so without delay, for the building season is here and labor ought not to be cheated of its employment while the weather is favorable. There can be no excuse for repeating the shameful hold-up of the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances of last year in this case, depriving labor of employment and shippers of facilities that are needed.

A very significant bit of news from the seat of war came the other day by way of St. Petersburg. At the Motien pass, said the Russian dispatch, the Japanese rushed their guns on heights "believed to be inaccessible to artillery." This sounds like a bit from the English history of the Boer war. The Boers dragged their field guns also to "impassable" heights. We do not know whether the Boer learned the trick from the American civil war or whether the Japanese got the idea from the Boer. But it is the fact that Americans, Boers and Japanese have shown that artillery may be rushed up mountain sides by men, where horses could not go. The armies of Europe appear to be the only armies that cannot or will not learn. Willing hands are invaluable in the game of war and a democratic spirit that leads men and officers to get down to a hard pull together has its influence in winning battles.

The employment of the Morgan banking house as fiscal agents of the government in arranging the payment of the $40,000,000 due the Panama Canal Company was a judicious arrangement in view of the fact that the Panama company meets the expenses. It was due to the fact that, instead of receiving payment in this country, the Panama company desired the payment to be made in Paris, presumably so that the French courts would have jurisdiction should any question arise relative to ownership. It is announced that the Morgan firm will associate with other banking houses in New York and Paris in making the transfer, it being the object to manage the business so as to avoid any disturbance of the money market either here or abroad. Thus the arrangement is altogether advantageous to this country, as it virtually amounts to a guarantee against financial disturbance through the transfer from the United States of so large a lump sum as forty millions.

With the indorsement by the Illinois state convention, Representative Robert Roberts Hitt is given a first-class boom for vice president. Mr. Hitt is extremely popular in his own state and is widely known outside of it, having been a former assistant secretary of state, as well as an influential member of congress. He possesses another cardinal qualification for political preferment, as he was born in Urbana, O., 70 years ago. Mr. Hitt was charge d'affaires at the American legation in Paris prior to his selection under Garfield for the state department and has been in congress continuously since 1883. He is a scholar and statesman, representative of the "middle west," and a man thoroughly competent to take up the duties of the presidential office. He has come naturally to the front since Speaker Cannon and Senator Fairbanks have so decidedly shown their preference for remaining where they are.

Col. J. M. Guffey, after meeting Chairman J. K. Jones, by accident, in New York, declares that Pennsylvania's delegates to St. Louis will vote for the best and most available man, but he does not indicate who that man will be. He says the Indiana indorsement is quite a help to Parker. Finally he opines the two-thirds rule will not be abrogated by the St. Louis convention because that might indicate that "we are afraid of something or some person." The colonel really ought to have given a diagram with this. Who are included in the "we" and who is the person or thing so blandly set aside as not to be feared? Col. Guffey's unit-rule delegation, without instructions, is a riddle and rebus for the Democratic candidates, and really we should not add mystic language to the problem. One thing is quite certain, however, and that is that Pennsylvania is to cut a larger figure in this Democratic convention than usual.

The Yellow Peril.

Emperor William of Germany, since his return from the Mediterranean, has been in daily conference with the Russian ambassador at Berlin, and it is no secret that he believes Japanese success in the far east will precipitate the "yellow peril" upon Europe. Matters have gone so far in the German capital that British statesmen declare that an official announcement of the attitude of the German government would be timely. They have not merely the gossip about the calls of the Russian ambassador upon Emperor William, but the open charges of Herr Bebel in the Reichstag to support their view.

There is no doubt that for some years the German emperor has been tormented by fear of the "yellow peril." He once painted a picture having that for its theme, and, it is said, when the Marquis Ito saw the canvas he said it was not China, but Japan, that William regarded as the "yellow peril." The marquis, it is further reported, smiled sardonically when he said that.

Attention has been called heretofore to the possibility that Japan might undertake the restoration to China of Kiau-Chau after it has driven Russia from Port Arthur. The fear of this appears to weigh upon the kaiser's mind. But he might comfort himself with the fact that the analogy between the two cases is not complete. It is true that Russia, Germany and France all helped to wrest from Japan the fruits of its victory over China, namely, Port Arthur and the Liao-Tung. But Russia alone occupied that territory afterward. Russia's seizure of Kiau-Chau was equally unwarranted, but Japan had never laid claim to that bay or the adjacent territory. The German emperor's fears for the safety of his Chinese grab have their birth in a guilty conscience, no doubt.

In the United States there is practically no sympathy with the cry against the "yellow peril." In Germany there has been another outcry against the "Yankee peril," and it has as much of reason in it as the other. There is not the remotest danger that Japan or regenerated China will ever attempt to repeat the exploit of Ghingis Khan by carrying the war into Europe. There is no danger that they will no longer permit themselves to be exploited and trampled upon by the land-grabbing powers of Europe. That may appear as a real peril to Russia and Germany, but not to America. All we ask is fair trade and an open door.

A Law Is Needed.

District Attorney Stewart's petition for the employment of county detectives has been denied by the county court on the ground that there is no law for the appointment of or payment of salary to more than one special county detective, who is appointed by the district attorney. The decision will be discomfiting to many residents in the rural districts surrounding the city who had hoped for immediate relief from the usual summer depredations in their neighborhoods. Broadly it brings home the necessity for legislation that will authorize measures vital to the protection of the public.

Maj. Stewart hopes for the present to get authority from the salary board for emergency men. It appears there is some law for meeting an emergency. Certainly there ought to be, for in matters of government, as in other affairs, it is often the unexpected that happens. If the ordinary summer lawlessness of the environs of the cities is not construed in advance and dealt with as an emergency, it is likely to rise soon to the dignity of a public calamity.

Until some way can be found for the employment of county officers—even if that period should be prolonged until the general assembly convenes next winter—something may be done by extra vigilance and energy on the part of constables or by extra activity of the police in the cities. There is no law that requires policemen to keep order beyond the patrols, but the cities have, before now, given valuable assistance to the authorities of neighboring counties in the capture of criminals, and there is no law to prevent them extending like courtesies to Allegheny county in which they are really more concerned. Meantime the fact should not be forgotten that any citizen has the power to arrest a lawbreaker "on view."

Japanese Moving Rapidly.

Apparently the second Japanese army of 70,000 has made its landing in Manchuria and is pressing rapidly toward the Russian position about Liao-Yang. Gen. Kuroki's first army, of like strength, has been broken into three divisions, one of which is reported by the Russians to be in the vicinity of Hai-Cheng, on the railroad, and another advancing northward to a position east of Liao-Yang, probably intent upon repeating the Kiu-Tien-Cheng tactics of outflanking the Russians on the right. The third division has not been accurately located by Russian scouts, but is supposed to be going forward on the main road from Fung-Wang-Cheng to Liao-Yang.

While this forward movement is going on the third army under Gen. Oku is investing Port Arthur, apparently oblivious of the Russian outgivings that the fortress is impregnable and that it has supplies to withstand a siege for a year. From the first the Japanese have shown their intent to take Port Arthur and to destroy the fleet located there. They have not hesitated to make sacrifices to attain their object. If they have determined, as now appears from information, mostly from Russian sources, to try taking the stronghold by assault, the Russian experts may be compelled to try another guess on its impregnability. At the Yalu river the Japanese demonstrated their ability to face a murderous fire without flinching; they proved the finest of artillery marksmanship. At Mo-Tien pass they showed how they could take large guns over "impassable" mountains. These are arts that count in the assault of fortifications. Then the Japanese may have other surprises in store for the Port Arthur garrison, which has already had its nerves tried by explosive shells.

The abandonment of Dalny and the destruction of the valuable piers there by the Russians do not indicate a confidence equal to their words. The Japanese have cleared the harbor there of mines and suffered the loss of their first naval vessel during the war. Evidently they intend using the Dalny harbor in their operations against Port Arthur, and they seem to know as well in this case what they are doing as in their other movements which have been so remarkably successful. With Port Arthur in possession they can afford to assume the defensive and leave it to Russia to take the offensive for the remainder of the war in Manchuria.

The Business Situation.

Smaller railroad earnings, decreasing bank exchanges and a reduction in working forces, either in number of men or in hours employed, all testify to the quieting down of business. The fact should be recalled, however, for the benefit of those prone to pessimism, that comparisons are now being made with periods last year and the year before which marked the high tide of trade activity. For three successive years there was scarcely a break in the weekly reports of increased railroad earnings and to nearly the same extent the same is true of bank exchanges.

One of the chief causes contributing to the hesitation in business is that the readjustment of commodity values to changing conditions is comparatively slow. In the stock market the readjustment is made rapidly, and security values rise and fall with the progress of events. This applies even to the highest grade of government securities and was strikingly illustrated during the week. The victories of the Japanese and the reverses of the Russians were immediately followed by advances in Japanese bonds and declines in Russian bonds. In our own market the call of Secretary Shaw upon the depository banks for 10 per cent more of their holdings of government money was followed by a declining tendency in government bonds, because there was the likelihood of some of the latter now used as security for government deposits being sold when the banks no longer held such deposits. Commodity values are not so quickly responsive to changes in commercial conditions. Reductions in wages or the shortening of the hours of labor reduce the buying power of the masses, but the merchant and the manufacturer do not immediately reduce the price of wares to correspond with reduced buying power of the public. The result is smaller transactions, a reduction in output, which involves a further reduction in the buying power of the masses, and a curtailment of the services of public carriers. The turn comes when the necessities of the consumer and producer compel them to "get together" on a trading basis. Then the needs that have been piling up waiting for the readjustment of prices, and the absence of surplus stocks caused by a shutting down of production, bring about a favorable condition for a widespread revival of business. The situation is still a waiting one, and the feeling is growing that trade will become duller before it becomes better.

One of the restraining influences at present is the condition of the crops. The department of agriculture during the week published its estimates of the acreage and condition of winter wheat. The showing as a whole was the most unfavorable at this season for years. Since the calculations were made, however, there has been a very general change for the better, and if the season continues favorable until harvest the shortage in the crop will not be serious. Another influence is the impending presidential nominations, which always exert a sentimental effect upon business.

In one department of the financial field there has been unprecedented activity. Our exports of gold during the week amounted to $16,800,000, which has never been equaled during the same length of time. It so happened that the payment of $40,000,000 on account of the Panama canal purchase, the flotation of a Russian loan of $160,000,000 and of a Japanese loan of $50,000,000 occurred at the same time, and as New York was the easiest money market in the world, this country was drawn upon for the gold. Aside from strengthening the rate for call loans, the withdrawal of gold had no effect in financial circles.

Port Arthur trains are reported stopped once more. Like the message of the section boss to the superintendent: "Mr. Flannagin: Off agin, on agin, gone agin. Finnegin."

Take warning. When the springtime fancy strikes you and you feel like writing love letters, use the telephone. It's cheaper in the long run.

A news item says 10,840 persons can be accommodated in the Democratic convention hall at St. Louis. These figures are on a harmony basis.

General Trade is improving. The old fellow was not seriously ill, just slightly run down from overwork.

The action of the Illinois convention on the vice presidency was what might be called a home run.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—Slumming parties are to be conducted systematically on business principles hereafter. It has long been a common practice for visitors to New York to hire a native to show them the by-ways and noisome nooks of the city after dark, but the guide usually has been picked up casually by someone who has a little knowledge of the haunts of such persons. The arrangement now is different. The establishment of "Seeing New York" automobiles and steam yachts has suggested that there may be money in a business whose object is to take strangers to places where the more decorous "seeing New York" parties do not go. Many people coming here from smaller towns and even from large cities, are eager to take a peep under the "lid." Nothing easier.

Take a man with you who knows the town and he can pilot you into all kinds of places into which you would never find your way alone. That is the sort of thing the Yale professor is doing for his sociological class this week, but it was a purpose which is perhaps not indefensible. The young men from Yale are students, and Prof. Bailey feels it essential that they should see all phases of existence in the largest city in America. So they have been going to Chinatown, into the crevices of the Bowery, to the morgue, into various foreign quarters where men, women and children burrow from the light, and probably to the Tenderloin. The slumming guides who are just making their presence known will take you to the Tenderloin to begin with, if you like. They are in the calling to make money and they know that they must please their patrons if they intend to succeed. These guides will show you the city either by day or night, but it seems as if the night trip is the more popular with their customers so far.

Crime That Is Tolerated.

Amusements are varied along Seventh avenue, but the denizens of "Hell's kitchen" are in most of them. Nearly 100 toughs from that delectable cuisine of crime swept along the avenue, from Thirty-eighth to Twenty-third street, last night, upsetting fruit stands and stealing the fruit. That the raid was systematically planned was shown by the fact that they carried bags with them in which to carry away the fruit. The police were around, but it seems to be a recognized moral principle among them that "it is no crime to swipe things from a ginny" and they didn't interfere.

Mary Anderson May Change Her Mind.

Nelson Roberts, formerly a manager in Pittsburgh, said today that he had not given up hope of persuading Mary Anderson to return to America for another professional trip. It is true that she declined a flattering offer from him through J. W. Morrissey, as was reported in the cable dispatches this morning, but he thinks she can be persuaded. It was a long time before Adelina Patti could be prevailed on to come over, but she succumbed at last. Mr. Roberts thinks that Mary Anderson would be the greatest attraction of the decade if she consented to make a tour of this country next season.

In Dread of Kidnaping.

New York parents are agitated over the finding of the dead body of the little girl, Josie McCahill, in a chimney to such an extent that there is actually a panic. Whether the little one was murdered, or whether she accidentally fell into the chimney, may never be settled. Meanwhile, mothers are afraid to trust their children out of their sight. The apprehension among them is similar to that which prevailed at the time little Marion Clark was stolen a few years ago—a crime for which two persons are in prison under long sentences. There is no form of outrage which stirs up a community more thoroughly than kidnaping, except such a murder as this appears to be.

Should Get Under Cover.

Among the many perils to which passengers in ferryboats are subject must now be counted the falling of heavy furniture apparently from the clouds. A ferryboat called the "Oregon" was crossing the East river this morning in its usual business-like way with a large number of early workers aboard, when suddenly a massive wooden chair came down and crashed upon the deck. Fortunately no one was hurt, but the chair was splintered to pieces. As soon as the passengers and crew had pulled their senses together, they looked up and saw that they were passing under the old Brooklyn bridge. It seems that the chair was part of a wagonload of furniture, and had slipped from its moorings to the railing of the bridge, and thence to the boat far below.

Taking "Fire Escape Treatment."

It is satisfactory to physicians to note that the "fire escape treatment" for babies is growing in favor among tenement mothers in Manhattan. Although fire escapes have been used as storehouses for old furniture and playgrounds for children ever since fire escapes came into vogue, it is only of late that mothers have been persuaded to allow their infants to lie in baskets and boxes on the lofty iron gratings on fine days. Now one can see scores of babies thus disposed in any of the crowded streets on the east and west sides of town. At some of the hospitals the fire escapes are used regularly as part of the treatment for infant patients. They lie in comfortable rests in large boxes, inhaling the fresh air and reveling in the sunshine, and the doctors say the results are almost wonderful in the way of general recuperation.

The Season for Bargains.

This is the season when the auctioneer gives his time and attention to auctioning off odds and ends of women's clothing in the little stores established for the purpose just off the shopping district. There are many of them, and they all do a thriving trade. Articles that have been left over from job lots which it would not pay to keep on the bargain counters, because new summer goods will fill their places, are turned over to these auction rooms, and patrons of them know that they can make good bargains if they speak quickly. There are a number of such auction rooms in full operation this month. By the first of June they will not be doing anything. That is one reason they are always crowded now.

Forming an Art Club.

Another club is projected in New York, which it is intended shall be different to anything in existence at present. It will be on the plan of the "Little Room club" in Chicago, but will have a different name. Its object will be the enjoyment of art in its various forms, exhibitions of painting and statuary and concerts by well-known musicians being among the means suggested to that esthetic end. Mrs. Vance Cheney of Chicago is in New York trying to organize the new club.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There will be a way to bring about that which is to be, just as it has always been.

Temperance people become very impatient because prohibition is not advocated by all classes, and some get angry and say mean things about those who deal in liquor or indulge in its use.

This type of temperance advocate is necessary, for without him, agitation would cease, and without agitation the whole thing would die. These agitators may think they are the whole thing, but they are not, only a necessary part.

Temperance societies are hardly as popular as in the old Washingtonian days, but they are far from being obsolete. Nearly all church clubs and associations are pledged to temperance reform and are doing good work.

But there are many other forces at work which will in time bring about practical temperance reform. Of course we must first have a strong temperance sentiment to sustain the more practical efforts. It may be a good while before these knock out the liquor business entirely, if it is ever done. But it is quite certain that they will establish a line between drinking and non-drinking men, and we may guess on which side the majority of the better class of people will be.

* * * * *

You may not know that the American Railway association is the biggest, most practical and most successful temperance society in the world today. Late figures show that there are 1,000,000 or more men in good standing in the association.

As far back as 1899 the association passed the following short, sharp, decisive resolution, known as resolution "G":

"The use of intoxicants by employes while on duty is prohibited. Their habitual use or frequenting of places where they are sold is sufficient cause for dismissal."

According to the New Voice this rule, or a more drastic one, is in force on practically every railway in the United States.

The American Railway association covers approximately 160,000 miles of main track. The total main track mileage in the United States is a little more than 200,000 miles. The lines outside of the association are chiefly small private lines, some of which have rules still more drastic than that of the association and some have but few employes and no written rules at all, the superintendent being personally acquainted with each man and so knowing his habits and tendencies. In such situations the superintendent deals with each man as a separate individual. Og the other hand, many of the roads have elaborated the standard rules and some require absolute total abstinence under any and all circumstances.

One result of this tendency is that the railway service has been placed on an entirely new level. Trainmen are well-dressed, always shaven and always polite. They have the courtly, dignified bearing of the employes of a bank or great financial concern. One can now travel from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate and back again without encountering a conductor or brakeman whose shoes were not freshly blacked. The roysterer has left the railway service, the gentleman has taken possession.

The time was, and not so very long ago, when it was thought that men could not endure the harvest heat without liquor. And until recently it was contended that puddlers, heaters and rollers just had to have liquor to enable them to stand the heat to which they were subjected.

It turned out, however, that liquor was the very worst thing they could take, actual figures showing that practically of those who were prostrated by heat were in the habit of drinking liquor freely.

As a result of this discovery mill men give the preference to those who do not drink at all, and some refuse to employ any but sober, practical temperance men. This has become absolutely necessary since the introduction of so much fine machinery into the mills which requires the attention of sober, cool-headed men.

As a matter of fact there is no longer any place in or about a first-class mill or factory where a boozer can be safely employed. With electric cranes and trains running here and there and everywhere it behooves the shover of a wheelbarrow to be sober and wide awake in order to escape collisions and all sorts of bumps.

In fact there is no place left for the man who drinks. It used to be that he could go into the army or navy, but even these resorts have been placed on the dry list.

With nothing to do for a living, and no place to go, the boozer will simply have to go out of business.

Mr. Quiet Observer:—Your article in The Gazette of Thursday morning interested me. You tell us it is our duty to offer suggestions, and I write this with the hope that it will help your inquirer as it helps me.

Suppose we are so evil-minded that we pray for something that would be very wrong for us to have. Now, because of His promise we could not expect to receive it, for God can do nothing wrong. If that be one instance where there is an exception, it is possible there are more. It would seem then that He won't give us all we ask. Some things we pray for might not be the best for us, although we think they are. God knows best.

Your inquirer prayed for aid when in trouble. Now I cannot quote scripture, being comparatively unfamiliar with it, but only give my own line of reasoning. I believe that when God forgives us He exacts satisfaction in the form of punishment, sometimes in this life for our sins.

But we do not know whether or not God saw fit to punish your correspondent because of some sin commited by denying him aid when in trouble, or by sending the trouble.

He prayed to recover his health. Ill health is usually caused by sins against nature committed by him or those before him. And it seems to me that God's commands are identical with nature's demands, the same law.

He says he prayed that the life of his child should be spared. Death is a misfortune to the wicked only. Some there are who act as if they expect to live forever and seldom give a thought to their inevitable end. But if we thought more of it we would try to be a little better prepared for it.

I believe that lest we come to ignore it altogether, God sends the angel of death into our homes to remind us strongly that life is uncertain, that we put not off repentance too long, and so it might bring us closer to Him. And sometimes, perhaps, to try our faith. What leads me to think so is that He put temptation here to try our obedience.

Perhaps all this is opposed to the doctrines of all churches, but I find it comforting to take this view of it when trouble comes, and it does not weaken my faith, but makes me feel that He doeth all things well.

If you find a suggestion herein that you think might help your correspondent or others, I will be glad if you make use of it.

YOUTH.

ANNABEL LEE.

It was many and many a day ago,
In a town by the Yellow sea,
That a maiden lived near a Russian port,
And her name was Annabel Lee;
She stood aghast at the whiskered lads.
"But they're awfully cute," said she.

And one of the officers came to woo,
Braving the general's wrath;
When evening came he was lurking around,
Down by the garden path,
And Ann lurked, too, tho' she sadly thought:
"These Russians need a bath."

The romance thrived; but it soon broke up,
For as they together sat,
The officer said, as he took her hand—
The hand so chubby and fat—
"Ah, Annabelinski Leeskioff——"
And Ann couldn't stand for that.

THE WORLD'S TRYST.

We fain would walk abroad with spring,
Impatient to begin it;
Like other fair ones sweet, she calls,
"I'm ready in a minute!"

We fret, and fume, and watch the clock,
The minutes larger looming;
Spring dons a robe of tender green,
A dash of faint perfuming.

And when at last she comes to us,
So fair do we behold her;
So radiant and beautiful,
We have no heart to scold her.

The Boy and His Dad

THE STROLLER.

All three were obviously men of weight, other than physically so. They were somewheres in the early fifties. Keen-eyed, fresh-faced, and used to the touch of the world's pulse. Of quiet demeanor, exuding the influence of mental power and cosmopolitan habits.

They stood grouped in front of the bar in a quiet German cafe in Smithfield street. Hats pushed back, standing in positions of ease. They ordered three glasses of the amber fluid, and had some brown bread and cheese. Evidently they had been speaking of summer time and boyhood days before coming in. After some clinking of glasses and nibbling of the brown bread, they continued the conversation. He of the calm gray eye and the rimless spectacles spoke first.

"You know my boy Alec? He will be 12 next month. Well, summer before last I came home from the office early, one hot afternoon in August. It was suffocating in the house, so I strolled down to the river bank to get what little breeze might be going. There was Alec in swimming! Now, I had told him to keep out of the water because it is very treacherous and dangerous there and I was afraid some ill might befall him. I was intending to teach him to swim just as soon as the time and place should be convenient. Well, out he came and I spanked him hard, telling him never again to go near that river. That was the last time I ever saw him in the stream.

Just Like a Boy.

"The summer went and the winter passed. Things were hot again.

"In July I had a couple weeks vacation and decided to go with the family up to Saginaw Bay. So we packed the trunks and went. A day after we had arrived, I concluded to take a dip off the pier. Alec put on his suit and came along. I intended giving him his first swimming lesson as soon as I had taken a dive or two into the surf.

"Now, the side of the pier facing toward Lake Huron shows very rough water, with a depth of about 12 or 15 feet. The other side is quiet and shallow, perfectly safe for anybody. I told Alec that I was going to dive into the lake side and swim to shore, a distance of about 200 feet, after which I would go with him into the water on the bay side. I left him standing on top of the wall, while I took a header into the waves. After I came up and got my wind I looked up to the top of the pier for Alec.

"Jiminy crickets! The kid wasn't there! Say, my heart bid fair to choke me, for I was dead sure the boy had tumbled off the wall. Yes, and he did tumble off, too! But it was the kind of a tumble that was just like mine. Suddenly his little brown head appeared above the waves. He turned his face toward me, gave a laugh, and started to swim. Say! There was no dog-fashion about it. No sir-ee! Just long side sweeps of those little white arms.

Gives His Dad Pointers.

"Well, he was standing on shore when I was still swimming. After I had landed I walked over to where he was standing and said to him: 'Alec, where did you learn to swim?' 'Why, papa, I—I—I used to go down to the river and hold sticks under my arms. That's how I learned.' I never said a word. Just put my hand on his shoulder and we walked up the beach together. Say! That kid wanted to go in swimming every 15 minutes.

"Well the next day Judge —— and Alec and I started up the pier. 'Alec,' said I, 'it looks like a storm.' 'U-m-m, does look a little rough,' said the kid. 'Well, I saw it wouldn't go, so we all jumped in together.

"Say! That boy dove under the waves, and through them, and over them. Never saw anything like it! We had been swimming together for a few minutes, when the judge said, 'Henry, look at that boy. He is a swimmer and no mistake. Wonder who owns him?'

"Well, I was so dog-goned proud that I could hardly speak. Then I shouted out, 'That's my kid. He belongs to me.'

There was a moment's silence. Then the father said, "That boy can swim like a snake."

Smoking a Coffin Nail.

Then the tallest man of the three began to speak. He had a black Elk's head in his lapel and wore a massive gold watch chain. After puffing at his cigar a few times, he said:

"This weed reminds me of the occasion on which I unexpectedly caught my son Jim smoking. Let me see, I believe I began smoking when I was about 19 or 20, somewhere along there, and have been smoking ever since. Well, for that reason I couldn't very consistently instruct my son not to smoke. So I never said anything to him about it. But after a while it seemed rather strange to me that he never evinced any desire to smoke, especially as I was continually puffing away, both at the office and at home. However, I didn't say anything.

"Well, one evening about 8 o'clock, I started downtown to get some cigars. By chance I happened into ——'s. As I stepped inside the door I saw Jim. He had his back to me. Facing him, and me, was George ——, who was holding a lighted match to Jim's face.

"As George saw me he dropped the match, and said 'Good evening.' I replied to the salutation as I walked forward. Jim wheeled, and, when he saw me, hid the cigarette behind his back. 'Aren't you afraid that will make you sick?' I said. 'W-w-wh-y, no, sir. I have smoked before.' 'Oh, you have?' said I. 'Jim,' I began, 'I don't mind in the least your smoking, because I do it myself. Enjoy all the tobies, and cigars, and pipes that you please. But let me ask one thing—do not smoke cigarettes. Please stop it.'

"And he did."

Dick, Do You Chew?

Then the gray-haired member of the trio, whose blue eyes twinkled reminiscently, broke his silence at last.

"That reminds me of the time when I was a boy on the farm. When I was about 17 or 18 I conceived the desire to chew. Well, I had been chewing away for some little time when one hot afternoon father sent me out to do some plowing in the 12-acre field. When the horn blew I came in with my quid still in my cheek.

"After putting the horses in the barn, I made for the pump at the back of the house to get a drink. Father was sitting on the edge of the porch, but I didn't see him. When I got to the pump I took the wad out of my mouth and tossed it into the fence corner. Then I took a good, long drink, as I was pretty thirsty.

"When I got to the porch, father said: 'Dick, do you chew?'

"I tried to get around the question and said: 'Why, what makes you think so?'

"'I just asked you a plain question,' he said. 'do you chew?'

"'Yes, father, I do,' said I.

"'All right, but don't lie about it,' said he."

The Death Roll

Dotmar Passavant Knox.

Dotmar P. Knox was killed yesterday in the Crestline yards of the Ft. Wayne railroad by being knocked off a freight car and under the wheels. Both legs and an arm were cut off. He had been a brakeman on the Ft. Wayne railroad for 25 years and was well known in Allegheny, where he formerly lived. Mr. Knox was 50 years old, was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and of the Odd Fellows and of the California Avenue (Allegheny) Methodist church. He was a widower and is survived by two children, five and seven years old; three brothers, William B., Springdale; R. B., Aurora, Ill., and M. A., St. Joseph, Mo.; and three sisters, Mrs. McCaslin, New Castle; Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. McCann, Chicago. His home was in New Castle, where an aunt kept house for him and his family. Mr. Knox will be buried at 2 o'clock p. m. tomorrow from the home of H. C. Miller, No. 37 Superior avenue, Allegheny.

Mrs. John P. Painter.

Mrs. John P. Painter died at Kittanning yesterday. She was a daughter of the late Judge S. S. Neale and was born at Kittanning in 1830. In 1859 she was married to Mr. Painter, who survives her. They first lived at Pine Creek Furnace for 20 years, returning to Kittanning in 1879 and living there ever since. Last March Mrs. Painter was injured by a fall. This, following the death of her two brothers, Judge T. B. Neale and Charles T. Neale, resulted in a complete breakdown, from which she never recovered. The following children survive her: James M. Painter, cashier of the Merchants National bank; C. T. N. Painter, insurance agent; J. H. Painter, attorney, and Dr. A. P. N. Painter, all of Kittanning. Mrs. Painter was a lifelong member of the Episcopal church. She is also survived by a sister, Miss Phoebe I. Neale.

Alfrederick Smith Hatch.

Alfrederick Smith Hatch, twice president of the New York stock exchange and at one period one of the leading financiers in Wall street, died at Tarrytown, N. Y., yesterday. He was 75 years of age. He was a native of Vermont and during the civil war was in partnership with Harvey Fisk. The firm had the agency of the government in New York for the $500,000,000 bonds for popular subscription, when Secretary Chase found the first resource of borrowing from the large banks had been exhausted. The firm of Fisk & Hatch was associated with Jay Cooke until it failed in 1873, afterward paying all obligations in full. Mr. Hatch was elected president of the exchange in 1883 and then re-elected for a second term. A few years later Mr. Hatch sold his seat on the stock exchange and retired from business.

Frank Treffinger Buried.

The remains of Frank Treffinger, who died at Fort Collins, Col., last Sunday, arrived in Homestead yesterday and were interred in the Homestead cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. C. Weaver, pastor of the Homestead Methodist Episcopal church.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Mary Udall Manley, one of the oldest residents of East Liverpool, O., is dead at the age of 80. She was the wife of the late Jethro Manly.

Word has been received in Pittsburgh of the death of Mrs. John Kiners, a former resident of Wilkinsburg, at Silver City, N. M., where the family has lived since 1898.

Earl Dean McCormick, aged 17, son of E. D. McCormick, died at the family home, No. 119 Eleventh avenue, Homestead, yesterday, after a short illness of typhoid fever. He was a student at the Homestead High school.

Capt. Lowell I. Blake, for many years captain of boats plying between Washington, D. C., and Mt. Vernon and Marshall Hall, one of the best-known steamboat men in the country, and one of the few surviving "forty-niners" in Washington, died in that city yesterday. He was 75 years old.

Mrs. Sarah Garvin, widow of James Garvin, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Vernon, of Washington, aged 70 years. Her former home was at Fredonia, Mercer county. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. L. A. Worrells, Washington; Miss Susan G. Garvin and Mrs. John Vernam, Fredonia; the Rev. J. E. Garvin, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Waynesburg; the Rev. S. W. Garvin, pastor of the Second Cumberland Presbyterian church, Nebraska City, Neb., and Mrs. C. F. Zitle, Jackson Center.

Postmaster W. A. Sprowls of West Finley, Washington county, died yesterday, aged 80 years. The deceased was born at Burnsville, and at the breaking out of the war enlisted in the famous Ringgold cavalry. He was slightly wounded at Gettysburg. The deceased was a prominent Republican. He is survived by his widow and the following children: Vaun, Dean, Ivy, Mabel and Mary Sprowls, West Finley. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Montgomery Sprowls, West Finley; Wyatt Sprowls, Burnsville; Morgan V. Sprowls, West Finley; Mrs. Margaret Berry, Bethany, Mo., and Mrs. William Jenkins, West Finley.

CONSTANT VIGIL AT PORT ARTHUR

Russian War Correspondent Tells Story of Operations Since May 5.

MUSCOVITES ARE CONFIDENT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LIAO-YANG, May 13.—Nemirovich Danchenko, popularly known as the Russian Archibald Forbes, has just arrived here from Port Arthur and furnishes the following chronicle of the events of the first week of the investment of that fortress. Danchenko having escaped from the beleaguered city by the last train:

"From Thursday, May 5, the powerful fleet of the enemy's cruisers, the Asams, Adzuma, Iwate and another the name of which is unknown, together with the flagship Mikasa and the battleships Shikishima, Hatsuse, Asahi, Yashima and the Fuji, remained constantly in sight of Port Arthur, departing every night and returning at daylight.

"The Japanese torpedo boats occasionally swept our coast with searchlights at night, while their barges lay in waiting off Pigeon bay, beyond our vision, on the western horizon and beneath the lofty hills that skirt the Liao-Tung gulf. Apparently the Japanese were watching to see if we intended to interfere with their landing farther north.

"Our communications with the north were broken on Thursday, and the following day the telegraph office in Port Arthur refused to accept our messages.

"Japanese cavalry reconnoitered the peninsula from the north to ascertain whether we were safely imprisoned. But this fact did not cause any particular impression in Port Arthur.

"Rumors also floated in announcing the destruction of the railroad and the blowing up of some of the bridges, but our spirits remained singularly impressed. The military officers and men talked of nothing except a second siege of Sebastopol, although, as a matter of fact, Sebastopol had never been cut off from its communications on the land side.

Would Die for Country.

"We can die like our forefathers," was the unanimous sentiment expressed. The Chinese continued working as usual for the most part, very few of them attempting to escape.

"It seems that the sole defense of the Russian stronghold is Gen. Kondratenko. He knows no rest and is ceaseless in his activity. The utmost vigilance prevails throughout the fortifications and the energy displayed by every one, from highest to lowest, is marvelous. No one is now admitted to Port Arthur. The women from Dalny, which was doomed to destruction, sought shelter here, but were not allowed to remain any later than Friday of last week.

"The number of Chinese seeking work on the fortifications and as servants is more numerous than ever. As long as there is rice, there will be Chinamen. The attitude of the Chinese authorities is changing and becoming threatening. The natives are clearly our friends and the authorities clearly antagonistic. For instance, the governor of the province of Fu-Chow, northwest of the Liao-Tung peninsula, has announced that he will behead all the natives in our service very soon, and he will burn Wafandian, one of the neighboring towns, which has shown itself friendly to the Russians.

Chinese Executed.

"After the skirmish at Wafandian between the Japanese advance and the Russian guard the governor executed the interpreter and the servant of Lieut. Heimer, the Russian military chief in charge of that section of the railroad.

"Beyond Cape Terminal the Japanese are landing immense stores of rice and siege guns. The surrounding heights are occupied by their scouts. The Japanese struck the railroad first between Sansilipou and Polandien, about 30 miles from here, and blew up a section of the bridge with melinite. They fired on our sentries and later, finding one of them killed, a Japanese took off his tunic, rolled up and placed it under his head as a pillow and then reverently crossed his arms over his breast.

"On Saturday, May 7, I decided by hook or by crook to join the Manchurian army at Liao-Yang, it being plainly impossible to write or telegraph from Port Arthur. I paid a farewell visit to the batteries and inspected their positions.

"The sky was of an intense blue, showing up the black masses of Cape Stone and the frowning dragon hills behind Siao-Ping-Tao, where, it was said, the enemy's scouts were lurking. Westward gleamed the Miao-Tao islands and nearer the Tiger's Tail and Liao-Te-Shan, while behind, far, far away, towered the Eagles Nest, whence a view is obtainable of the whole of the Regents Sword peninsula.

Fleet Still Vigilant.

"Out upon the limitless ocean 12 tiny spots indicated the Japanese warships, and smaller dots, the enemy's swift-moving torpedo boats, watching the coast to prevent any of our craft slipping through to Chefoo or Niuchwang.

"I decided to steal through during the night across the stretch of railroad. Communication was interrupted and Gen. Stoessel proposed that I should accompany Capt. Odintzoff, who had been empowered to enter into communication with the enemy. We left Port Arthur at 3 o'clock in the morning and two hours later reached the positions commanded by the energetic and tireless Gen. Fock, who defends the whole northern section of Liao-Tung.

"Reports were coming in every few minutes of Japanese landings, large and small, of first encounters with our outposts, of first losses. The busy work on every side, digging trenches, throwing up redoubts, and general feverish military activity, contrasted with peaceful Nature, adorned by beautiful spring, the bloom of lilac, almond and apricot blossoms.

"It was a fairy picture framed by hills of reddish hue. The Chinese villages nestling in the verdure continued to wear an aspect of idyllic repose.

Fock's Men Active.

"Gen. Fock has learned the secret of ubiquity. He does not require food. His men are bright and active. Scouting parties penetrate every nook and corner, appearing when the enemy least expects them.

"We went on to Kinchau, distinguishable in the distance by the threatening profile of its defenses. We decided, after passing Kinchau, to stick to the railroad, boarding an open freight car which the engine pulled along the deserted line to Sanshilipou. There was not a single employe there, but the station was crowded with Chinamen. As soon as we neared the station three horsemen dashed off toward the hills to the east. The station building was intact, but the natives reported the railway buildings at the stations beyond afire.

"Capt. Odintzoff mounted the engine and ordered the engineer to go ahead, leaving me behind in command of the freight car and a second engine with soldiers on board. Capt. Odintzoff ordered me, if the Japanese cavalry appeared, to return at once to Kinchau without awaiting him, adding that if he did not return by 7 o'clock that evening to turn back anyhow.

An Anxious Hour.

"Two hours later Capt. Odintzoff met a small detachment of our cavalry eight miles ahead, and sent back to me a notebook, requesting me, in case he failed to turn up, to proceed to Port Arthur and hand the book to Gen. Stoessel. We waited another hour, saw smoke in the distance and concluded that it came from deserted, burned villages.

"Then followed an anxious time. We thought that poor Odintzoff would never return. At last we saw the smoke of an approaching train. As the Japanese were said to have landed an engineer battalion, with trains, engines and cars, we were uncertain who was on board; but we decided to go and meet the train. A turn of the line brought us in sight of a long bridge. The train had halted beyond. If Russians were on board, we thought, they must have met Odintzoff, who had certainly told them that the bridge was safe.

"We noticed that those who were on board the train were inspecting the bridge and concluded they must be Japanese. Consequently we began to retreat, making preparations for any emergency. Finally, as the train started again, our field glasses revealed Russian uniforms. It proved to be a party headed by gallant Col. Spridzeroff, with officers and men of the Fourth Amur railroad battalion, who had boldly come over the damaged line, repairing it as they came. We joined the colonel and went back to Wafandian, whence the following day he took through ammunition train to Kinchau. It was one of the bravest feats of the war.

GUFFEY LINGERS ABOUT NEW YORK

Thinks Parker's Chances Are Improved, but Says No More About Candidates.

CLINGS TO TWO-THIRDS RULE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, May 13.

Col. James M. Guffey of Pittsburgh came to New York yesterday on a business trip and is now registered at the Holland house. Last night he had a short conference with National Chairman James K. Jones on Democratic politics, but today he said this meeting was accidental and had no significance. Speaking of the action of the Indiana Democrats, Col. Guffey said:

"I think that the chances of Judge Parker were improved very much by the action of the Democratic state convention of Indiana. Beyond that I do not care to discuss candidates. The Pennsylvania delegation will go to St. Louis to vote for the best and most available candidate for president."

Chairman Donnelly of the Democratic city committee of Philadelphia, who was with Col. Guffey, said:

"There is great interest in the Pennsylvania delegation. Many Democrats think that the delegation will hold the balance of power at St. Louis, and I guess that is about right. Many efforts have been made to find out what candidate Col. Guffey favors. He has not committed himself to any candidate."

Col. Guffey said today that the ancient two-thirds rule for nominations would not be repealed by the St. Louis convention, and that no serious attempt to repeal it would be made.

"If we should report that rule after the convention meets," he said, "it would look as if we were afraid of something or some person. If the rule is to be repealed the national committee should give notice of the intention some months in advance. It is a party custom to nominate only by the two-thirds rule, and there is no reason for a change this year. The rules of preceding conventions will be reaffirmed."

Col. Guffey would not mention names, but his talk indicated that he has no fear that any leader or candidate can block the convention by getting control of one-third of the delegates. He said that he had not seen Tammany Leader Murphy since he came to the city, and had no appointment to see him.

Col. Guffey had conferences today with William F. Sheehan, who is Judge Parker's personal representative, and Norman E. Mack of the national committee, one of Judge Parker's strongest adherents. Col. Guffey has been urged by the Parker men to take the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

ALEXANDER DODDS.

LIFE OF A REFORMER.

Dr. Mark Guy Pearse Lectures on the Career of Hugh Latimer.

Nearly every pew in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church was occupied last night when the Rev. Dr. Mark Guy Pearse, the English evangelist, began his address on the work of Hugh Latimer during the reformation. Dr. Pearse told the story of the birth and boyhood of the great reformer. Of his entry into Cambridge college and his graduation, his deep study of the Bible and the celebrated sermon for which he was silenced by his bishop and his interview with the great Cardinal Wolsey.

Dr. Pearse told his auditors that when Latimer was cited before the great cardinal of Henry VIII., Wolsey asked him why his bishop had silenced him.

"Because," said Latimer, "I told him some truths as to his holy office that were not palatable."

Wolsey asked him what they were, and when the reformer told him Wolsey said, "Go preach them to his beard," which Latimer did the next Sunday.

Dr. Pearse related many interesting incidents in the life of Latimer, and was interrupted with applause many times during his address.

COMPANY CHANGES NAME.

Pittsburgh Terminal, Warehouse and Transfer Company Offers Bonds for Sale.

The River & Railroad Terminal Company, full account of whose immense warehouse project in the South Side was published in The Gazette last August, has changed its name to the Pittsburgh Terminal, Warehouse and Transfer Company. The company has arranged with the Pittsburgh Trust Company for the sale of its $1,000,000 bonds, $500,000 of which the warehouse company agrees to deposit with the trust company. After five years it will deposit $25,000 each year to redeem the bonds at 105 and interest.

Plans for the warehouses, which will be built between Third and Fourth streets, South Side, have been completed by Architect Charles Bickel, and it is expected that they will be completed by next April. The company has issued a handsome prospectus in which it estimates that the net earnings will be 10 per cent.

WOOSTER ALUMNI DINED.

Pittsburgh Graduates of Ohio Institution Hold Third Annual Banquet.

Wooster university was toasted last night by the Pittsburgh Alumni association, which held its third annal banquet at the Hotel Schenley. Although the organization is a large one, there were only 25 members present.

The Rev. Kinley McMillan of McKeesport acted as toastmaster and addresses were made by the Revs. B. R. McHatton of the Herron Hill Presbyterian church and S. B. Linhart, president of Blairsville college, Prof. J. O. Notestein of Wooster faculty and Miss Edith Fitch. The officers elected were F. D. Glover of Shadyside academy, president, and the Rev. McHatton, secretary.

COUNCIL IS DEADLOCKED.

Ingram Borough Continues to Be Without a Leader.

A call for a special meeting to select a president to succeed Thomas Ohl, resigned, has caused a split in Ingram borough council, and for the second successive time three members prevented a meeting by staying away last night.

Prof. M. J. McMahon, Ira Gribben and B. Redmond, three of the members who signed the call for the meeting, appeared last night, but Dr. W. G. Wallace, W. E. Clark and Thomas Steel again failed to show up. The borough continues without a head.

To Elect Allegheny Councilman.

Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny will in a few days call a special election to fill the vacancy in council caused by the death of Dr. J. S. Duff of the First ward. The only candidate in the field is Dr. William G. Adair, who was a friend of Dr. Duff.

DONNELLY'S FOES NAME DELEGATES

Expect the Parker Adherents to Gain Them Seats at St. Louis.

PLAN WILL NOT SUCCEED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 13.

The Independence party-anti-Donnelly Democracy presented one of its interesting political burlesques tonight. At the headquarters on Locust street 12 delegates were elected to contest for seats at the Democratic national convention at St. Louis, July 6. Judge Alton B. Parker was indorsed. County Chairman Bonniwell presented the following resolutions, which were adopted:

"Whereas, The undoubted choice of an overwhelming majority of the Democrats of Philadelphia is the candidate presented by the Democratic convention of the state of New York; now therefore be it

"Resolved, That the district delegates elected this evening to the Democratic national convention, to be held in St. Louis on the 6th of July next, be and are hereby instructed to cast their votes for Alton B. Parker of the state of New York for president."

Following are the national delegates elected: First district, Edward H. Weil and Neil Bonner; Second district, William Drayton and Joseph Youngblood; Third district, Lewis Kinsley and John S. Newman; Fourth district, J. Burwood Daly and William T. Aldrich, Jr.; Fifth district, Mickle C. Paul and A. A. Newman; Sixth district, E. H. Gallagher and Eugene C. Bonniwell.

Instructions were given with the idea that, if Parker's friends control the convention, the contestants would be recognized. The premise is untenable, having been repudiated by the county Democracy and ignored by the state convention, the bolters have nothing to hope for from the national convention. Their claim that Parker's managers will help them is "moonshine." Parker is now trying to secure the support of Col. James M. Guffey and the 68 delegates from Pennsylvania, who will be guided by his advice.

LEMARE ENDS LECTURES.

His Final Talk on Chopin With Piano Illustrations Takes Place Tonight.

The last of the series of lectures this season which Edwin H. Lemare has been giving in connection with the free organ recitals at Carnegie music hall, will take place this evening. The subject is "Chopin, from 1830 to 1849."

This lecture marks the close of a very interesting series of six which Mr. Lemare has been delivering on consecutive Saturday evenings, at the same time giving appropriate illustrations on the pianoforte and organ. The following program will be given to illustrate the lecture this week:

Nocturne in G Minor, Opus 37, No. 1.
Nocturne in D Flat, Opus 27, No. 2.
Etude No. 5, "Black Study."
Etude in C Minor, No. 12.
Etude No. 13.
Berceuse, Opus 57.
Ballade in A Flat, Opus 47.
Marche Funbre (from Sonata in B Flat Minor), Opus 35.

The 631st free organ recital will be given this evening by City Organist Caspar P. Koch, at Carnegie music hall, Allegheny. The soloists are Miss Minnie Berger, soprano, and Harry J. Erickson, violinist. Mr. Carl Nestmann will be the accompanist. The program is:

Sonata Pastorale ..... Rheinberger
"Who'll Buy My Lavender" ..... German
Miss Minnie C. Berger.
Gavotte in B flat ..... Handel
"Phantasie Pastorale" ..... Singelee
Harry J. Erickson.
(a) Chant du Voyageur ..... Paderewski
(b) Paques Fleuri ..... Mailly
"Before the Dawn" ..... Chadwick
Miss Minnie C. Berger.
March of the Magi Kings ..... Dubois

At next Thursday's free evening recital the Froshim singing society, the most prominent German male chorus of Pittsburgh, will take part.

Scandrett Will Reinstate Pearson.

Nathaniel Pearson, who was dismissed from engine company 9, Allegheny, last fall, will be reinstated today. Director Scandrett has notified Pearson of his intention to reappoint him. The director said that he had investigated the case and found Pearson was not to blame.

ACHESON FINDS QUAY HOPEFUL OF HEALTH

Senator Thinks Worst Over—As a Rule Will Not Talk Politics.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Senator Matthew S. Quay's health, according to reports from Morganza, is improved. Congressman E. F. Acheson of Washington visited Mr. Quay this afternoon. Mr. Acheson said tonight:

"I found Mr. Quay much better than I expected. He is extremely hopeful, and says he is much better than he has been. He has almost recovered from the fatigue of his journey, and told me he thought the worst of his illness was over and that he would soon be able to be about. Mr. Quay spent a portion of the afternoon in a rolling chair on the lawn."

Mr. Acheson stated that no political significance was attached to his visit, it being simply a personal one. Mr. Quay refuses to see visitors, and with a few exceptions will talk politics to no one. Mr. Quay took a short drive about the Morganza grounds this morning.

GREAT BOAT RIDE READY.

Manufacturers Attending Big Convention Will See Industries Along Monongahela.

All is ready for the entertainment of the hundreds of manufacturers who will be here at their national convention, opening next Tuesday. A meeting of the committee on entertainment, of which Col. A. J. Logan is chairman, was held yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce. It was reported that the plans are well in hand.

The principal feature of the entertainment will be the trip up the river on Thursday afternoon. The excursion will take the visiting manufacturers past the great industries with which the banks of the Monongahela are lined. By a special effort the various companies have been induced to place large signs along the river front showing the names of the plants.

For the ladies with the party the committee has arranged for a carriage drive, which will include the East End and a visit to the Heinz establishment in Allegheny.

GUARDED BY SOLDIERS.

Detail of Troy Corps, N. G. N. Y., Acted as Escort to Remains of Victim.

The funeral services over the remains of Joseph S. Watt, Jr., who was killed in a powder explosion at Valley Falls, N. Y., were held last evening at the home of his parents, 7611 Kelly street, East End. The services were conduced by the Rev. W. E. McCullough of the Hamilton Avenue United Presbyterian church and there was singing by a professional quartet. The interment will be held at Homewood cemetery this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The body arrived here Thursday night in charge of a detail from the Troy City corps, National Guard of New York, of which the deceased was a member. The detail was made up of Capt. Milliman and Lieut. Brewster, and these officers acted as a guard of honor at the service last night.

B. & B.
DEAR SIR,
Realizing your desire to dress well with as little trouble and expense as possible, we have assembled into one collection the best productions of the best manufacturing tailors in America, which we trust you will make an effort to inspect at your convenience.
We have taken all the trouble of investigation, examination, stipulation and barter, and therefore, now offer you a collection of fashionable Spring garments which have stood every test, and that you can choose with confidence based on your faith in our demonstrated ability to provide wisely and deal fairly.
The prices we have carefully put upon the Sack Suits range from $15.00 to $35.00, among which there is one line in particular at $20.00 that we would advise your seeing.
For younger men the price range is lower—$10.00 to $25.00—while the character of the Clothing is the same, except that it possesses the special features appropriate to youthful figures and exuberance.
We might add for your information that Double-Breasted Coats are in highest favor.

B. & B.
MEN MUST COME
when they want a Hat, and try it on—otherwise we could build up an immense Hat business quickly by mail or 'phone on the strength of the store's custom of giving good value in all lines.
As we can't do the Hat business that way, and being out of the beaten track, since demand makes us carry a Hat stock—which we insist shall be of the best—we've had to find a means to extend it into a large and profitable business.
Therefore, we say to the Men of this community—come and see our Hats, and see if the way we've priced them won't make you Half a Dollar or a Dollar quicker and easier than you ever gained that much in your life before.
Finest and best makes only.
Hats, $1.50 to $8.00.

CULTURED WOMAN WITH BAD CHECK

Prisoner in New York Is Suspected of Many Fraudulent Transactions.

SHE CONCEALS HER IDENTITY

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—Among the prisoners at Jefferson Market court today was handsomely groomed woman who was arrested at the Fifth Avenue hotel where she was registered as "Mrs. E. D. Rollins of Philadelphia."

The charge against her is the passing of worthless checks and the police say they expect complaints to come in from various cities, as a woman answering her description has been operating in San Francisco, Chicago, Cincinnati, Baltimore, New Orleans, Kansas City, Pittsburgh and other cities.

Soon after the arrival at the hotel she went into the hat store in the hotel building and bought a hat for $6. In payment she tendered a check on the Second National bank, which is also in the hotel building. The check was signed "Mrs. Marshall Rawlins." The cashier of the hat store stepped into the bank to inquire about the check. Something about the woman had made him suspicious. As soon as the cashier of the bank saw it he became excited.

"That woman," he said, "has been forging checks on this bank for three years. She has no account here and we have never been able to reach her."

The woman was self-possessed. No prisoner of such refined bearing has appeared at the bar in Jefferson Market for years. She was accompanied by a young man who said he was her lawyer. He refused to give her name and advised her not to answer questions. She is on the court records as Mrs. Marshall Rawlins and she described herself as a widow. Her address was refused. Her home, she said, is not in New York.

"I always have trouble when I come here," she said, with a smile, "and as soon as I get out of this difficulty I shall go to my home."

The lawyer said that her family is of the highest standing and that she is wealthy. In her defense Mrs. Rawlins, or Rollins, said that her husband had left the income from a fortune of $45,000 that she thought this income was deposited in the Second National bank, and that she did not know she had overdrawn it. The police are holding her at headquarters in $500 bail.

RUINED MANY DRESSES.

Man Arrested on the Charge of Spitting on the Clothing of Women.

George W. Horsefield, a marine engineer, was arrested last night in Butler street. The police say he is "Jack the Spitter," who has ruined many dresses of Lawrenceville women. He denies the charge.

Miss Millie Vetter, while walking along Butler street, felt something strike her dress. She turned and saw a heavily-built, well-dressed man spitting on her at every step. She called to a policeman and the man started to run. After a chase he was captured. Miss Vetter's dress was ruined.

Scores of women have been the victims of this mania in the past two months. Among them have been Miss Kate McCormick, Miss Kate Hays and Miss Bessie Agnew, teachers in the McCandless school, and Miss Laura Ballmer of Keystone street. Miss Ballmer named Horsefield in her complaint, but would not appear against him.

LEHIGH MEN REUNITE.

Local Alumni Choose G. W. Snyder President for Coming Year.

Members of the Lehigh club of Pittsburgh held last evening at the Hotel Schenley the annual reunion of the university's Western Pennsylvania alumni. The meeting was made interesting by the presence of the well-known mining editor H. H. Stoek, of Scranton, who spoke in the Carnegie Technical schools lecture course last evening. After this lecture he was taken to the Schenley, where luncheon was served.

The club elected the following officers for the coming year: President, G. W. Snyder; first vice president, C. D. Marshall; second vice president, W. Y. Brady; secretary-treasurer, C. P. Matheson; executive committee, W. A. Cornelius, T. H. Dierlsen, H. R. Bickle.

GREYS TO GIVE A SMOKER.

Lieut-Gen. S. M. B. Young Is Expected to Be One of the Guests.

The veteran corps, Duquesne Greys, Eighteenth regiment, National Guards of Pennsylvania, will hold its quarterly smoker this evening in the hall of the German Beneficial union, Sixth avenue and Cherry alley. Among the guests will be a number of officers, including Capt. P. C. Harris of the Ninth infantry, Capt. J. F. Kreps of the Twenty-second infantry, Maj. W. S. Sibert of the corps of engineers, Lieut. S. W. Drury of the Ninth infantry and Lieut. Loeb of the Ninth infantry. An invitation has been sent to Lieut.-Gen. S. M. B. Young and it is expected he will be present. Gen. Young began his military life in the Twelfth Pennsylvania volunteers, in 1861, the regiment to which the Greys were attached, and old associations will be renewed, as there are quite a number of 61 Greys still living. The corps also has on its rolls four men who served in Mexico in 1846. These are Gen. R. C. Dunn, Mr. Emerson, Col. C. C. Hambright, Allegheny; Col. Norton McGiffin, Washington, Pa., and Dryad McClintock, Sioux Falls, S. D.

The organization will turn out for the Hawkins monument parade and will also entertain the veteran corps of the Third regiment, R. G. P., of Philadelphia, on that occasion.

JAIL-BREAKER CAUGHT.

Donald McClanahan Is Arrested in Poplar Alley After Being Shot At.

Donald McClanahan, alias Dan Green, colored, was arrested in Poplar alley last night for escaping from the New Castle jail last week, where he was waiting trial for the larceny of a diamond. McClanahan asked the sheriff to permit him to talk to his attorney over the telephone in the sheriff's office. The officer agreed, and when the prisoner entered the office he knocked the sheriff down and escaped.

McClanahan tried to escape last night and was shot at by the policeman.

Fixing the Circus Grounds.

An immense amount of work has been done on the new circus grounds which the Barnum & Bailey show is to utilize in East Liberty next Wednesday and Thursday, and when it is fully completed the old stock yards will be an ideal circus site. The ground has been filled in and leveled, and is now being thoroughly rolled. Nearly 2,500 loads of earth and 80 carloads of cinders have been used in the operation. The change in the lot from Allegheny to East Liberty was necessitated by the encroachment of railroad tracks on the old fair grounds, and the fact that the show had outgrown the old lot. The new location is, however, admirable in every way.

Gunia Goes Back to Harwick.

Adolph Gunia, the only survivor of the Harwick mine disaster, has left St. Francis hospital, where he had been confined since January 27 suffering from burns received in the explosion at the mine, in which 180 men lost their lives. Gunia has fully recovered from his injuries and will remain on the family's farm, back of Harwick, till he is again able to go to work.

William Bailey Dead.

William Bailey, aged 82, died at Ohiopyle yesterday. He was the oldest man in southern Fayette county. He walked from Ohiopyle to Andersonville prison during the war and offered himself as a hostage for his brother James, who died the next day from disease.

ISOLATION IS BADLY NEEDED

Separate Hospitals for Contagious Diseases Urged by Director Clark.

ANNUAL CHARITIES REPORT

Isolated wards at Marshalsea, the city home and municipal hospital, for the treatment of those suffering from tuberculosis and other contagious diseases are strongly urged by Director J. W. Clark, in his annual report, as head of the department of charities and corrections.

"It is beyond argument that the milder cases, being from necessity quartered among the virulent, invariably go on to a fatal termination," he said.

He refers to several features at the Marshalsea home which show that the laundry and the garden are two of the most interesting institutions established there. The laundry is cared for by a forewoman, the only one there on salary, all the other work being done by inmates of the home. During the year 646,582 pieces of linen were handled.

The gardener, who has the care of all the outside farm work, has greenhouses containing 25,000 plants. He also cares for nine cows, the product of which is used entirely in the hospital and for the babies. In addition, 55 gallons of milk are required daily in the home, bought from outside dealers. During the year 10,012 original prescriptions were filled by the hospital steward and 11,794 refilled.

There were 201 inmates received during the year and 201 died. Of the deaths, 89 were due to consumption, 16 to paralysis, 15 to senile debility, 10 to heart disease and 9 to acute mania.

During the year the inspectors investigated 1,977 cases, in 1,456 of which assistance was given. As outdoor relief the department distributed $3,935 50 in cash, 23,100 bushels of coal, 410 pairs of shoes, bought 590 railroad tickets and gave 67 burial orders. The district physicians attended 1,657 patients, making 3,130 home visits and having 1,004 office calls. They gave 4,401 prescriptions.

At the end of the year 1,018 persons were in the care of the department. Eleven were at Dixmont, 4 at Warnersville, 39 at Polk, 1 at the Concordia Orphans' home, 483 at the city home and 474 in the insane department of the home.

The total receipts of the year were $46,215 93. The expenditures were $126,-226 11, making the net cost to the city $82,010 18, or 22.07 cents per capita a day.

NO NEW DETECTIVES.

Court Refuses Petition of District Attorney for the Establishment of County Bureau.

Judges Collier and Macfarlane yesterday refused to grant District Attorney Stewart's petition for the appointment of eight special county detectives to suppress crime throughout the country districts. They could find no law governing such an appointment, and, although the commissioners stretched a point and the county paid for the services of this body for several months last year, that body refuses to do likewise this year. The district attorney's office force blames all the trouble on County Commissioner Clark and Controller Cunningham, who were openly opposed to any such appointments.

District Attorney Stewart said he would not appeal to a higher court, as there is no existing law under which the officers can be appointed. He believed a point might have been stretched, but had no criticism to make. He said he recognized that it was his last resort, and, while it places all citizens of boroughs and townships throughout the county at the mercy of thieves and burglars, he cannot help it. He said it is well known that men trained to run down burglars were not found in constable's offices, and that little protection is now offered country communities.

RESCUED FROM MOB.

Grocer Adslie Was in a Critical Position When Detectives Arrived.

A hilltop gang of 100 street urchins threatened to mob John Adslie, an Elm street grocer, last night, when Adslie caught a small boy in the act of stealing several bottles of pop from his ice chest. He held the boy, whose companions gathered around the grocer and were about to begin an attack to release the prisoner, when Detectives Cole and Egan, seeing the disturbance from a passing street car, got off and rescued Adslie.

The detectives marched the boy to the Central station, followed by a crowd of several hundred youngsters. "They are all my friends," said the prisoner, pointing proudly to the crowd. At the station Adslie decided not to prosecute the boy and he was set at liberty.

DIED FROM ACID BURNS.

August Kullick Was Splashed With Violent Fluid in Brewery.

August Kullick, aged 47, of No. 315 Center avenue, Glendale, died at the McKees Rocks hospital yesterday from burns received May 7. He was employed as a laborer at the National brewery when the head of an acid keg was displaced and the contents splashed over him.

Thomas D. Gardner, aged 60, was found dead in bed at the Hope mission yesterday. Infirmities of age are supposed to have caused death.

Augustine Lewis, aged 35, died at his boarding house, No. 1248 Penn avenue, yesterday, from heart disease.

STABBED BY AN ITALIAN.

James Dask Cut While Defending Small Boy in Smallman Street.

James Dask, an Italian, who keeps a store at No. 2497 Penn avenue, was stabbed three times in the back yesterday at Twenty-second and Smallman streets by an unknown countryman, who afterward made his escape. Dask was taken to the St. Francis hospital. His injuries are not dangerous. Dask was injured in attempting to defend a small boy who was being chased by an Italian. After cutting his victim the Italian ran through a saloon in Penn avenue and got away.

PROSECUTOR LOST CASE BECAUSE HE CAN WRITE

Meat and Milk Inspector Samuel Adler was acquitted yesterday by Alderman McMasters on a charge of forgery, made by J. C. Noel, formerly a city "white wing." Noel claimed Adler presented a forged order to the city controller authorizing him to collect $14 75 out of the former's wages. Adler claimed Noel gave him the order in payment for board, and Noel answered this by stating that he could not write. Half a dozen witnesses swore that Noel could sign his own name, and that the signature attached to the order was his.

WILLIAM F. LANG IS DEAD.

Well-Known North Side Business Man Dies Suddenly in His Office.

William F. Lang, president of the Lang Union Broom Company, and one of the best known business men of the North Side, died suddenly of heart disease in the office of his company, 419 Preble avenue, Allegheny, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Lang was at his desk looking over the morning mail when he suddenly fell from his chair and died before a physician reached his side.

Mr. Lang, who was aged 69, was born near Heidelburg, Germany, and came to the United States in 1847, settling at Hollidaysburg, Pa. In 1849 he came to Pittsburgh and for the last 35 years had been engaged in the broom business. During his business career here he was a member of the following firms at different times: Schumaker & Lang, Watt, Lang & Co., Lang & Shepherd and the Lang Union Broom Company.

Besides being prominent in business, Mr. Lang also took an active interest in fraternal societies, and was well known in Masonic and Knights Templar circles. He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Margaret Young; four sons, G. W. Lang of the American Tobacco Company, Richmond, Va.; Lieut. C. J. Lang, inspector of ordnance at the Homestead steel works; Walter S. and S. Laird, with the Union Broom Company, and one daughter, Miss Edith C. A. Lang. Mr. Lang was a brother-in-law of David P. Black, president of the Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow over Mr. Lang's remains at his late home in Termon avenue, Allegheny.

A WOMAN'S RISK

As a trapeze performer is greater than a man's. She must have a man's courage and a man's muscle to succeed. But she must also work under conditions of which a man knows nothing. Many an accident to women acrobats must be attributed to the sudden weakness to which all women are subject at certain times.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription heals the womanly diseases which cause weakness. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"With pleasure I write to-day in praise of Dr. Pierce and his medicines," says Mrs. Mary Conway, of Appleton, Lawrence Co., Tenn. "Was troubled with female disease; the back of my head hurt me so I could not lie in bed and I would have to sit up, and then I would have such pains from my waist down I could scarcely raise up. My feet and hands would feel almost like ice. Since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I can sleep well all night. Could hardly drag around before I took your medicine, and now can do my housework and help my husband in the field. Words cannot express the thanks I owe to Dr. Pierce."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing more than a thousand large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BEATTY'S NOTES WERE READ IN COURT

Love, Friendship and Indifference Marked the Progress of His Courtship.

PREDICTED LAW SUIT

Love, friendship indifference characterized the letters of Leroy B. Beatty to his former sweetheart, Miss Minnie G. Morrisey, as they were read to the jury and introduced as evidence in the breach of promise suit in which the young lady demands $25,000 for unrequited love and affection. An entire day was taken up reading the missives, many of them teeming with love. Some were filled with sweet talk, such as "Sweet Minnie," "Sweetie mine," "Ducker," "Dovey," "My Sweet Minnie," "Your loving Roy," "Sweetheart mine," and other endearments. When the plaintiff wrote that he was sick from love, it took all the bailiffs to restore order in the court room.

The first letter read was written in San Francisco on August 19, 1899, and told the fair plaintiff that she had better consult her mamma about the continuance of the engagement longer, as he did not care to keep her waiting. The mother's decision was said to be for the best. In another letter he said he would be away two years, and it was not right to keep her waiting, as he was "doomed to be a bachelor." The second letter read came from Washington, and said in part:

Wanted Rivals to Meet.

"If I remember right I asked you to marry me when I had enough money to get married. Well, I haven't enough money to get married now and I don't know that I ever will have." This letter also spoke of a Miss H——, to whom he was said to have been engaged, and asks Miss Morrisey to come to Washington and see the woman in question about the matter. The fact that she had shown part of a previous letter to another man is also the source of considerable trouble, according to the letters. He wound up this letter by saying that, as he had not yet been accepted by Miss H—— he was in some doubt as to the date of the wedding.

In one of the letters written four years ago Beatty, with the accuracy of a prophet, forecasted what has taken place this week in the United States court, namely, the suit, the reading of the letters, and the amusement of jury and spectators. This letter reads:

Washington, Pa., Feb. 4, 1900.

My Dear Minnie:

* * * If I remember I asked you to marry me if, when I got enough money to get married, we were both of the same mind. Well, I haven't enough money to get married on now and I don't know if I ever will have. Once before you spoiled my making some money and your letter just came this time and knocked me out. Yes, I presume you had better come out here and ask Miss H—— if I am engaged to her. * * * Thank you for showing part of my letter to a stranger. * * * Presume that it will not be as hard to bear as when you hear them read in court, as my mother insists that I will be sued for breach of promise, and also that I will be killed. Well, I can only die once, and I assure you that I don't want that to come soon, but I fancy you have the advantage of me in first having some of my letters read to an outsider. Just imagine how the jury will take them all in! What do you think Miss H—— will think of the matter? * * * If you don't have troubles of your own others will not for you, so I think I will try the other plan of doing others before I am done by them. * * *

As I haven't been accepted by Miss H—— I can't say just how soon the wedding will be. Very truly yours,

L. B. BEATTY.

On March 22, 1895, he wrote from Philadelphia that "to be sure she was the only one he ever loved," and followed this letter with another on May 15, 1895, in which he said he was very glad she would consent to be married in September. She was also told to suit herself about the proportions and elegance of the wedding reception. In June of the same year he spoke of his hair falling out, and said she would not pull his hair any more.

On March 27, 1897, he recounts receipt of pictures and says:

"Ducky, do you know you are a handsome woman? You see, I was in love with yourself, and you know love is blind, but do you know I think it was yourself, not the body, I fell in love with." On July 23, 1897, he said he wished he had some hugs and kisses, as they would make him sleep better than the old powders. He also said he loved her better than money, although he was working night and day. On July 27, 1897, he wrote requesting her to get "more meat on her," as she weighed less than he. The same day he said: "I wish we were to be married on August 3 or July 27," and closes by saying, "I will have to work now, mine sweetie, but think I would rather work at h's and k's. Guess you always have an overdose when I am with you."

Said He Was Lazy.

On August 18, October 9, 21 and November 8 he wrote four more "mine sweetie" letters, and wished she were nearer to him.

He wrote a number of other letters, all in the same tenor, and finally wound up with a letter, dated March 25, 1900, in which he said: "I don't know whether I love another girl more than you, or whether I don't love anybody. I am too lazy now to find out. Your talk about the Roy of old makes me think that the Minnie of old was a different person." He also wished he had a liberal installment of h's and k's for use that night.

After the reading of the letters Miss Morrisey was recalled for a few unimportant questions, and then Attorney A. Leo Weil opened his argument for the defense. He asked that the court instruct the jury on certain law points which have developed during the hearing of the case. He also commented on the fact that the only moral odium cast on the defendant had been called down by the presentation of her letters by the attorneys for the plaintiff. Mr. Marshall, for the plaintiff, handled the defendant without gloves, calling him a cold-hearted worshiper of mammon and numerous other epithets.

Judge Buffington will charge the jury this morning, and the case will then be given into their hands for determination.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE SOCIETY

At the annual business meeting of the Young Men's Bible society of Allegheny county Thursday night, the following officers were elected: President, A. A. Hersperger; vice presidents, R. C. Miller, H. F. Ames; recording secretary, F. S. Cousley; corresponding secretary, J. Walter Hay; treasurer, W. W. Armstrong; librarians, W. W. Waters, Joseph Horner; executive committee, James M. Lee, chairman; W. A. C. Brown, George M. Hamilton, T. A. Nesbitt, V. Losa; finance committee, T. M. Latimer, chairman; John F. Miller, D. J. Brown, John B. Brittain, F. A. Kimball and Joseph R. Orr, general agent in charge of the work. It was decided to hold the ninetieth anniversary of the society in the Eighth Street Reformed Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Sunday, May 22, at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. H. H. George of Beaver Falls will preach the anniversary sermon. Churches of all denominations will be represented.

WIDOW DIED OF JOY WHEN SON GOT CADETSHIP

When Her Dearest Wish Had Been Realized She Succumbed to Emotion.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Her life's dearest wish realized when President Roosevelt appointed her son to a cadetship at West Point, Mrs. B. Drennan died of joy at Fort Myer. She was the widow of Ordnance Sergeant Patrick Drennan, one of that splendid type of non-commissioned officers developed by long service in the United States army. It had been his desire to see his son an officer in the service.

President Roosevelt last Saturday passed on a list of young men who were candidates for appointment to West Point. They were all sons of army or naval officers. The qualifications of Jeremiah A. Drennan had been made known to the president. He appointed him without hesitation. The news was printed in the papers on Sunday and read by Mrs. Drennan, who since her husband's death in 1901 has resided just outside the government reservation at Fort Myer. For several months she has been in ill health but forgot her own cares in her wish for the success of her boy.

The news on Sunday was too much. She completely collapsed and grew weaker, and died Wednesday morning. The diagnosis of the physicians showed that the cause of her death was heart failure induced by great emotion.

Will Hold Up the Bills.

Because of a fight in the West Homestead council through which Walter Terrill was ousted from the office of chairman, the faction upholding him has served notice on the Monongahela Trust Company, treasurer for the borough, demanding that the company pay no bills against the borough. The trust company will not pay until the matter is settled.

MACCABEES WANT HOME BUILT IN PITTSBURGH

Local Knights Will Try to Bring Institution Here When Great Camp Meets.

Pittsburgh's tents of Knights of Maccabees are completing elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the great camp of Pennsylvania, which will convene in Central Masonic hall, Collins avenue, East End, June 7. On the same day the great hive of Pennsylvania of the Ladies of the Maccabees will begin its annual session in Braun's auditorium, South Highland avenue. Over 150 delegates are expected at the great camp.

The most important measures coming up for discussion relate to a change in the laws of the sick, death and accident fund and the establishment of a permanent home for the aged Maccabees. Pittsburgh has made a bid for the home, and is ready to back its offer with a bonus or perhaps a site. Delegates will also be elected to the supreme tent, which will be held in July at Port Huron, Mich.

Supreme Commander D. P. Markey and D. D. Aiken, supreme record keeper and councilor, will attend the great camp. The program of entertainment, which is being managed by East Liberty tent No. 360, includes a reception and dance at Braun's auditorium June 7 and a carriage drive the following morning.

MARTHA WASHINGTON ANGRY AT THE LOSS OF HER CUBS

The lion family in the Highland zoo is being thinned out. The zoo for some time past has had too many of the African cat tribe, and Superintendent Tretow has been trading them for other wild animals. Martha Washington, the most prolific lioness the zoo has ever had, has lost four of her babies. They have been exchanged for other animals, and are now on their way to New York. Since her cubs were taken away Martha has been in an ugly mood and the keepers at the zoo say she is now the most dangerous lioness they have ever dealt with.

THE UNDENIABLY WONDERFUL QUALITY OF THE

Schwitter West-View

is drawing multitudes to what is unquestionably the most towering real estate success that has ever occurred.

What is the cause of this remarkable success when other real estate propositions have been meeting with but nominal patronage?

Try to remember the real estate news that was published in the authoritative real estate reports edited by the publishers' own editors, and you will realize that there never has been anything to compare with the unmatchable demand now in effect at this most surprising sale.

You ask: "What causes it?" We answer: "Come see for yourself." Come see what millions of dollars judiciously expended are doing in the way of providing modern germ-proof water works, miles of water mains, countless highways of sanitary sewerage, asphalt streets, gas lights and gas fuel, electric lights and the finest traction system ever put into operation.

Anybody who can see through the cracks of a stone wall understands that we could never have persuaded the Pittsburgh Railways Company to set aside $600,000 to build the now famous manifold-motor loop line that is being constructed through this property to Bellevue, unless our proposition was good enough to get population here and make money for the road. Any business man who has had experience getting big capital into large deals knows that it is conservative and won't take hold if it cannot foresee results.

This in itself is a powerful argument in favor of Schwitter West-View. The kind of a road that is being established is another powerful argument. The fact that you will soon be able to take a car going either way and get to Pittsburgh is still another argument.

In six months from now the entire country will be talking about the celebrated traction loop at Greater Pittsburgh. Traction engineers who have watched the progress of the construction of this road will start the talk. It will be an engineering accomplishment that the scientific world will want to know about.

Remember, that it won't take any longer to get to Pittsburgh by going on the loop through Bellevue than it will to ride the loop the opposite direction through the Perrysville district. In this way you get three routes to Pittsburgh: via Perrysville Avenue, via Bellevue and via East Street.

When you come to look at Schwitter West-View, bring from $5 to $50 with you for a first payment. You may pay the balance in easy monthly installments, and get with each lot a provisional premium bond that you may sell or hold and try to earn according to its provisions as much as one-fourth the price of the lot.

10 per cent discount is given for cash when paid within 60 days from date of purchase. No interest or taxes are charged.

The lots are 30x120 feet, and range in price from $100 to $1,250. Many very choice locations may be had at the low prices by those who are quick to arrive on the property, but the low-priced sites are not the ones that the rush is being made for.

When the Grand Circuit is completed, you can take a car going either direction and get to town.

The Cars Marked West View, East Street and Madison Avenue, Starting at Seventh Street and Liberty Avenue, are running over the fine new high-speed manifold-motor road on double schedule service, landing passengers right in the center of the most remarkable work of constructing genuine city improvements that any corporation ever promised or had the pluck and good business sense to believe in and carry out. Remember, that this is the perfectly level, marvelously situated plateau that multitudes expected to see go on the market last Fall and have been waiting for all through the Winter.

INSURGENTS TO BE ASKED TO RETURN

Jr. O. U. A. M. Loyalists Will Give Them Chance for Reinstatement.

NOT EXPECTED TO ACCEPT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, PA., May 13.

The insurgent faction of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in Pennsylvania will be given one more chance by the loyalist faction to be reinstated in the state council. If the insurgents continue defiant the state council will then take advantage of the recent decision of Judge Audenreid of Philadelphia, giving them control of the property of the order in this state.

This policy was agreed upon at a meeting here this evening of the state officers of the loyalists, consisting of George W. Arnold, Philadelphia, councilor; E. C. Latham, vice councilor; John C. Bash, Allegheny, past councilor; Edward S. Deemar, Philadelphia, secretary, and John W. Calver, Philadelphia, treasurer. A circular letter will be sent by these officials to the insurgent councils and those councils which have remained neutral, calling their attention to the Audenreid ruling, especially that portion of it in which the judge says the insurgents have no legal standing and that the jurisdiction of the national council extends to the state council. The state officers believe the insurgents will refuse to comply with this decision and will cut loose entirely from the national council, and that the neutral councils will pay their back dues and return to the state council.

A meeting of the state officers of the insurgent faction will be held tomorrow, at Philadelphia, at which it is expected it will be decided to take an appeal from the Audenreid decision to the supreme court.

Councilor Arnold and his associates are anxious that the insurgents shall return to the state council and say there is no disposition among the loyalists to punish them for their past actions if they will agree hereafter to be loyal to the state and national councils. There is a strong undercurrent of sentiment among both factions in this locality to agree on a plan of harmony that will restore peace in the order and stop the controversy which has been going on the last five years. The insurgents are in a minority and some of their councils have recently surrendered their charters to the national council and organized independent orders.

ELKS AMUSED CROWD.

The "339" Entertainers" Gave Benefit Performance at Duquesne Theater.

A big audience at the Duquesne theater last night discovered that the number 339 was one to conjure with. A minstrel show was given by the "339 entertainers" of the Allegheny lodge of Elks for the benefit of the charity fund of the organization, and a fine program was given. Howard J. Collins was interlocutor; Al. A. Lutz and J. E. Diebold looked after the bones and L. Claire McLaughlin and J. E. Griffith twirled the tambourines, while the soloists were Thomas Brady, A. E. Fisher, A. B. Hamilton and James O'Brien. They were supported by a chorus of 50 voices.

An olio of music and magic was given by Master Earl Lindsay, Prof. John McKissock and George Holcomb. The performance closed with a one-act farce introducing the famous "Elk trio," composed of Messrs. Lutz, McLaughlin and Griffith.

To Be Replaced by a Great Hospital

Former Residence of the Hon. James W. Brown, Fifth Avenue and Elysian Street.

GREATER HOMEOPATHIC TO BE NEAR POINT BREEZE

Mary A. Howe Property at Fifth Avenue and Elysian Street Has Been Secured—Magnificent Hospital Building to Be Erected.

Pittsburgh's Greater Homeopathic hospital will be built on the Mary A. Howe holdings, at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Elysian street, near Point Breeze, Twenty-second ward. The property was obtained yesterday for $100,000.

The Howe property has a frontage of 250 feet, extending back 476 feet. It was occupied until recently by the Hon. James W. Brown. It adjoins the Singer holdings, is near the properties of D. McK. Lloyd, John B. Jackson and Frank Bissell, and directly across Fifth avenue from the residences of Mrs. William Carr. Upon the site is a brick house of 14 rooms, built many years ago. The place has been noted for years as one of the most picturesque spots in the East End. It has a beautiful grove of maples and sycamores and a large orchard. A stable stands on the rear of the lot.

The property is accessible from more points than any place within a radius of many miles. It is elevated 20 feet above Fifth avenue and for this reason is looked upon as particularly ideal for a hospital, for patients can be free then from dust and dirt and enjoy the quiet of a rural habitat.

The present buildings will be torn down, as the hospital will be entirely new. It was thought for a time that the building would cost no more than $150,000, but it is stated on good authority that at least $200,000 will be spent. This will bring the total cost up to about $300,000. The committee in charge of the work has a large number of big contributions in sight, and expects to receive at least $150,000 toward the work from friends and philanthropists before January 1. It is also expected that the state legislature will give some aid by appropriation.

The new project was mentioned exclusively in The Gazette three weeks ago. A committee consisting of Dr. J. H. McClelland, chairman; Dr. W. W. Blair, Dr. W. Alvah Stewart, Dr. E. R. Gregg, Dr. G. A. Mueller and Dr. R. S. Marshall has been seeking a site for the new institution for several weeks.

The papers signed yesterday conveyed the Howe property to a holding company. The papers will remain this way until an organization for the building of the hospital has been completed. It is the intention to select a board of trustees and out of this body select committees. The organization of the old institution in Second avenue will be followed very closely. That means an auxiliary of women in addition to the other details named, and an independent management of the new place will be in harmony with the present hospital.

The organization will be completed in two months. Then active work will start. Under present arrangements and according to the ideas of those backing the project, the hospital is to be a handsome one. Entrances will be from the sides and rear. The general plan will in all probability be that of a double "L," similar to the Allegheny General. The the front is to be a beautiful specimen of architecture.

In discussing the subject last evening Dr. J. H. McClelland, who may be regarded as the prime mover in the whole plan, said:

"Yes, our building is to be a marvel in respect to appearance, as well as usefulness, and one that residents nearby, as well as those of the entire city, may well be proud of. And there will be nothing objectionable in anything that the committee has under way.

"It might be borne in mind that no contagious diseases will be cared for there. It will be a general hospital, but will be used probably more for women and children, and will, of course, be especially desirable for convalescents. Our old hospital in Second avenue will be managed and maintained the same as ever, but will probably be more of an emergency institution than it is at present.

"The relief will be of great service, not only to the old hospital, but to the entire community. As to the site, I can say that it is ideal in every way and that no better could have been secured. In all large cities in the world, the biggest and greatest hospitals are being erected in the best residence sections and people are beginning to regard them more and more as far from objectionable.

"As to the name, I cannot say at present. That will develop when the charter is taken out."

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

JAMES HALL, AGED MAN, DIES IN WASHINGTON

Identified With the History of the County for Many Years.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., May 13.—James Hall, the oldest and one of the most prominent residents of Washington, died at his home here this afternoon. He was almost 90 years of age. Death was due to the infirmities incident to old age. The deceased was born at Lindleys Mills, this county, July 23, 1815. He was a son of Thomas Hall, one of the first educators of Washington county. He was the oldest member of a large family and is survived by two brothers, Gen. John Hall, now nearing the century mark in age, and Thomas Hall, who is also more than fourscore and 10 years. His memory was clear and with ease he could recall events of many years ago. He was present on Callows hill when the negro slave, Kit, was hanged for the murder of his master at the Red Barn, west of Washington. He attended all the old musters and played a prominent part in local history. With his parents, Mr. Hall moved to Dunningsville, this county. Here he spent his boyhood days and apprenticed himself to a tailor, which vocation he followed for many years. He married Miss Tabitha Jones, a sister of Gen. Hall's wife, and then moved to Shreve, O. After the death of his wife he returned to Washington county. In 1845 he married a second time and his wife lived until about a year ago. In politics he was a Democrat and never missed an election, having voted for all the presidential candidates from the time of James Munroe to the present time. He was active in the party ranks. Besides the two brothers, the following children survive: Thomas P. Hall, George W. Hall, S. W. Hall, Mrs. F. G. Naser of Washington, and Mrs. Joseph C. Charlton of Canonsburg.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon and interment will be in the Washington cemetery.

W. M. S. MEETING ADJOURNED.

Old Officers Re-Elected—Next Meeting Will Be Held at New Castle.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Shenango presbytery which began at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning, closed with this afternoon's session. The address of greeting was made by Mrs. Eugene Mackey of New Brighton, and the response was by Miss Alice Bell of Sharon. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the First church at New Castle. The former officers were re-elected. They are: President, Mrs. W. B. Isemberg; vice presidents, Mrs. J. D. Moorhead, Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, Mrs. H. S. Jordan, Mrs. H. N. Potter, Mrs. T. D. Stewart; secretary, Miss Mary McClymonds; assistant secretary, Mrs. S. R. Pettit; secretary of young people's work, Miss Cyrla McDowell; secretary of literature, Miss Elyice Potter; treasurer, Miss Wells; advisory member of executive committee, Mrs. S. L. Taylor; synodical member, Mrs. J. A. Crawford. Miss Stephenson and Mrs. H. E. Golden of New Castle, were elected auditors. Mrs. Woodford was elected secretary of freedmen.

Erie Residence Robbed.

ERIE, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—A daring robbery was committed this afternoon during the circus parade. The home of Mrs. S. C. Morton was entered and jewelry to the amount of $700 taken. The thieves escaped.

Drank Carbolic Acid by Mistake.

GREENSBURG, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—Alexander Veitch, 26 years old, son of John Veitch, a Carbon miner, died in agony last night from drinking carbolic acide, which he mistook for medicine.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN.

Lake Carriers and Masters and Pilots Making No Progress in Settlement of Difficulties.

CLEVELAND, O., May 13.—The deadlock between the Lake Carriers' association and the Masters and Pilots' association over the wage scale question continued today with no indications of an early settlement.

The Pittsburgh Steamship Company, which operates the largest fleet of vessels on the lakes, sent out circular letters several days ago ordering all the captains and mates to report at the office of the company here today. According to the officials of the Masters and Pilots' association, however, none of the captains put in an appearance except those who sail barges. The latter were, it is said, instructed by their organization to attend. Rates to barges are allowed by steamers it would be impossible to start them out unless the steam vessels could be manned.

ASHTABULA, O., May 13.—Railroad traffic south from this and other lake ports is being seriously affected by the Great Lake tie-up. Many railroad men at this point have been laid off.

PREPARING FOR TRIP.

Liberty Bell Will Go to Fair in Style, Accompanied by Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—(Special.)—While no definite date has been set as yet for the departure of the Liberty bell for St. Louis, it will leave this city for the world's fair during the second week in June.

The joint committee of councils appointed to make arrangements for the taking of the bell west met this morning, but did not complete its work. It was decided, however, that the famous old relic should pass through the following states on its outward trip: Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri.

As in times past, the old bell will travel in style, and nothing will be left undone to insure its safety. The committee of councils will accompany the bell to St. Louis, and the members will travel in style also. A flat car will carry the old relic, and the guardian city fathers will travel in the best of Pullman coaches.

One Italian Kills Another.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, May 13.—(Special.)—Kelly Scarpeno was shot and instantly killed by Frank Sacco, at the home of the latter, at Florence mines, last night. Scarpeno eloped with Sacco's wife, but the latter returned and her husband forgave her. Scarpeno, being assured that Sacco was not angry, returned last night. He again paid attention to the woman, while a guest at a party, and Sacco killed him and fled. All are Italians.

David C. Gourley Is Dead.

David C. Gourley, the well-known contractor of Vanport, whose left leg was amputated at the Beaver County General hospital May 4, died Thursday night at Beaver, aged 53. He leaves a widow, who was formely Jenute Day of Rochester, and an adopted daughter, Marguerite Gourley. These three brothers and stepbrother survive: Elmer Gourley, Canton, O.; Thomas Gourley, Massillon, O.; William Gourley, Pittsburgh, and Samuel Bedford, Elma, S

The Pirates were forced to take a dose of their own medicine yesterday, and, worst of all, the man to administer it is an ex-Pirate, Eddie Poole, whose magnificent pitching proved the worst kind of a stumbling block to the three-time champions. The official round-up was 2 to 0 in the visitors' favor.

Among the 3,110 spectators there were some who no doubt labored under the impression that a hoodoo was sprung in the home team, and that was the reason for the defeat. This supposed hoodoo was the Reading band, which was on hand with the red-shirted fire fighters from the east and between innings sprung a yard or two of "Tessie." The moment the first toot of the familiar air was sounded there were loud cheers from some of the spectators, while others gritted their teeth and waived closed fists at the offending musicians. However, it was not "Tessie" that was the hoodoo, but Eddie Poole.

That former Pirate was in the best kind of pitching form, as is shown by the fact that during the nine innings but four safe hits were made off his delivery, and not a Pirate got as far as second base. Poole has that kind of a hoodoo to spring on a team, and it will have a better effect than all the tunes that were ever composed. Poole had everything that a successful pitcher could wish for—a puzzling assortment of speed, curves of all kinds and a good head to help the pitching along. Add to this fact that the members of the visiting team were on their good behavior and gave their pitcher a support that was at times sensational to onlookers.

Had the Pirates put up the same kind of work back of Roscoe Miller the game would have gone into extra innings, and there is no telling what the result would have been. The mistakes of the locals were not the kind that show up in the error column, but they were mistakes, and serious ones, just the same. Those to blame were Leach, Clarke and Wagner, who got into a mix-up in the ninth inning and allowed Lumley's fly to fall safe when it should have been an easy out. That mistake allowed Sheckard to cross the plate with the Brooklyn's first run, and that was enough to win the game.

That the visitors had the luck with them is shown by the manner in which they scored their two runs in the ninth inning. Sheckard, who was first up, lifted a high fly to Wagner into right field which would not have been good for more than two bases at the best, but the ball struck a bottle which had been thrown out in front of the bleachers and it eluded the grasp of Sebring and allowed Sheckard a three-bagger. Then came the mix-up on Lumley's fly, and that let Sheckard in with the first run and Lumley to reach second base, from which point he scored on Dillon's drive to right for one base.

The game was a fast one all the way and there were plenty of chances for displays of enthusiasm, and two were supplied with Doherty's aid. The speed of the game is shown by the fact that no less than four double plays were made. Miller pitched a fine game for the Pirates, but that old complaint was on hand of the players being unable to hit when needed. Zimmer again umpired a good game. The scores:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Today's game will be called at 3 o'clock, and the pitchers will be Leever for the Pirates and Reidy for Brooklyn.

In the seventh, just for a change of luck, Wagner batted left handed and drove a pretty single to middle field.

It was Tommy Leach who mixed up the play on Lumley's fly in the ninth. Had Leach kept away Clarke could easily have secured the ball.

Jimmy Sebring robbed Strang of a long hit in the fifth, when he went to the fence and pulled down Strang's liner. It was a fine catch.

In running over the first base in the opening inning Strang tripped and turned a couple of somersaults before he could check himself, but he was not injured.

Wagner and Beaumont collided while chasing Dahlen's fly in the second, but Hans got the ball and held to it, through both players took a tumble. Neither was hurt.

When the Reading band struck up "Tessie" Clarke, who was coming in from the field, waved his hand and laughed at President Dreyfuss, but Barney was in anything but a laughing humor.

It is not often that four double plays are made in a game, and when that number is made, as was the case yesterday, then it can be set down as a fact that some fast baseball is being played.

Pitcher Jones of the Superbas is an all-around athlete, and when his team scored in the ninth he was out on the coaching line and turned a couple of flip-flaps to the amusement of the spectators.

Sheckard's three-bagger in the ninth was the luckiest kind of a hit. The ball hit a bottle in right field and got away from Sebring, counting for a three-bagger. The Brooklyn team had all the luck of the game, and it all came in the ninth.

The visiting members of the Reading fire department marched to the park headed by their brass band, and the band played selections between innings, including the chorus of "Tessie," and, of course, that ended the Pirates' hope of victory.

President Pulliam of the National league watched the game from President Dreyfuss' private box. Harry made the trip here to get a glimpse of Zimmer's umpiring, not having seen him work since his appointment. Zimmer had more trouble yesterday than in any game Pulliam is coming here, but his work was all right at that.

SHARON GETS THIS GAME FROM HOMESTEAD

Bennett and Mayor Touched Up Lively by Moyer's Team. Score 8 to 1.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SHARON, PA., May 13.—Homestead could do nothing with Cleary's pitching today. He had all kinds of speed and allowed but three scattered hits. He fanned seven men. Bennett started to pitch for Homestead, but gave way to Mullin, who was hit hard. The fielding of Kerr and McClintock was the feature. Score:

AHL AND WORRELL ARE THE WINNERS

Shadyside Captain Wins His Meet and High School Leader Is First.

THREE RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Charlie Ahl, captain of the Shadyside academy field and track teams, and Duncan Worrell, captain of the Pittsburgh High school teams, were the brilliant performers in the inter-class meets held at these two schools yesterday afternoon. Shadyside held its annual games on the campus, while High school met at Friendship park, which was the first inter-class meet ever held at High school.

Ahl scored 32 points, Bakewell 21, Price 18, Schmertz 8, Sheppard 7, Scott 5, Stevenson 5, Morris 5, Drasie 3, Kimmler 2, Kelly 1 and Budd 1. Ahl won the meet last year, and he had little trouble in capturing the first cup yesterday.

Worrell was easily the star of the High school meet. He and Scott were entered by the C class, which won the meet with 67 points. A class was second with 21, M. Commercial 11, D 5 and B 4. Worrell was in nine events, taking five firsts, tying for one first and capturing two seconds. Three High School records were beaten—the 100-yard dash, broad jump and high jump. The previous best marks for these events were: 100 yards, 10 3-5; broad jump, 11 feet 3½ inches; high jump, 5 feet 6 inches.

Three events at Shadyside were not contested—the hammer throw, pole vault and bike. Price, in the 120-yard low hurdles, caused some merriment by getting the best and then throwing down all the hurdles while he ran. The field trailed along, but the judges ordered the race run over, which Ahl won. The summaries:

High School.

100-yard dash—First heat, Ewing first, Stien second, Ralston third. Time 0:10 3-5. Second heat, Worrell first, Smith second, Thompson third. Time 0:10 4-5. Final heat, Worrell first, Ewing second, Thompson third. Time 0:10 2-5.

Mile run—Scott won, Cohill second, Flood third. Time 5:34 4-5.

Pole vault—McKnight and Worrell tied for first; Ewing third. Height, 8 feet 6 inches.

Shot put—Worrell first, Thompson second, Dowling third. Distance, 36 feet 4 inches.

120-yard high hurdle—Ewing first, Dowling second, Thompson third. Time 0:18 1-5.

Half-mile run—Scott first, Keenan second, Cohill third. Time 2:40.

Broad jump—Ralston first, Worrell second, Owen third. Distance, 19 feet 3¼ inches.

220-yard dash—Worrell first, Dowling second, Geiger third. Time 0:24 3-5.

Hammer throw—Worrell won, Owen second, Delp third. Distance, 72 feet 8 inches.

High jump—Thompson won, Worrell second, Ralston third. Height, 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard low hurdle—Dowling won, Ewing second, Schein third. Time 0:31.

440-yard run—Worrell won, Steen second, Dowling third. Time 1:01 3-5.

Official—Prof. B. B. Cooper. Clerk—"Red" Orr. Starter—Charles Harper. Timers—Prof. Dysart, Myler. Judges—Prof. Mills, Marvin, Bauer.

Shadyside.

Running broad jump—Braddock, Curtis and Fanker; McKeesport, Pryor and Hodgson; Wilkinsburg, Thounhurst and Richards.

Half mile relay—Braddock, Vankirk, Curtis, Gover and Fanker; McKeesport, Chester, Gardner, Donaldson and Sharples; Wilkinsburg, Marshall, Morrison, Messner and Torrence.

The closing event will be a tug of war, in which all of the school will be entered.

Allegheny H. S. Beaten.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—Allegheny High school was easy for Mt. and J. academy today, 19 to 8. Riggs was invincible, striking out 10 men and giving but seven hits. Kammerer was knocked out of the box in the third inning and King was substituted. The Allegheny pitchers were wild, giving nine free passes to first. Academy played excellent ball in every department. The score:

SOCIETY

MAJ. GEORGE M. Laughlin gave a small luncheon yesterday afternoon in one of the private dining rooms of the Pittsburgh club in honor of Gen. S. M. B. Young of the United States army. The men invited to meet the distinguished guest were James McCrea, Joseph Wood, Rensen-V. Meeder, Col. Robert Fitzhugh, Albert H. Childs, Henry Graham Brown, Herman Griffin and Nathaniel Holmes. The table was decorated with crimson roses.

After the luncheon the party of gentlemen was entertained by Charles A. Painter in his electric launch, and spent the afternoon touring the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers and viewing the mills which line the banks of the Monongahela, in which Gen. Young was specially interested.

Gen. Young will probably spend Sunday at the Allegheny Country club and next week will visit his nephew, James S. Young, in Dallas avenue, East End, spending several days with his family before going to Franklin, Pa., for the reunion of the Fourth Pennsylvania Veteran Cavalry association.

Wedded in Dresden.

Many Pittsburghers will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Louise Quimby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quimby, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Eben Terry Sturgis of Zanesville, O., on April 27 in Dresden, Germany. Although the Quimbys have not lived in Pittsburgh for 10 years, they have visited Mrs. Samel Severance of Aiken avenue, who is a sister of Mrs. Quimby, and in that way they have kept in touch with the friends made during their residence in the city. The wedding was solemnized in the American church in Dresden, St. John's Protestant Episcopal, the Rev. Mr. Butterworth of New York, the rector, officiating. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Quimby as maid of honor. Mr. Mish of Honolulu was the best man and there were several ushers, among them an Englishman and an Italian, all friends of Mr. Sturgis, who has lived abroad for five years.

As the family is in mourning, the wedding was very quiet. Miss Sturgis of Zanesville, a sister of the bridegroom, went to Dresden for the ceremony, and Frank Smith of New York, Miss Lucy Frick of Cleveland, a niece of Henry Clay Frick, and Consul and Mrs. Charles Cole, formerly of Allegheny, were numbered among the guests. Mr. Sturgis and his bride will sail from Cherbourg for this country May 20 aboard the Moltke. After visiting Mrs. George Smith at her country place near New York, they will come to Pittsburgh to be the guests of Mrs. Severance before going to Zanesville. Mrs. Quimby will also come over some time in June to be the guest of Mrs. Severance.

Engagement Announced.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(Special.)—The surgeon general of the army, Gen. Robert M. O'Reilly and Mrs. O'Reilly, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Frances O'Reilly, to Lieut. Frederick B. Hennessy of the artillery corps. The wedding will take place at Overbrook, Pa., the old family home of Gen. O'Reilly, in August, and will be extremely simple. Miss O'Reilly has just returned from a five months' visit to Europe and has joined her parents at their home in this city. She was introduced to society four or five years ago, and, being a very handsome and accomplished girl, is a general favorite in army circles and in the society of the capital.

To Meet Miss McKibbin.

Miss Esther Kendall Breed, who is entertaining as her house guest, Miss Bessie McKibbin, a daughter of Gen. Chambers McKibbin of Washington, D. C., was hostess at a pretty little luncheon yesterday in her honor. Covers were laid for 14, the guests including Miss McKibbin, Mrs. George Russell, Miss Margaret Hall, Miss Mary Anderson, Miss Emma Zug, Mrs. William H. Sivitter, Mrs. Ogden Edwards, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Gordan, Jr., Mrs. Lindsay King, Mrs. William Wherry of New York, Mrs. Francis T. F. Lovejoy and Miss Anna Brown. The decorations were white lilacs and ferns.

Dr. David M. Breed and Mrs. Breed will close their home in Dithridge street on June 10 when they leave with their daughter for their summer home in Wequetonsing, Mich. Their daughter, Mrs. Francis Pierpont Sivitter, and her husband, Capt. Sivitter, are at present in the Presidio, Cal., where Capt. Sivitter is stationed. In September they will take up their residence in Grove City, Capt. Sivitter becoming military instructor at the Grove City college.

Golf Tea at Brighton Country Club.

The Brighton Country club, which formally opened its golf season last Saturday with a handicap tournament, will play the first match game of its spring schedule this afternoon with the team from the New Castle Golf club. An interesting game is looked for, as each team has one game to its credit from last season's play. Several of the women golfers will accompany the visitors, and mixed foursome matches will also be played.

The entertainment committee of the Brighton club, consisting of Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. A. K. Grubbs and Miss Elsie Kiefer, has announced a golf tea for this afternoon, and these teas will be a Saturday afternoon feature of the spring season. The green committee of the club is composed of Thomas I. Donaldson, Hon. Elliott Rodgers, Dr. O. J. Bennett, R. B. Rose, George L. Ralston and A. K. Grubbs. Games have been arranged with Edgewood May 28, Beaver Valley Country club June 4 and Wheeling Golf club June 18.

Smart Luncheon for Forty.

Miss Lelia Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. James Laughlin, Jr.'s daughter, gave a luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Pittsburgh Golf club house in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Thomas C. Laughlin, and Miss Harriet Dick of Meadville. The luncheon was served in the club dining room, two large tables and several smaller ones being used. Each had an exquisite centerpiece of yellow daisies, while in the Wood reception hall were dainty pink sweet peas. Miss Laughlin's guests yesterday afternoon included Mrs. Henry Graham Brown, Mrs. Winfield Estes, Mrs. J. Ramsey Speer, Mrs. J. Dawson Speer, Mrs. Eugene L. Messler, Mrs. Charles E. Speer, Jr., Miss Gertrude Childs, Miss Louise Kay, Miss Martha Ferguson, Miss Ada McCrea, Miss Margaret Wood, Miss Constance Mellon, Miss Katina, Miss Mary Speer, Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Miss Marguerite Singer and others.

School Girls Present Plays.

Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Helen Arundel, the girls in the two dramatic classes at Miss Giehm's school, gave two comedies yesterday afternoon. The plays were "My Lord in Livery" and "A Box of Monkeys," and among the girls who composed the casts were Miss Louise Mitchell, Miss Ruth Edwards, Miss Adele Guckenheimer, Miss Dorothy Leech, Miss Charity Packer, Miss Helen Watson, Miss Marie Blackmore, Miss Kate Spencer, Miss Clara Morris, Miss Margaret Bogert, Miss Phalla Gruver and Miss Rachel Chantler.

Informal Dinner in Squirrel Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. James I. Kay of Forbes avenue, Squirrel Hill, were host and hostess at a small and informal dinner last evening at their home. Covers were laid for 12, the guests being selected from their married friends. Mrs. Kay will give a luncheon of 15 covers at the Pittsburgh Golf club next Friday. There will be no special guest of honor.

The Freshmen Entertain.

Dilworth hall, Pennsylvania College for Women, was the scene of a pleasant little entertainment last evening when the freshmen gave a dance in honor of the seniors. The hostesses were Miss Marion Walker, Miss Edith Allison, Miss Bessie Johnson, Miss Ellen McKee, Miss Clara Niebaum, Miss Melzina Proudit, Miss Grace Stevenson, Miss Grace Primal and Miss Jane Grimshaw. The seniors are Miss Edna McKee, Miss Nancy Blair, Miss Rebekah Eggers, Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, Miss Jessie Gray, Miss Lida Young and Miss Helen Thomas.

"As You Like It" in Open Air.

The plans for producing Shakespeare's well-known comedy, "As You Like It," in the open air in Sewickley for the benefit of an institution in the Sewickley valley are attracting much interest. Harry Davis, manager of the Grand opera house, proposes handling the performance, and, should it be presented as contemplated, Charles Richman will appear as Orlando, the role he played in the notable performance in England in Stratford-on-Avon and again at Georgian Court, George Gould's residence in Lakewood.

Entertained the Bridal Parties.

Miss May Shildecker, who is to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Laura Southard Shrom and Louis Layton Banks on Tuesday, and who was one of the attendants at the wedding of Miss Margaret Fulton and William McKee last month, entertained the other members of the two bridal parties at her home in Rebecca street, East End, last evening. Mrs. McKee and Miss Shrom were the guests of honor. An informal musicale was given.

Will Wed an Allegheny Pastor.

Announcement was made in Tacoma, Wash., a week ago of the engagement of Miss Josephine Long and the Rev. C. F. Wishart, pastor of the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, Allegheny. The engagement was made known by Mrs. W. B. Allen, an aunt of Miss Long. The wedding will take place in the early summer in Philadelphia, where Miss Long is now completing her course of study in the Drexel institute.

In Honor of Mrs. Huldekoper.

Mrs. Douglas Stewart of Ridge avenue, Allegheny, was hostess at a small and informal bridge whist yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Arthur Huldekoper of Meadville, Pa., who is visiting Mrs. David A. Stewart of Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Huldekoper will leave today for her home. The guests numbered 24 of the younger married women and six tables were in use.

Kelly-Barnes Nuptials.

GROVE CITY, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Inez Kelly of this place and Mr. Samuel Barnes of Harrisville was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents last night, the Rev. Dr. L. W. Douglass officiating. The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Baker. The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Notes of Society.

A successful church supper and entertainment was given last evening by the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian church.

Miss Elisabeth Howe of Ridge avenue, Allegheny, is coming home tomorrow from Hot Springs, Va., where she has been since coming north from Jungeness early in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harrington of Beech avenue, Allegheny, are expected home today from Indianapolis, Ind., where they have been since Wednesday. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Darlington, their son and daughter-in-law.

Mrs. A. S. McCombs gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of Miss Marion Carter of New York, who is visiting Mrs. Arthur L. Banker. Covers were laid for 12. In the evening Miss Carter was the guest of honor at a card party at which Mrs. George Price of Walnut street was hostess.

Uncle Eb's Philosophy.

"LIFE EZ I KNOWS IT."

BY EBENEZER HEZEKIAH HOLDEN

"THE man who is a professor of athletes and tells others how to live a hundred years usually dies at thirty-five of heart failure. I never saw no sense in this physical culture, no-how. The farmer or the carpenter or the blacksmith lives to be ninety, uses his brain considerable, too, and don't think about his stomick or his muscles all the time. I know a hull lot of people that always think about their stomicks. It's them that tell me if I stop eating meat and good wholesome victuals and take up with some new fangled bran-mash sanitary food I'd live to be a hundred in the shade, and the next day I get an invitation from the family to come to the funeral. That party that told me how to take care of my stomick died of catarrh of the stomick. That was all that saved his family, for he was teachin' the whole family to live on bran-mash and cereals, or whatever you call 'em, and the family were slowly wasting away. Men who try to get TOO STRONG, I notice, usually eat too much and die of heart failure. The man who works his brain and his body just enough to keep a balance, usually attends the funeral of the other fellow. There's common sense in all things. Now, when I don't know what's best to do, I jest sit down and read my book. That book is worth more than a whole library of novels—it's the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' and written by that Dr. Pierce, in Buffalo, N. Y., who founded the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute there. There aint no nonsense about him. Say—he wrote me the other day and says—says he—there aint nothin' the matter with you, Ebenezer—nothin' but old age, and if you go on livin' the same simple life you allas has, you'll live to spank the other feller's great-grand children. You see, when I get bilious, I jest take one of them 'Pleasant Pellets' of Doctor Pierce; they set me right and save me a whole lot of sickness. I don't get no microbees—for why—kase I jest haven't any weak spots. My organs is all active—I keep 'em so. Once I had a fit of sickness; my stomick was all out of order, and so my blood got pizened. I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he told me not to eat so much fried pork and bacon and flapjacks, and then I took his vegetable extract and alterative, the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' That's the finest tonic for the stomick I ever heard of; it aint no cocktail, either, for it aint got a particle of alcohol in it, but is just made from roots and 'erbs—a sort of nature's tonic—and say—it just throws out all those pizens that accumulate in your system during the winter, and puts you straight, and makes you as lively as a cricket. All of Dr. Pierce's family remedies are good, 'cause they're made from the formula of a doctor that knows his biziness."

"Now, thar was my old woman after twenty years of raisin' children, steamin' over the wash-tub, milkin' the cows, carryin' wood and cookin' for the hands, she somehow got run-down a bit, was humped over in the shoulders, back gave out, thin and weak, and that nervous a cat couldn't move without her cryin'. What does she do but say it was all owin' to her womanly weakness, and that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would fix her all right, and it did—by hump! She looked sixty afore that, but she just got strong, put on flesh, and now she's so strong, buxom, bloomin' and healthy I have to go out in the wood-shed, for peace and quiet, to smoke my pipe."

The experience of Uncle Eb is not unusual—any quantity of people throughout the United States depend on Dr. Pierce's guaranteed remedies to keep them well and to cure their different ills. You can consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and get the best possible medical advice from him free of charge.

"It is now about one and a half years," writes Philip Stephan, of 45 Hermitage Street, Grand Rapids, Michigan, "since I took sick with inflammatory rheumatism, from which I was laid up for four months. Then I had nervous prostration and later a bad case of indigestion. Soon got so bad I couldn't work and felt as though every minute would be my last. Had no appetite, and did not feel like taking one step. My wife said: 'You have now spent for doctors and medicines about one hundred and fifty dollars, and I believe you get worse; why don't you try the medicine again which cured you some years ago?' meaning your 'Discovery.' I acted upon her advice, and now want to express my gratitude to you for the medicine you have put before the public. I have taken nearly the contents of one bottle and all my bad symptoms are gone. I feel like a new man and feel perfectly healthy in every respect. I know this is wonderful and many people will not believe it, but I am ready to testify to the truth of this statement at any time."

"I am satisfied that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will give permanent relief, and cure any one who may be suffering from stomach and liver trouble, which as a rule are the result of bowel difficulties," writes L. Royalty, Esq., Lexington, Ky., Justice of the Peace, for twenty-nine years. "My experience with the above-named medicine was most satisfactory. I found it a very pleasant, mild remedy, agreeable to the taste, and very mild in action. It soon had my system well regulated and toned up, and I have felt in splendid health and spirits ever since."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, over 1000 pages, is sent by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of 21 cents in one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound.

INVESTIGATING HERESY CHARGES

Memorials Against Theological Institutions Referred Back to Committee.

HOT DEBATE AT CONFERENCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOS ANGELES, CAL., May 13.—The Methodist general conference today, after the conclusion of devotional services, resumed consideration of the revision of the rules of order. The rules as finally adopted have been framed with a view of absolute equity and fairness. The report of Missionary Bishop F. W. Warne of India was the special order of the day immediately after the morning recess.

The charges of heresy made by Dr. Munhall and others against the Garrett Biblical Institute and the Boston School of Theology continue to occupy the attention of the members of the committee on education and to be the absorbing topic among the conference delegates. The sub-committee of five having in charge the investigation of this important matter has made a report to the full committee, but the attacks of Dr. Munhall and other supporters of the heresy charges, were so spirited that the committee voted not to accept the report, but to resubmit it with instructions to give the matter more careful and thorough consideration.

The report of the sub-committee stated that there were but eight memorials before them on the subject, only four purporting to come from annual conferences; that three of these memorials had been signed by a total of 35 persons, and that two of them were in the form of a printed circular.

"This," the report said, "seems to be the total of an effort to stir up the conferences of the country on the subject."

After a lengthy and somewhat acrid debate, in which the report was characterized by Dr. Munhall and his followers as an attempt to whitewash the accused institutions, the report of the sub-committee was finally referred back with instructions for a more extended inquiry.

The first taste of stirring debate participated in by the conspicuous figures of the conference was given the delegates when the report of the episcopacy committee upon the matter of retiring bishops and fixing their subsequent relations to the church was taken up.

The paragraph that provoked discussion reads as follows:

A superannuated general superintendent is relieved from the obligation to travel through his connection at large and may choose the place of his residence. He shall not be assigned to the presidency of annual conferences nor make appointments, but, if requested by a bishop presiding, he may take the chair temporarily in a general or annual conference and at the request of the bishop presiding in the annual conference, he may ordain candidates previously elected to orders.

Dr. A. B. Leonard offered an amendment to strike out all after the word "residence" and substitute "he may perform temporarily, upon invitation of a general superintendent, any function that belongs to a general superintendent except make appointments." This amendment was supported by Judges Lohr and Warnock, lay delegates, and Drs. A. B. Leonard and Lyttle.

Two speeches only were made in favor of the adoption of the report as presented by Dr. Buckley, president of the episcopacy committee. They were by Dr. J. M. Buckley and Dr. T. B. Neely. While at first there seemed to be a strong sentiment in favor of Dr. Leonard's amendment, when Dr. Buckley finished a 10 minutes' speech in favor of the adoption of the committee's report, the vote was practically unanimous in favor of its adoption.

The Rev. A. G. Kynett of Philadelphia presented a report on church extension, which contained a change of great importance to the more wealthy congregations. It takes away the right of the board of church extension to assist churches costing more than $10,000, but gives the board the right to make special recommendations in certain cases. This change was adopted by the conference.

New Brighton Women Vote.

The annual meeting of the New Brighton Women's club was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eugene Mackey. Reports were presented, the club decided to make a study of Russia next year and then the annual election of officers was conducted. Miss Jessie Cuthbertson was elected president, Mrs. J. D. Moorhead first vice president, Mrs. A. J. Bonnal second vice president, Miss Willie resigning secretary, Mrs. A. S. Wenk corresponding secretary, and Mrs. W. A. Myler treasurer.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Meeting of the Travelers.

The members of the Travelers' club were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward A. Jones in Franklin street, Allegheny. It was a social gathering, and during the afternoon an enjoyable musical program was presented by Miss Katherine Vilsack, soprano, and Miss Augusta Atsel, pianist. Several informal talks were also given relating to some of the philanthropic lines of work in which the Pittsburgh club women are engaging. Mrs. James C. Dick spoke of the effort to secure public baths for the people of Pittsburgh, and the summer playground movement was presented by Mrs. William Macrum for Pittsburgh and Mrs. John Cowley for Allegheny.

Refreshments were served by Miss Frances Jones, daughter of the hostess, and by her niece, Miss Schrom. The house was prettily decorated with pink carnations.

Southern Women Entertain.

The Southern Women's society gave a reception and musicale last evening in honor of the members of the Southern society in their rooms in Forbes and Halket streets, Oakland. The music was presented by Miss Lulu Marianne Genet and F. Victor Laurent, several of the songs being southern melodies written by Miss Genet. Mrs. John L. Armour, president of the Southern Women's society, received with the other officers and was assisted by the members of the social committee, Mrs. James B. Murray, Mrs. Lewis Coates, Mrs. B. Harding, Mrs. Henrietta Costin and Miss S. G. Kerr.

Election and Celebration.

The Twentieth Century club this morning will hold its annual election of officers. The nominations were made over a month ago and posted in the club house. Miss Julia M. Harding, who is recognized as one of the founders of the club, has received the nomination for president, and other nominations include Mrs. Kate C. MacKnight, first vice president; Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., second vice president; Mrs. George A. Gromlich, third vice president; Miss Phillips, secretary, and Mrs. James R. Mellon, treasurer. The election will be followed by a luncheon for the members, which will also be a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the club, the real date being April 28. Interesting statistics of the growth of the club will be presented.

Washington Alumnae Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh branch of the alumnae of the Washington seminary in Washington, Pa., will be held on Monday afternoon in Miss Sweeney's rooms, 500 Penn avenue. The meeting is called for 2:30 o'clock. The annual election of officers will be held and a delegate will be elected to represent the Pittsburgh branch at the annual meeting of the alumnae, which will be held in Washington, Pa., at the commencement, June 7.

Club Notes.

The Parents and Teachers Co-operative association held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the Fifth Ward school, Allegheny.

The annual reception and confidence day at the Christian Home for Women will be observed next Thursday afternoon, May 19, from 2 o'clock until 5, in the home in Locust street, Allegheny.

W. H. Dodds of the Allegheny bar and formerly principal of the Allegheny High school will address the meeting of the Mothers and Home Makers league of Allegheny, in the Irwin Avenue school on Wednesday afternoon, May 18, at 3:45 o'clock. Mr. Dodds will talk on "Habit."

FIVE AGED SURVIVORS AT THE SILVER JUBILEE

Founders of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. P. Church.

Five aged persons, four women and one man, survivors of the those who, 25 years ago, organized the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Protestant church in the Old Home church, were the central figures in the silver jubilee exercises of the organization in the First Methodist Protestant church yesterday afternoon. They were the Rev. Dr. J. J. Murray, former pastor of the church, and his wife; Mrs. Susan E. Anderson, for 25 years treasurer of the society; Mrs. M. A. Miller and Mrs. Martha Colhour. Another survivor, Mrs. John Scott of Eldersville was unable to be present, but sent a letter full of reminiscences. Dr. Murray made an interesting address.

At the business session of the executive board yesterday morning plans for future work were decided, the nature of which, for diplomatic reasons, will not be made public. The plans call for a vast extension of the work in Japan, including new schools and additional missionaries.

Miss Mary Forrest of New Jersey was introduced to the board as a missionary applicant. Miss Anna L. Forrest of Japan gave an interesting talk on the schools in that country managed by the Woman's board. Dr. B. W. Anthony, president of Adrian college, made a brief, congratulating address.

The evening session began with a praise service led by Mrs. Thomas Kelly and participated in by many of the delegates. An address by Miss Margaret M. Kuhns on "Our Best for Jesus" followed. During the course of the address, which dealt largely with missionary needs in Japan, Miss Kuhns announced the name of the winner in the "engagement ring" contest, which has been going on for some time. The ring, the speaker said, was given by Mrs. Selina Tanner of Athens, O., to be contested for, the young woman raising the most money for missionary work to be presented with it. The ring was the property of the donor's daughter, who died before her wedding day. Miss Edwina Wendram of Unionville, Mich., who raised $47 50, won the prize.

Several letters from girl students in the Methodist Protestant girls' school at Yokohama were read by the speaker. The presentation of the banners to the societies raising the greatest sum for missionary work was postponed for one year, owing to the fact that the reports so far received made it impossible to decide which organization had finished first.

The convention continues today and tomorrow.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I suffered so terribly from stomach trouble that it was feared I had cancer. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and only a few bottles entirely cured me." Mrs. P. D. Smith, Middlefield, Conn.

Are you discouraged, half-sick, miserable all the time? Then your blood is thin and impure. Make your blood rich and pure with a doctor's medicine—Ayer's Sarsaparilla; tested and tried for sixty years. Ask your doctor if he knows a better blood medicine.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

"The first thing a man should learn to do is to save his money."—Andrew Carnegie.

Thrift Series, No. 1

If every person in the United States would save one cent a day, the aggregate saving would be almost a million dollars a day—$350,000,000.00 a year—enough to affect the prosperity of the whole nation.

Are you saving even your little share?

AMALGAMATED AND U. S. STEEL DOMINATED THE MARKET

One Was Strong and Higher and the Other Weak and Lower—New Record for Gold Exports. Local Stocks Weak.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel dominated yesterday's New York stock market. They pursued directly opposite courses, and it is probable that the strength of Amalgamated prevented lower prices being made in the rest of the list. Amalgamated opened at 49¼, which proved to be the lowest of the day, and at a time when the remainder of the list was declining, it was strong, advancing to 51, the highest reached on the present movement. The advance was accompanied by the usual stories of a settlement of the war between the rival copper interests in Montana, and from one side of the controversy there were the usual denials. The liquidation in the United States Steel stocks continued and still lower prices were established. The common stock, which closed a point below the low mark, and closed at 8½. The preferred after opening steady and advancing to 52¾, turned quite weak and on heavy dealings broke to 51¼, which is only 1½ points above the record low price made last November, when there was fear that the dividend would be reduced. Republic Iron & Steel preferred held comparatively steady during most of the day, but in the afternoon broke to 37, and the best bid at the close was 36¾, which is the low point touched in last year's panic. Iron trade reports were unfavorable, although they contained nothing specially new.

Great irregularity characterized the dealings in the remainder of the industrial list. Consolidated Gas was active within a range of 208½ and 206½, closing at 207¾. The rumor that the company was contemplating an issue of $20,000,000 bonds convertible into stock in two years, had little or no effect upon the market. General Electric broke from 154 to 152, and then on comparatively light transactions jumped to 158, but closed at 155½. New York Airbrake broke from 130 to 125. National Lead common rose to 19⅛, but lost part of the gain.

The railroad list held its own fairly well during the morning session, but in the afternoon declined on the continued weakness in the Steel stocks. Pennsylvania dropped to 113⅛, and closed at practically the lowest. If the Steel stocks are declining because of dull trade, then Pennsylvania would naturally be affected because so much of its tonnage comes from the steel business. The assignment, however, would not apply to Union Pacific, which declined to 82¾, nor to St. Paul, which for the first time in weeks sold below 140 and closed at the lowest. Atchison lost a fraction, and the other railroads made no heavy losses. Bond changes were not important. A moderate rally occurred in the last hour, which brought the level of prices above the lowest of the day, but closing bids were little if any above the lowest.

The actual amount of gold ordered for exportation was $5,000,000 bringing the total for the week up to $16,800,000, which is by all odds the largest amount of the metal ever exported in one week. The preliminary estimates as to the movements of money during the week placed the loss at the banks at $3,000,000, treasury operations at about $10,000,000, and the receipts of currency from the interior at $3,600,000, indicating a net loss of $4,000,600 to the banks. Last week's estimates were so far from the official showing, however, that not much confidence was placed in yesterday's estimates. Call loan rates were firmer at 2 per cent. Announcement was made by the New York bankers handling the Japanese loan that the amount offered here had been largely oversubscribed, but exact figures were not stated.

Grain markets were weak and lower, but wheat is apparently still out of line with foreign markets, inasmuch as the exports for the week, including flour, amounted to only 756,000 bushels, which is the smallest total for any week since the United States became a great shipper of grain. The Argentina shipments for the week were reported at 3,664,000 bushels.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange nearly one-half of the total sales were in Crucible Steel preferred, and this was practically the only stock that closed at a net gain for the day. The weakest stocks were Pittsburg Fire Proofing, the common selling down to 5⅜ and the preferred to 28½. Nearly 500 shares Philadelphia Company changed hands at the uniform price of 38. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was slightly lower at 56⅞. Westinghouse Electric was steady. Business at the bank call was light. The dealings in pig iron warrants foot up 5,800 tons. Pittsburgh Coal preferred dividend scrip again sold at par.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Several large lots of United States Steel preferred changed hands in the New York market yesterday, a decline in prices and the opinion prevailed that it was long stock coming out. At one time or another during this downward movement the names of prominent directors have been mentioned among the guesses as to who was doing the selling, and yesterday Wall street guessed that Mr. Phipps was selling. There was no more ground for this guess than that made a few days ago that Mr. Schwab was selling. A Fourth avenue man suggested yesterday that the time might yet come when there would be difficulty in getting directors to hold enough stock to qualify for the office.

The $868,000,000 United States Steel common and preferred outstanding at yesterday's lowest price had a market value of approximately $225,000,000. At one time in 1901 the common stock alone sold on a market valuation of $279,000,000, and both common and preferred are $54,000,000 below that amount. It is certainly a remarkable shrinkage, and it affects a larger number of small investors than any other corporation.

Private sales were reported yesterday of 30 shares American Window Glass Machine common at 5 and 17½ shares of the preferred at 20.

Crucible Steel preferred was practically the only strong stock in yesterday's market, and it contributed nearly one-half of the day's total sales. The largest buying was by N. Holmes & Sons.

There is plenty of evidence that all is not harmony among the Crucible-Clairton insiders, but, according to current gossip, the friction is not of a character to jeopardize the consummation of the deal for the sale of Clairton to the United States Steel Corporation.

Directors of the Pittsburgh stock exchange have adopted the securities committee's rules governing transactions in pig iron warrants, and hereafter all transactions and quotations will be regularly posted.

Concerning Butte reports of a coming settlement of the Montana copper warfare, F. A. Heinze says: "I know nothing about these reports of people coming from Montana to New York except that I have come to New York to see some of my relatives before they depart for Europe, and, as to Mr. McHatten, counsel for the United Copper Company, being in New York, I only know that he is in Butte and that there are no present plans for his coming east. If anybody is settling the so-called Montana copper war he is settling entirely without relation to me or any conference or negotiations of any kind with me."

A New York dispatch said: The price of steel billets is being cut in the central west about $1 per ton below the pool price of $23 per ton. No members of the pool are cutting, the reductions coming from a few independents. The Illinois Steel Company has secured an order for 75,000 tons of rails at $28 per ton. They are to be used by railroads in the vicinity of St. Louis.

The American Railways Company has declared a dividend of 1¼ per cent, 75 cents a share, payable June 15 to stock of record May 31.

Directors of National Biscuit Company have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock and 1 per cent on the common. The preferred dividend is payable May 31, and preferred books will close May 16 and reopen June 1. The common dividend is payable July 15. Common books will close June 28 and reopen July 16.

Statement of coal and coke originating on the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ending May 7, 1904 (short tons):

The news over night of the fixing of the amount of the New York Central debenture bond issue at $50,000,000 instead of $30,000,000, as was understood the day before, was not stimulating to the general market owing to the inroads upon their resources indicated. But New York Central stock itself was little affected until the late break in prices. The decision to issue debenture bonds puts a check on earnings ahead of the stock, but the fact that the bonds are underwritten and the sale of treasury stock avoided seemed to be favorably regarded by stockholders as preventing an increase in the market supply of the stock.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A find of considerable importance has been made in the property of the Cripple Creek and Colorado City. This is the first ore shoot found on the property. The vein is new. The find was made in the 135-foot level, east of the shaft. The ore is 18 inches between the lines and four feet wide and is all good for around $30 a ton in gold. At places it is being broken as great as nine feet across. Thousands of dollars have been expended on this property, the shaft being sunk to a depth of over 700 feet.

The Peggy Gold Mining Company, operating the wonderfully rich little piece of ground known as the Lake View Consolidated hill, have from the first received returns from 95 tons of rock that was settled for on a basis of $35 to the ton in gold, making the total shipment worth close to $10,000. This company is composed by residents of Milwaukee and is paying $10,000 per month in dividends.

A party of eastern capitalists visited Sunshine mine this week for the purpose of looking over the recently purchased mining property of the Surplus Gold Mines Company, situated near the Tilley Butsel and American mines. The new company is also composed of local capitalists and eastern moneyed men. Having purchased two full mining claims in this rich mineral section of Boulder county, Colorado, they have put a big force of miners at work on each mine to develop the property.

The receipts of gold from Montana at the United States assay office in Helena for April amounted to $1,031,938, as compared with $472,-365 for April last year, a gain of $18,967. An increase in almost every mining county in the state is shown. Fergus county is still the banner producer with $111,583. Outside of Montana the amounts received were: Idaho, $3,-262; Nevada, $4,456; Washington, $379; British Columbia, $7,439.

Frank G. Stephens, superintendent of the Le Roi Two Company's properties and one of the leading young mining men of Rossland, has resigned his post to accept the superintendency of the Guanajuato Consolidated Mining and Milling Company's properties in Mexico, of which E. M. Macdonald, brother of Bernard Macdonald, is general manager. The company is American, operates several mines and has a 50-stamp mill in operation, with large cyaniding works under construction.

The El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining Company has declared a dividend of 1 per cent, amounting to $24,500, payable May 25 to stock of record May 15.

Nos. 909-911 Federal Street Will Be Improved With Business Block by Purchaser.

NORTH SIDE CAR PROJECTS

Allegheny contributed the only sale of importance yesterday, except the deal for the Homeopathic hospital site noted in detail in another column. Through the office of Edward Vogler the James A. Munden property at 909-911 Federal street was sold for $40,000 or $1,600 a front foot. The lot measures 40x120 feet on the west side of Federal street a short distance above Erie street, and has erected on it three brick buildings occupied by a barber shop, saloon and second store. The property has been in the Munden family for over 50 years. The identity of the purchaser was not disclosed, but he is known to be a merchant who will soon tear down the buildings on the lot and erect a three-story brick block to cost $25,000 and be used for stores exclusively. This sale is significant as showing that prices of property in upper Federal street have not declined as many suppose. The last sale in the neighborhood was that of the Gardner holdings, 20 feet, almost across the street from the Munden property. The Gardner lot was bought about a year ago by Charles Dinkel for $400, or $20 a front foot, the same price paid yesterday.

Grading for Car Line.

Work has been started on grading the New Brighton road street car lines for which franchises and most of the rights of way have been secured. One of the proposed lines will leave California avenue at Superior street, cross the Shady Avenue bridge now being built, thence go out Brighton avenue to Benton avenue and up Benton to Perrysville avenue at the Duquesne chapel. The other line will run out Perrysville avenue to the corner of the Hoffman property and the Bauer estate, thence go through the Hoffman and Forrester property and come out on the road in front of the old church in Ross township, thence straight to a point opposite Perrysville avenue and Rodgers avenue and the Penn macadamized road to the Five Mile hotel at West View. The Seville property in Ross township is now being graded and it is expected work will be started in a few weeks on the line, as by the terms of the franchises the line must be completed by January 1. In anticipation of the rise in realty values that is likely to follow the new line the Hoffman property, 25 acres in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, lying between Benton avenue and the brother, two lots, 35x100 feet each, in Hampton avenue, Wilkinsburg, for $4,000; for C. L. Zeisinger to W. J. Schendel, an eight-room brick house in Rosedale street, Bryan, for Ewing & Freeman, two lots in Montier street for $2,500.

Allegheny: Henry W. Armstrong has leased for James P. Speer to C. A. Metzgar and others for a term of years a lot 75x122 feet on the west side of Federal street, Allegheny, adjoining the Sixth street bridge. The lessees will erect a brick business block to cover the entire lot.

Butler street: John Sykes sold for A. H. Jerpe to C. A. Dickey an improved lot, 40x160 feet, at No. 6820 Butler street, for $1,800.

South Side: The German Savings and Deposit bank has purchased from Carrie E. Straub 44x120 feet at Carson and Twentieth streets, Twenty-sixth ward, for $3,000.

Washington avenue: Ernest W. Bentch sold to Ellen Mooney an improved lot, 25x99 feet, in Washington avenue, Thirty-eighth ward, for $1,000.

The Union Realty Company sold to William C. Horner lot 14, in the Ingleside plan of lots, Nineteenth ward, having a frontage of 25 feet in Broad street, for $1,100.

Building permits were issued yesterday to Charles Mooney to erect a three-story brick store and dwelling at 513 Wylie avenue, damaged by collapse, to cost $2,500, to the Pennsylvania railroad to raise an office building in Fifty-third street, to cost $2,000, and to Mary Boehm to repair a two-story brick restaurant at 187 Ninth street, to cost $900.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Tin had another sharp break in the London market. Spot declined £1 5s to £124 10s and futures were depressed £1 to £123 5s 6d. The local market was quiet but responded partially to the net decline abroad, closing at $27.55@27.65. Copper advanced 2s 6d in London, with spot closing at £57 10s and futures at £57 12s 6d. Locally the market was quiet and unchanged. Lake is quoted at $13.50; electrolytic at $13 12½@13.25; casting, $12 87½@13 12½. Lead advanced 1s 3d in London to £11 18s 9d, but remained unchanged in New York at $4.60@4.65. Spelter declined 2s 6d to £22 2s 6d in London and remained quiet at $5.20@5.25 in the New York market. Iron closed at 52s in Glasgow and at 44s 11½d in Middlesboro. Locally iron is quiet and rather easy as to tone. No. 1 foundry, northern, is quoted at $15.00@15.50; No. 2 foundry, northern, at $14.75@15.25; No. 1 foundry, southern and No. 1 foundry, southern soft, at $14.00@14.25. Pig iron warrants weak; spot, $9 62½.

POTATOES ARE FIRMER; STRAWBERRIES DROP

Upward Trend of Produce Continues—No Change in Groceries Except on Raisins.

Both old and new potatoes are very firm; prices have been advanced again on all grades except Bermudas, which are not in as good demand as the other new stock. This situation will likely continue for a while. Tomatoes are holding up high, further advances having been made on both fancy and choice. Cabbage is selling as high as $3 50 a crate. New beets have taken a sudden jump. Both string and wax beans are in line with the present upward tendency in produce and are quoted higher. The demand for strawberries is increasing, prices are reduced and the movement yesterday was pretty heavy. Present stock is wholesaling at about 11 cents a quart.

There is little change in the grocery trade. Raisins are in fair; flour keeps firm and canned beans are quite active. Both raisins and prunes are quoted lower and imported salmon is advanced. There was nothing new in the butter, egg or cheese situations yesterday. Poultry is slow and fruits are moving about as freely as they were the first of the week.

Demand keeps very strong on hay. Arrivals are still light and prices remain high. Business in oats is still very good and 48 cents is now the top quotation on No. 2. The supply of straw has been greatly reduced of late. There will be no new crop for two months yet and prices will stay high. Owing to scarcity over the country districts, importations of straw are now being made from abroad. It is said that there is a growing demand for oats in the west.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 5 cars oats, 4 cars corn, 1 car corn and oats; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 3 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 1 car hay, 1 car straw, 1 car oats.

BEARISH CROP REPORTS WEAKEN WHEAT MARKET

June Delivery Closed With Loss of ⅞ @ 1 Cent—Corn Also Down.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—Bearish crop reports and a decided decrease in weekly exports caused extreme weakness in wheat today, the July delivery closing with a loss of ⅞@1c. Corn is down 1¼@1⅜c. Oats show a loss of ½@⅝c, and provisions a shade to 10c.

Lower cables and heaviness of Argentine shipments caused heavy selling pressure in wheat at the opening. Initial sales were made at slight losses, July being down a shade to ⅞@⅝c at 84½c to 84⅝c. The principal selling was by holders of the September option, although the July delivery was also offered quite freely and sold off to 84⅜c. Weather in the northwest was wet and cold and this fact brought out some buying orders early in the day, resulting in a little firmer feeling. But while seeding operations in the Red River valley were being delayed by rains the winter wheat sections of the country were being greatly benefited by the additional moisture. In consequence the majority of traders were inclined to take the selling side of the market. Many of the early longs disposed of their wheat, the market weakening rapidly under this selling.

During the latter part of the session many bearish advices added to the weakness. The weekly report of two different crop statisticians showed improved prospects in all sections of the wheat belt where any benefit was possible. Broadstreet's figures on exports of wheat and flour for the week were extremely bearish, the amount, 735,000 bushels, being the smallest shipment for any week in 16 years. Liquidation was heavy late in the day and the market failed to recover any of the previous loss, the close being at the bottom for the session. After touching 83¾@85¼c, July closed at 83¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 47,700 bushels. Primary receipts were 199,400 bushels, compared with 190,500 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 375 cars, against 74 cars last week and 136 cars a year ago.

As a result of bearish crop reports and of the slump in wheat, the corn market was subjected to a general selling movement during the latter part of the session. There was some covering by shorts, but offerings were so liberal that a sharp break occurred. Reports from the west showing freer country acceptance tended to increase the weakness. The market lacked any rallying power and closed at the low point. July opened a shade lower at 48⅝c, sold between 47⅝c and 49c, closing at 47⅜c. Local receipts were 69 cars, with three contract grade.

Oats were affected by the weakness of wheat and corn, exhibiting considerable weakness late in the day. During the early part of the session the market was quite firm under the influence of small receipts, but offerings increased as the session advanced and prices gradually declined. The close was at about the lowest point of the day. July opened unchanged at 39c, ranged between 38⅝c and 39c, closing at 38¾@38½c. Local receipts were 96 cars.

Under the influence of weak grain markets provisions ruled easier with the exception of ribs, which were relatively firm on buying credited to a big packer. Outsiders sold pork and lard freely and there was very little support except some early buying by brokers. July pork closed down 7½@10c at $11 15@11 17½; lard was off 7½c at $6 37½; ribs were a shade lower at $6 35@6 37½.

JAHN MUST GIVE DEED TO WIDOW

Judge Frazer Decides Mrs. Schopfer Is Entitled to Her Property.

CROATS FIGHT OVER CHURCH

Judge R. S. Frazer yesterday filed an opinion in the case of Mrs. Evelyn N. Schopfer against J. Henry Jahn, directing that a certain deed be delivered up by Jahn for cancellation. Mrs. Schopfer alleged the deed to her property was obtained by Jahn through fraud and misrepresentation, and the courts find that Jahn, as her confidential agent, made false statements to Mrs. Schopfer. His orders that a deed to be drawn reconveying the property to Mrs. Schopfer.

Mrs. Schopfer was the owner of a lot of ground in Shaler township and on August 14, 1902, signed a deed to Linnie Wolford, who was Jahn's stenographer, for the property, the said deed expressed in the deed being $6,000. On December 29, 1903, this deed, as well as a quit-claim deed dated September 29, 1902, apparently executed for the same property, was put on record. The quit-claim deed the defendants claim was made for the purpose of correcting an error. Mrs. Schopfer inherited the property by will from her husband, Charles F. Schopfer, who died August 7, 1903. The property in question is worth about $7,000, and there is a mortgage on it for $2,000. Prior to Schopfer's death Judge Frazer finds Jahn had been his agent, and continued to act as the widow's agent. Subsequent to the execution of the deeds Mrs. Schopfer and her family, Judge Frazer finds, at Jahn's suggestion, moved to Clifton, Va., and remained there from September 21, 1903, to December 18, 1903, conveyed the property to Jahn for an expressed consideration of $5,000. At the trial Jahn and Miss Wolford offered in evidence an agreement which Jahn claimed he and Mrs. Schopfer executed, stipulating that the conveyance of the property was made to secure the payment of indebtedness of $906 which Jahn claimed Mrs. Schopfer owed him. Mrs. Schopfer says that she does not owe Jahn anything, but that he owes her $789.

As a result of this dispute Jahn charged Mrs. Schopfer and her sister with killing Schopfer. The grand jury indicted the two women for murder and Jahn as an accessory.

An action in ejectment was begun yesterday, which is possibly without precedent in the local courts, and develops a peculiar mixture of church and state, as it seems to go beyond the adjustment of the head of the church.

The suit was entered by Attorneys W. B. Rodgers and Alex. Cess for St. Nicholas Croatian Catholic congregation of the Eighth ward, Allegheny, by its trustees, against the St. Nicholas Roman Catholic Croatian congregation of the Eighth ward, Allegheny, by its trustees. The property in dispute is the church in East Ohio street, Allegheny, of which the plaintiffs aver the defendants are illegally in possession. The plaintiffs' declaration sets forth that in 1874 a religious organization was effected in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, it assumed the above title and property was purchased and improved, the title resting with Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, in trust.

In 1890 the congregation had enlarged, necessitating larger buildings, and the question was raised as to whether the congregation should build in Millvale or stay where it was. This question, the declaration avers, was submitted to the congregation at a balloting, and a majority favoring the relocation in Millvale, Bishop Phelan consented to the change and the property was purchased in Millvale and the congregation established there. Since then, the declaration continues, some of the members of the original congregation have retained the property in Allegheny, have erected a new church thereon, are renting the old and refuse to deliver possession to the plaintiffs.

Samuel B. Stewart, administrator of the estate of the late William G. Stewart, has entered suit against Arthur Kennedy to recover $12,500. The statement avers that in October, 1890, the decedent owned 100 shares of the New Castle Traction Company stock and 52 shares of the New Castle Electric Company stock, which was delivered to Kennedy to sell. The latter, it is alleged, sold the stock to R. K. Quay and others about the same date, for $12,500, and has never paid over any part of the amount to the estate.

Carnegie Company Sued on Patents.

Henry W. Aiken entered ten suits for infringement of patents against the Carnegie Steel Company in the United States court yesterday. Seven of the suits are for infringement of ingot mold devices, one on a tongs operating apparatus, one on a device for transferring material and one on an apparatus for extracting ingots from a mold. Frederick Wood being named as a co-inventor on the last device.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A decree of divorce was made in the suit of John Bird against Ada Mortimer Bird on the grounds of desertion.

John J. Murray took out letters of administration on the estate of William J. Murray. Attorney W. H. Leahy represents the administrator.

Ivy W. Osborne has sued H. L. Speer for $5,000 damages for alleged false arrest on a charge of larceny by bailee. The case was in criminal court, where Osborne was acquitted.

In quarter sessions court yesterday Constable Patrick McCafferty of South Fayette township presented his resignation to the court. He is moving to Youngstown, O. Albert Wilkins presented a petition to the court as an applicant for the position.

Elizabeth C. Barnsley has instituted equity proceedings against William Schoyer, assignee of Henry McCallam, to clear title on Nineteenth ward property. A question has been raised as to the effect a mortgage given on property of which plaintiff's property was a part has on plaintiff's title.

F. Lee Hammett has sued William Marsh for $150, alleging that in January he borrowed $150 from the defendant, giving two rings as security. He says Marsh refuses to return the rings on payment of the loan, and he asks to recover the difference between the value of the rings and the amount of the loan.

In the suit of Joseph B. Vandercrift against the Teutonic Insurance Company of Allegheny, an action to recover insurance on a stable burned in West Virginia, the defendant has filed an answer setting forth the policy held by the plaintiff was cancelled on the day previous to the fire by agreement.

Two suits in equity asking restraining orders against the Continuous Glass Press Company of Dunbar were filed in the United States circuit court by the Pressed Prism Plate Glass Company of Morgantown, W. Va., alleging infringements of certain glass-making machines and processes invented by D. C. Ripley and F. L. O. Wadsworth.

John W. Wright yesterday began habeas corpus proceedings for his release from jail. He is detained there on a commitment by Magistrate Stewart, which sets forth that he is held as a suspicious person awaiting the result of injuries." The commitment does not state whose injuries. He was committed on May 4 last.

An execution for $22,472.95 was issued yesterday in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for use of John Young against Robert W. Hervey, Joseph H. Fester and D. W. Wylie. The defendants became bondsmen for an appeal to the supreme court from the courts of Butler county in a case involving the purchase of a farm from Young. Suit was entered in common pleas court No. 2 on the bond, and the local court entered a rule for judgment for want of sufficient affidavit of defense.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Fred L. Lee vs Mrs. J. Hutchison, $96; James M. Houston & Co. vs Henry Beck, $100; A. R. Sunshine vs John F. Shanklin, $209; Western Insurance Company of Pittsburgh vs Elizabeth Breitweiser, ex., $6,479 85; Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs John Young vs Robert W. Hervey, Joseph H. Fester and D. W. DIFFERENTIAL LINES MAY BE GRANTED LOWER RATES

For the purpose of determining the differential rate to be allowed the Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Wabash railroads on world's fair business out of Pittsburgh, the executive passenger officials of those lines and the Pennsylvania lines west, met yesterday at the Hotel Schenley. No agreement was reached, although the meeting was entirely harmonious, and a second, and what will likely prove the concluding conference, will be held at the same place today. Until the differential is fixed no rates, other than the standard fares of the Panhandle, can be announced. It is imperative, therefore, that immediate action be taken.

As the matter stands the Panhandle is the only differential lines from Pittsburgh to St. Louis by virtue of its mileage. Its rates from here are $25 for the season ticket; $25 for 90 days, $16 50 for 15 days and $12 for coach excursions. The Baltimore & Ohio, as a differential line, via Cincinnati, is entitled to lower rates as follows: $23 40 for the season, $18 75 for 90 days, $15 45 for 15 days and $12 for coach excursions.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie also has a route via the Erie and Big Four lines and has enjoyed a slight advantage for a still lower differential. The Wabash has done the same, as well as the Baltimore & Ohio (via Defiance and the Wabash and Holgate and the Clover Leaf. With the possible exception of the Lake Erie none of these roads will be able to make the same time as the Panhandle, and having a longer mileage they contend their rates should be lower. The Panhandle has taken exception to this claim and would have only one differential. It is understood, however, that the differential lines will establish a differential route via the Ft. Wayne. It was said last night that there is no prospect of rate cutting.

The following representatives are attending the meeting: E. A. Ford, passenger traffic manager, Pennsylvania lines; D. B. Martin, passenger traffic manager, and B. N. Austin, general passenger agent, Baltimore & Ohio; Warren J. Lynch, general passenger agent Big Four; L. A. Robison, general passenger agent Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and C. S. Crane, general passenger agent Wabash.

B. & O. Time Change Tomorrow.

The regular spring change of schedule of the Baltimore & Ohio will be made tomorrow and will include the entire system. The changes of most importance to Pittsburgh travelers are the inauguration of a new train to St. Louis, the quickening of the time of the Pittsburgh limited and the addition of two new trains between here and Chicago. The chief local changes will be on the Pittsburgh & Western. Train No. 151 between Allegheny and Butler will leave at 7 a. m. instead of 7:30 and a double Sunday service will be maintained between Allegheny and Foxburg. The first Sunday Cumberland excursion will be run tomorrow. The world's fair train will leave here at 1:30 p. m., arriving at St. Louis at 7:35 a. m. Returning, the train will arrive here at 11 p. m. It will stop only at Finleyville, Washington, Wheeling, Barnesville, Cambridge, Zanesville, Columbus and Cincinnati. A diner will be carried between Cambridge and Columbus. On June 18 the Baltimore & Ohio, in conjunction with the Bessemer & Lake Erie will have a special train from Allegheny to Conneaut Lake on Saturdays. The train will return Sunday night. The regular Ohio Pyle excursions will begin Decoration day.

Kicked on Safety Paper.

The Southern Pacific and Union Pacific have served notice on the Transcontinental Passenger association that the "safety" paper of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents will not be used altogether. The "safety" paper is specially prepared and was adopted by the last named association some time ago. It is in general use throughout the Central Passenger association territory. This association, in view of the world's fair, recommended the use of the paper on special form tickets to St. Louis and requested the Transcontinental Association to adopt the paper. The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific prefer to stick to a certain style of paper.

Railroad Notes.

The Baltimore & Ohio will have its first coach excursion from the east to St. Louis on Tuesday.

The western line directors of the Pennsylvania have returned from Philadelphia, where a meeting was held Thursday.

The question of granting differentials on the G. A. R. business to Boston in August is still unsettled. A rate meeting of the Central Passenger Association was to have been held next Tuesday, but it has been postponed.

Owing to the resignation of J. P. Wallace as general manager of the Illinois Central, W. G. Harahan becomes general manager and J. G. Rawn, formerly general representative of the Baltimore & Ohio here, is made assistant general manager of the Illinois Central to succeed Harahan.

TREES WERE EMBLEMATIC OF HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

William Falconer Delivers the Arbor Day Address in Schenley Park.

William Falconer, former superintendent of parks, was in a poetic mood at the Arbor day exercises in Columbus grove, Schenley park, yesterday afternoon. Seventeen trees were planted by the botany classes of the high schools—sweet buckeye by the academic classes, American elm by the normal, tulip by the South Side school.

Mr. Falconer in his address said the trees chosen were peculiarly emblematical of the three high schools—the sweet buckeye in that it represented the Central High school, which has more young girls in attendance than any other school. The tree was the earliest to bloom and mature, and the location of the school made it necessary for its pupils to start earlier in the morning than others. The tulip, representing the South Side, is emblematic of commerce paid for in gold, and was a fitting representative of the industrial South Side. The dignity and grace of the stately elm was a fitting representative for those in training as teachers who would soon spread their affection and motherly care over their flock of pupils as the spreading branches of the tree shade and protect all who seek shelter beneath it.

Dr. W. D. McFarland also made an address, and the pupils sang an appropriate Arbor day song.

Two elms were planted in the memorial plot in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps, Jr. There are but four trees in this plot, one in honor of Dr. C. B. Wood, the former director of high schools, and one to William Falconer, when he resigned as superintendent of parks.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD HERE NEXT WEEK

Pennsylvania Congregationalists Will Convene in First Church, Pittsburgh, Tuesday.

What promises to be one of the most important meetings in the history of Congregationalism in this state will be held in the First Congregational church, 1008 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, the Rev. B. G. Newton, pastor, beginning Tuesday evening and continuing all day Wednesday and Thursday, when the Pennsylvania State Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers will hold its eighteenth annual conference.

Dr. Washington Gladden, who preaches Thursday evening, known on both sides of the Atlantic, is a noted religious writer and is considered an authority on economic questions. Dr. R. S. Jones, the moderator, will preach the annual sermon.

On Wednesday evening, Dr. Edwards of Kingston, a famous lecturer and elocutionist, and the Rev. Charles Luther Kloss of Philadelphia, pastor of the largest church in the state, will deliver addresses. Thursday evening Dr. Washington Gladden will preach.

Made Fast Short Run.

Carrying the Pittsburgh commandery No. 1, Knights Templars, 175 strong, a special train of engine and four cars made the run from Beaver Falls to Pittsburgh Thursday night in 31 minutes. The distance is 32.8 miles, and the run included one full stop at Coraopolis. The running time, allowing for the stop, was 38 miles an hour. For such a distance this is the fastest run ever made on the Lake Erie.

FOURTH AVENUE AND WOOD ST.

FINE FURNITURE FOR NEW CAPITOL

Bids for Specially Designed Material Will Be Opened June 7.

MAXIMUM PRICES ARE SET

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, PA., May 13.

The new state capitol will be equipped with special furniture, carpets, fittings and decorations, to conform with the splendor and grandeur of the building. Plans for nearly all the furnishings and decorations, the cost of which will probably exceed $1,000,000, have been prepared by Joseph M. Huston of Philadelphia, architect of the capitol.

Bids for this equipment, together with the regular proposals for stationery, supplies, etc., for the several state departments for the year ending the first Tuesday in June, 1905, will be opened on June 7 by the board of public grounds and buildings. This board, which consists of Gov. Pennypacker, Auditor General Snyder and State Treasurer Mathues, has fixed a limit for all the special furnishings and no bid will be received above this limit.

The equipment of the new capitol includes designed furniture, fittings, furnishings and decorations of woodwork, stone, marble, bronze, mosaic, glass and upholstery at a maximum price of $20 a foot. The furniture will include designed sofas and castings, either upholstered wood, metal or stone, at a cost of $15 a foot.

Besides, there will be designed decorative exterior lights, which will cost not more than $15 each; mural painting, at a cost of $50 a foot; decorating and painting, which will cost not more than $3 a foot; state chairs, $150 each; special desks and tables, $12 a foot, and English laid wood and rubber parquetry flooring, $1 50 a foot.

The modeling or sculpture decoration of the building will cost not more than $100 a foot. The maximum price for the designed special finished bronze-metal gas and electric fixtures is $225 each. The cost of the designed metal for gas and electric fixtures, hardwood and ornamental work, mercurial gold finish, hand-tooled and rechased, must not exceed $5 a pound.

Nearly all the carpets and rugs which will be used in the new capitol have been specially designed to harmonize with the other decorations and fittings. There will be imported Scotch Axminster carpets, the maximum cost of which is $4 a foot; Anderes-Persian, Kermanshaw, Tabrez and Berlin rugs, which will cost not more than $5 a foot, and Wilton Corona carpets, the maximum cost of which is $3 25 a yard.

The hangings will include designed curtains, draperies and panels, Aubusson tapestry and silk brocade, silk trimmings, at a cost of not more than $40 a yard. The equipment will also include designed clock fittings or fixtures, the maximum cost of which is $150 each. Faverille and Basaret glass, $30 a foot, and Moravian tiles, $3 a foot.

The furniture not specially designed which will be bought by the board, includes mahogany bookcases, $75 each; mahogany desks, $17 a foot; mahogany leather covered easy armchairs, $35 each; mahogany leather covered swivel arm-chairs, $40 each; mahogany clothes trees, $15 each; solid mahogany tables, 6x3½, $45 each; mahogany couches, $50 each; solid mahogany leather covered couches, $100 each; office tables, $120 each, and mahogany wood seat arm chairs, $22 each.

These prices represent the maximum cost of this furniture. It is expected by the board that the contract prices will be considerably less. Among the other new furniture which will be provided for the capitol are highly-polished roll top desks, letter press stands, oak or mahogany finish; oak clothes trees, French plate mirrors, with frame to be selected; card catalogue cases, filing cabinets and cases for insect specimens.

The board has omitted from the schedule fountain pens, penknives, fancy card cases, match boxes, clothes and hair brushes and other articles of this kind which were formerly provided for the use of members of the legislature and state officials and employes. The contractors for the furniture and decorations for the new capitol will be expected to deliver them during the summer and early fall so that they may be installed in the building before the next session of the legislature. The new house is now under roof and the marble setters are working on the decorations in the hallways and corridors.

ONE TERROR LESS

A Name to Make Men Shudder No Longer—Locomotor Ataxia Now in The List of Curable Diseases.

Fresh proof is furnished daily that a path to recovery has at last been opened before the most hopeless victims known to medical science, the sufferers from locomotor ataxia, the pains of which are, in the language of the highest medical authority, "probably the most agonizing which the human frame is ever compelled to endure."

The achievement almost passes belief, for this most dreadful of nervous diseases has long been regarded as inevitably fatal. One cannot, however, refuse credit to such well-attested and complete cures as that of Mr. C. E. Janvrin of Hampton Falls, N. H., whose recovery furnishes convincing evidence of the power of the new remedy.

Mr. Janvrin was attacked about three years ago by what he at first thought was rheumatism. He did the usual thing—applied liniments to his legs, which were the parts affected, and got temporary relief. But the trouble always returned and, each time, with greater severity. He realized that the disease was gaining a firmer hold of his system all the while, and after he had endured the pain and discomfort for more than a year, he began to consult physicians in great anxiety.

He was startled by the verdict, which they agreed in pronouncing in his case. He learned from them that he was in the grasp of a fearful disease, already far advanced, from which there seemed to be no possible escape. "They all said," states Mr. Janvrin, "that I had locomotor ataxia; that my spinal cord had degenerated; and that no encouragement of a cure could be given me. I am a young man yet and my business required me to travel daily, but I was compelled to remain home, months at a stretch, and at times I could barely shuffle my feet across the floor.

"My legs and feet seemed to be paralyzed. If I made any attempt to lift my feet I suffered the most excruciating pains. I finally became convinced that I would be utterly incapacitated for business, and I simply gave up to despondency. The disease was growing worse and the doctors could give me no hope. What was I to do?

"I had little faith left in the possibility of recovery by any means, but one day in January, 1903, I happened to read in a pamphlet some remarkable cures of nervous diseases effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Although I was a despairing man, I fortunately decided to give them a trial. I used two boxes before I saw any signs of improvement. Then I began to have a slight hope that they might possibly save me from the death to which I had been doomed.

"I continued to take the pills with growing confidence and my condition steadily improved all the while. Before the tenth box was entirely gone I was able to take up my work again and to do it the same as before I was first attacked. My cure was complete in every respect, and it has been permanent, for I am now at work every day, and no one judging from my present activity would suspect that a year ago I was both helpless and hopeless.

"My cure seems to me remarkable in itself and also in its quickness and inexpensiveness. I had been condemned to die as suffering from a disease for which my doctors knew no remedy, and yet I was made a perfectly well man in six months by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have saved my life and my confidence in them is naturally great. I am never without a box of them in my home, and I can scarcely say too much in their favor."

A remedy that has restored to perfect health a victim of locomotor ataxia, may be confidently used for all ordinary forms of nervous diseases, such as sciatica, neuralgia, nervous headache, St. Vitus' dance. These pills are also a specific for all diseases of the blood, such as rheumatism and anaemia, and for all forms of weakness in male or female. They are sold by all druggists throughout the world.
